LINING UP OF WORKS.

Lobbyist Says He Did It.

Senators Hear Colleague Agreed to Do All He Could for Sugar Crowd.

Letters Indicate Californian Was "Sewed Up" to Protect Their Interests.

"Quite Sure He Will Have to Keep in Line," Is Text of Telegram.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The trail of "the lobby" the Senate has been following more than a week led today into the private offices of the men in charge of the American offices of the United States beet sugar industry. The leading instrument of the campaign against free sugar, and by originals of letters and telegrams and what purported to be copies of others, definite testimony of what appeared to be an attempt at a far-reaching scheme to create public sentiment against free sugar through the columns of individual newspapers and the facilities of press associations.

It was a trail so long and complicated that other more than two hours of the session were consumed in reading into its record a part of the mass of correspondence, which Senators believed to be the most sensational yet developed.

TEXT CONSISTS OF LETTERS.

The documents thrown upon the committee consist of copies of letters and telegrams of Clarence C. Dill, a Colorado Springs, Colo., attorney and lobbyist of the National Beet Sugar Association, and of Harry A. Austin, a clerk in the offices of Truman C. Palmer, representative of the United States beet sugar industry. "The industry" succeeded the "association" about two years ago and Palmer succeeded Hamlin in charge.

While the committee was after the private papers, Palmer, after a conference with Senator Clark of Wyoming, Hamlin's uncle, was wiring Hamlin, urging him to get a lawyer to represent his interests. The committee had knowledge of that and hurried the letters into the record without regard to sequence. More than seventy had been read when adjournment was taken tonight.

SHOWS ACTIVITY.

Those read into the record were directed to managers of beet sugar companies, officers of the American Beet Sugar Association, and friends of Hamlin, indicating that Hamlin, at the time of their writing, was an active figure in a campaign to organize support for the protection of the beet sugar industry and secure publicity against tariff reduction.

Some told of Hamlin traveling to large cities, giving out interviews; others written in Washington indicated that he was trying to circulate matter in defense of a sugar duty through newspapers, the Associated Press and other channels to offset what he thought to be misleading statements put out by sugar refiners. The text indicated that his attempts at publicity had not always been as successful as he had hoped. Other letters referred to a plan launched by Hamlin to have large beet sugar companies take over $35,000 in bonds of the Chicago Inter Ocean. Other letters disclosed attempts to interest big railroad systems in the anti-free-sugar campaign and to have profes-

Son Wants Ingalls's Statue Removed from Hall of Fame.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Lieut. Gov. Ingalls, son of the late Senator Ingalls of Kansas, will ask the Legislature to bring the statue of his father back home from the National Hall of Fame in Washington. He says he is tired of hearing the statues referred to as "them guys" by the capital guides.

AGUINALDO TO CAMPAIGN IN THE UNITED STATES.

Filipino Leader Is Slated to Speak in the American Congress.

Son of the Former Foe of the Stars and Stripes in the Archipelago Goes to Tokio to Enlist Mikado's Guarantee of Neutrality in Case the Democratic Administration in Washington Grants Independence to the Islands.

[BY CABLE AND FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

MANILA, June 7.—[Special Dispatch.] Don Emilio Aguinaldo, former dictator and president of the short-lived Filipino republic, will probably speak in Congress for Philippine independence when the Jones bill comes up for discussion. Friends of Aguinaldo in the United States have urged him to go to Washington, promising him a hearing. The understanding here is that Secretary of State Bryan, who knows Aguinaldo very well personally, having met him on several occasions when he was in the Philippines a few years ago, approves of the proposed trip. On his way to and from the American capital Aguinaldo will very likely speak in several other cities.

SON IN JAPAN.

A son of Aguinaldo is now in Japan. It is understood that he is on a political mission from the ex-dictator and commander-in-chief of the Filipino rebel army. Aguinaldo has many friends among the statesmen of all parties in Japan. Although nothing is definitely known here as to what young Aguinaldo intends to do in Tokio, it is generally believed that he bears a letter from his father to the Mikado asking Japan to guarantee the neutrality of the Philippines in case the United States is willing to grant the Filipinos independence. There is a report here that Gov.-Gen. William Cameron Forbes has been informed personally by Aguinaldo of the steps he is taking in his campaign.

Forbes and Aguinaldo are on intimate terms, despite the fact that the Republican insular executive is opposed to immediate independence.

Aguinaldo recently in Baguio, the summer capital in the hills of Benguet, North Luzon, extolled Forbes as the best Governor the islands have ever been blessed with.

AGUINALDO'S ASPIRATIONS.

After his capture by Funston, Emilio Aguinaldo y Fami retired to his farm at Cavite Viejo, a small settlement across the bay from Manila. He shunned publicity for years and became known as the "Sphinx of Kawit." Recently he re-entered politics and is now contesting the leadership of Sergio Osmena, the most powerful Filipino nationalist in the islands, and Manuel Quezon, the resident commissioner at Washington.

Aguinaldo has developed conservative views and many of the former most active figures in the rebellion are rallying to his side, in addition to a strong following of Manila Filipino business men of wealth and standing. The younger men, and especially those who have been educated in the United States, are opposed to him, for the most part, largely because they have ambitions of their own to win the presidency if independence becomes a fact.

Aguinaldo, while advocating Filipino independence, applauds the work done by the American army and the civil government in the Philippines. He has proved his loyalty to the insular government on numerous occasions and his integrity is unquestioned. If he decides to go to Washington and visit for the first time the United States, against which he fought in the field until the Malolos congress and the Filipino armies were scattered by the American troops, it is believed here he will meet with a big reception. He is an effective platform speaker in Spanish and converses well in English. His doings are now the principal topic in Manila, where opinion is bitterly divided on the independence question, those having investments in the islands doubting the capacity of the Filipinos to assure peace and protection of life and property.

AGUINALOD'S SON GOING TO TOKIO.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

TOKIO (Japan) June 17.—Dispatches received here from Kobe report the arrival there of a son of Emilio Aguinaldo, the former revolutionary leader of the Filipinos, who is said to be on the way to Tokio.

At Kobe, Young Aguinaldo conferred with a number of Japanese. His mission is in some quarters believed to be in connection with the independence movement for the Philippines.

FIERCE FIGHTING IN PHILIPPINES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Further details of the fierce fighting which resulted in the complete overthrow of the Moros on the Island of Jolo, in the Philippines, was contained in a delayed dispatch from Brig.-Gen. Pershing received today at the War Department. The decisive victory of the American troops, Gen. Pershing says, probably will end outlawry in Jolo for some time.

The last crater stronghold on Bagsak was captured Sunday after hard fighting. The attack was made by two companies of the Philippine Scouts, commanded by George C. Charlton, supported by First Lieutenant Thomas F. Vannatta, Jr., with mountain guns and two companies of Philippine Scouts.

Gen. Pershing confirms previous reports that the American losses were six killed and seven wounded, all enlisted men in the Philippine Scouts. The Moro losses are unestimated, though known to be heavy.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is of course impossible to guess what fortune may attend the voyage of the Karluk upon which she starts, for that is so largely a matter of wind and weather, that good management and thorough equipment are but secondary factors of success, that the expedition is thoroughly equipped is all that we can say of it for the present. The character of its management will develop from day to day, and it will be only some years from now, if no disaster overtakes us, that it will be possible to decide the relative value of the factors that make for its success or failure. It will, however, be only a few specialists in polar matters that will make the judgment correctly, if ever, for the man in the street will credit the commander of the expedition with the success of which Providence makes a present on certain occasions, or he will blame him for the failure which should be charged to adverse winds and the laws of chance.

There are many better vessels afloat than the Karluk, although she has already withstood polar ice through many seasons, and is as sound now as when new, but apart from the character of the vessel, few things in the equipment have been left unprovided for.

She has a sailing master in Capt. Bartlett, whose experienced gained under Admiral Peary, who takes first rank in the world among ice navigators, but the Beaufort Sea, much of Alaska, varies in its ice conditions perhaps more from season to season than any other part of the North Polar Sea. When its wintry winds prevail through whole seasons, as they sometimes do, the entire ocean north of Alaska, in the neighborhood of land, is so filled with ice that no ship, of any heavy power and construction, could possibly penetrate to the mouth of the Mackenzie. In seasons when easterly winds prevail, on the other hand, Beaufort Sea is generally free of ice and sometimes as free of it for all one can tell by cruising through whaling water, as the Atlantic is between New York and Liverpool. In certain seasons, therefore, the task of the Karluk will become an impossibility, in others it may be as simple as cruising in tropical waters so far as securing entrance into the Beaufor Sea is concerned; but the chances are, of course, in favor of a season that mixes easterly winds with westerly, and gives us ice difficulties that are more or less serious, but not insurmountable.

TWO OUT OF THREE.

The Karluk has, therefore, at least two chances out of three of penetrating to Herschell Island and of sailing thence northward for a greater or less distance beyond the farthest point attained by any vessel heretofore in that quarter, for no vessel up there has ever stood offshore looking for anything but whales, for which search is never prosecuted farther than two hundred miles from land, even when no ice is sighted at the farthest north.

This expedition differs in a fortunate way from those others that have sailed north, for, while no money has been squandered in equipment, no department of the expedition has been stinted by the Canadian government in money which it seemed desirable to spend towards the end in view. The Dominion government has also given us free hand in choosing men and materials. More than this, they have been wise enough to decide that having once chosen the leader of the expedition there remains nothing but to give him a free hand in the conducting of it, not only while it is being equipped, but also after it sets sail. Our sailing orders are only general, providing that every effort shall be made which seems advisable at the time for the accomplishment of geographic discovery and the attainment of scientific information. We shall cross no bridges till we come to them, and shall do each day the things that seem of use in the light of events of that day. It is therefore impossible for us to say just where we are going or how far, or to tell when we shall return, or how.

So fully has the government entered into the true aims of exploration that they have specifically provided in a letter of instructions that the attainment of purposes of the expedition is more important than the bringing back safe of the ship which it sails. This means that while every reasonable precaution will be taken to safeguard the lives of the party, it is realized both by the backers of the expedition and members of it that even the lives of the party are secondary to the accomplishment of the work. This should not be looked upon as an ordinary thing. It is the principle upon which battles are fought in war, though with more lives at stake and commonly for principles not more worthy than those which should be, and, in fact, are at the foundation of expeditions such as this.

The sensational aspect of the Canadian Arctic expedition is that if it

HINTS OF BLACKMAIL MADE BY JUDGE LOVETT.

Head of Union Pacific Rejects Insidious Proposals by Emissaries of Lawyers Who Profess to Wield Influence in High Places — Attributes to Them Harmful Rumors Regarding the Dissolution Plans.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 17.—Judge Robert S. Lovett, chairman of the Union Pacific Company, issued a long statement in New York this afternoon saying in effect that the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific authorities have been approached by various persons unnamed, professing to have influence which they would bring to bear in the matter of the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific dissolution proceedings, provided the railroad employed certain lawyers.

He added that these offers were invariably rejected, as the result of which, presumably, many rumors were circulated reflecting on the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific management and motives.

"Every time that we have had any plan connected with Union Pacific-Southern Pacific dissolution," said Judge Lovett, "I think that without a single exception we have had calls from parties purporting to be able to exert great influence with Congress and in other places. All sorts of emissaries have come to me with the story that they could accomplish all sorts of things for us if we would employ certain lawyers.

"I have refused to see any of these parties and I don't believe a single word that they have said about what they can accomplish for us. Following these communications there was generally some sort of a rumor appearing on the press which I could not help but connect with these parties."

With reference to the proposed deal with the Pennsylvania Railroad whereby the Union Pacific was to trade $38,000,000 of Southern Pacific stock in return for stock of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad of substantially the same value, Judge Lovett explained that there was "no desire on the part of the Union Pacific to control the Baltimore and Ohio," adding that if such control resulted it would be "merely incidental." The exchange, if consummated, he said, would give the Union Pacific about 38 per cent of Baltimore and Ohio stock.

Judge Lovett scouted the idea that the proposed deal with the Pennsylvania was a forerunner to bring that road, the Union Pacific, the Southern Pacific and the Baltimore and Ohio under the control of one banking house. "So far as Union Pacific is concerned," he said, "Kuhn, Loeb & Co. are interested to a large degree, but I cannot imagine anything more preposterous than the story that this is a scheme to get all these roads under the control of one banking house."

He added that at present there were no negotiations under way for the disposal of any more Southern Pacific stock to any other railroad system, although he would not commit himself as to what might be done in the future. He had no recent communication from the Attorney-General, he said, as to whether he approved the exchange of Southern Pacific stock for Baltimore and Ohio.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Plans for dissolving the Union Pacific merger, as presented to the United States Court at St. Paul, were discussed today at the Cabinet meeting.

The intimation came from Cabinet officers that the proposed exchange of Southern Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio stocks between the Union Pacific and Pennsylvania was regarded as "a step in the right direction."

MASKED MEN HOLD UP THE DIAMOND SPECIAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) June 18.—The Diamond Special of the Illinois Central Railroad was held up at 12.10 o'clock this morning near Glenarm, twelve miles south of this city.

According to Conductor Nicholas Williams, who reported the hold-up to the Sheriff's office by long distance telephone, two masked men flagged the train and compelled the trainmen to uncouple the engine and the express car and to run ahead. The passengers are marooned in the coaches at the point where the train was stopped.

Conductor Williams, five minutes after the engine and express car were uncoupled, heard an explosion and believes that the express car safe has been rifled.

A special train carrying police and deputies has left this city for the scene of the hold-up.

FRUIT OF DEL VALLE'S VISIT.

Inspector of Mexican Consular Service Summoned to Hermosillo to Discuss Peace Terms With Rebels.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL PASO (Tex.) June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Inspector-General Miguel Diebold of the Mexican consular service left here this evening for Nogales and Hermosillo, Sonora, in answer to telegraphic request from the rebels of Sonora for him to represent his government there at a conference.

R. F. Del Valle, the Los Angeles peace commissioner, has been at Hermosillo, and before leaving here Senor Diebold issued a statement that the Sonora rebel commanders had taken up informally the matter of peace terms and that he fully believed that permanent peace would be arranged between that State and the Federal government in Mexico City.

He said he had no details of the terms or what brought them about, as the wires have been censored from Hermosillo to Nogales and he didn't know what had taken place there. But he said that he was confident that peace would result and the visit of Senor Del Valle strengthened this belief.

APPROVED BY WILSON.

Text of the New Currency Act.

Measure Will Be Introduced in Both Houses Next Friday.

Federal Reserve Bank to Have a Capital of Five Millions.

Every National Bank Required to Take Shares of Stock in It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The provisions of the Owens-Glass-McAdoo banking and currency reform bill are presented herewith:

This bill, which has the approval of President Wilson, may be modified in some minor particulars during its consideration by Congress, but in most of its features it will be the law of the land, in all probability, before the adjournment of the present session of Congress.

The bill will be introduced in the Senate by Senator Owen and in the House by Congressman Glass, respectively chairman of the Senate and of the House Banking and Currency Committee, immediately after the President reads on Friday his currency message to the two Houses assembled in joint session.

THE BILL SUMMARIZED.

Summarized, the bill is as follows:

The Secretary of the Treasury, the Attorney-General and the Comptroller of the Currency are formed into an organization committee for the purpose of dividing the United States into not less than twelve districts, each district to contain a Federal reserve city.

In each Federal reserve city, the Organization Committee will organize a Federal reserve bank.

Every national bank within a reserve district must subscribe 20 per cent. of its unimpaired capital to the capital stock of the Federal reserve bank of that district, the capital stock to be not less than $5,000,000.

Each Federal reserve bank may establish branch offices, the number of which must not exceed one for each $500,000 of the capital stock of such Federal reserve bank.

Every Federal reserve bank shall be incorporated and shall have succession for a period of twenty years from its organization.

Every Federal reserve bank shall be controlled by a board of nine directors holding office for three years, three of whom shall be chosen by the stockholding banks, three representing the general public interests of the reserve district and three designated by the Federal reserve board. Shareholders in a Federal reserve bank shall be entitled to an annual dividend of 6 per cent. on the paid-up capital.

One-half of the net earnings shall be paid into the surplus fund until that fund amounts to 20 per cent. of the bank's capital and the remaining half shall be paid to the United States.

When the surplus fund amounts to 20 per cent. of the capital and the shareholders have received their 6 per cent. dividends, all surplus earnings shall be paid to the United States.

Any State bank, banking association or trust company may subscribe to the stock of a Federal reserve bank.

A Federal reserve board is created consisting of nine members, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Agriculture and the Comptroller of the Currency, three members chosen by the President of the United States, by and with the consent of the Senate, for a term of six years, one of whom is to be the governor, another the vice-governer and the third the secretary, and three members chosen by the electors of the Federal reserve banks.

The Federal Reserve Board is empowered:

To examine accounts and books of Federal reserve banks.

To require or permit a Federal reserve bank to re-discount the paper of any of the Federal reserve banks.

To establish each week or oftener a rate of discount which shall be mandatory upon each Federal reserve bank for each class of paper.

To supervise and regulate the issue of treasury notes to Federal reserve banks.

To require the removal of Federal reserve bank officers for incompetency, dereliction of duty, fraud or deceit.

To require the writing off of doubtful or worthless assets upon the books and balance sheets of Federal reserve banks.

To suspend the further operations of any Federal reserve bank and appoint a receiver therefor. A Federal reserve bank may receive from any of its stockholders deposits of current funds, national bank notes, Federal reserve notes or checks and drafts upon solvent banks.

Upon the indorsement of any member bank, it may discount notes and bills of exchange arising out of commercial transactions.

Such notes or bills, however, shall not be discounted for speculating purposes.

Various restrictions are imposed in reference to the extent of the loaning power of a Federal reserve bank.

The Federal Reserve Board may authorize the reserve bank of a district to count the direct obligations of member banks.

Certain open market operations are permitted to reserve banks.

All moneys now held in the general fund of the treasury will be deposited in Federal reserve banks, which shall act as fiscal agents of the government.

All revenues of the government shall be deposited in such banks and disbursements drawn against such deposits.

The Federal reserve banks may be required to pay interest on government deposits, but shall not pay interest on any other.

The government and State banks depositing in the Federal reserve banks shall be the only depositors in the reserve banks.

An issue of $500,000,000, plus an amount equal to the amount of national bank notes which may be retired, is authorized.

This issue shall be made at the discretion of the Federal reserve board.

Any Federal reserve bank may make application to the Federal Reserve Board for such amount of treasury notes as it may desire, such application to be accompanied with an offer of collateral security to protect the notes, equal in amount to the sum applied for.

Whenever any Federal reserve bank shall disburse Federal reserve treasury notes it must hold in its own vaults gold or lawful money equal in amount to 33 1-3 per cent. of the treasury notes so paid out by it.

Federal reserve banks may be required to deposit in the treasury a sum of gold or lawful money equal to 5 per cent. of whatever amount of Federal reserve treasury notes is issued to it.

Exchange of collateral put up for notes is provided for.

The Federal Reserve Board may act as a clearinghouse for Federal reserve banks and may also require each such bank to exercise the functions of a clearinghouse for its shareholding banks.

Provision is made for the reduction and wiping out of liability by Federal reserve banks.

The Secretary of the Treasury is directed to exchange United States 2 per cent. bonds, bearing the circulation privilege of 2 per cent. bonds, without the circulating privilege.

When the outstanding 2 per cent. shall be exchanged or refunded the power of national banks to issue circulating notes secured by United States bonds will cease.

Every national bank may receive circulating notes under the conditions prescribed by the bill, but no national banks shall be permitted to issue circulating notes or any substitute therefor.

After twenty years national bank notes remaining outstanding shall be recalled.

Within sixty days after the establishment of a Federal reserve bank every national banking association shall establish with the Federal reserve bank of its district a credit balance on the books of the latter institution equal to not less than 3 per cent. of its own total demand liabilities, exclusive of circulating notes, and at the end of fourteen months this amount shall be increased to 5 per cent. National banking associations classified as country banks and situated outside of central reserve and reserve cities must maintain a reserve equal to 15 per cent. of the aggregate amount of their deposits. National banks in reserve cities must maintain a reserve of 25 per cent. of their outstanding deposits for twenty-six months after the passage of the bill, and for twelve months thereafter 22½ per cent., and at the end of thirty-eight months permanently a reserve of 20 per cent. of their standing deposits.

Every Federal reserve bank must at all times have in its vaults in gold or lawful money a sum equal to not less than 33 1-3 per cent. of its outstanding demand liabilities.

Drastic and frequent examination of national banking associations are provided for.

Each Federal reserve bank is authorized to arrange for the examination of member banks within its district.

Any national bank making a loan of gratuity to an examiner is subject to a fine of $1000 and the officer or officers of the bank authorizing it to an additional fine of $500. Any examiner accepting the loan or gratuity is fined $500 and disqualified from office.

No officer or director of a national bank may be a beneficiary of any transaction made on behalf of his bank. Should he violate this provision he will be punished by a fine of not less than $5000 or by a penitentiary sentence of three years or both.

The stockholders of every national banking association will be held individually responsible for all obligations of such association.

Any national banking association not situated in a reserve city may make farm loans, equal to 25 per cent. of its capital and surplus or 50 per cent. of its time deposits.

Any national banking association capitalized at $1,000,000 or more may, through the Federal Reserve Board, establish branches in foreign countries.

MRS. FISKE LOSES FIGHT TO PROTECT GAME BIRDS.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 17.—[Special Dispatch.] Representatives of Audubon Societies of America who have been fighting for the provision in the Underwood bill prohibiting the importation of the feathers of wild birds into the United States have apparently lost their fight.

Majority members of the Finance Committee today amended the Underwood bill eliminating the paragraph prohibiting the importation of feathers of such game birds as were killed for food and of such birds as are killed for pests.

Minnie Maddern Fiske, the actress, was one of those who took a leading part in the fight for prohibition of the importation of feathers of game birds. In a strong brief, she told of the cruel methods pursued in securing the feathers of live birds.

Importers of feathers and representatives of the millinery trade, however, before the finance subcommittee having this matter in charge urged that the legislation proposed by Senator Clapp of Minnesota be adopted.

They declared that to prohibit the importation of feathers of birds killed as food or as pests would result in a great economic waste. The majority members of the Finance Committee took the same view and rejected the appeals of the Audubon Society.

Prussian Minister of Commerce Takes Action to Prevent Its Floating in German Market.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

BERLIN, June 17.—The issues of the proposed Mexican national railways and Mexican government loans were barred from the German market today by the Prussian Minister of Commerce. This action was taken as a sequel to the request of the German government to the great German banks to desist from further foreign flotations in view of the monetary pressure.

It is understood that the German underwriters of the Mexican loans will endeavor to place their quota abroad.

Democrats Put Famous Breed of Goats on Same Level With Sheep on Free List.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The Angora goat can no longer lord it over the pastoral sheep and proclaim its aristocracy, for the Democrats of the Senate Finance Committee have put both on a level.

By striking off the Underwood rate of 20 per cent. ad valorem on the hair of the Angora goat and transferring it to the free list with raw wool, the committee ran counter to the Ways and Means Committee of the House and decided a much-disputed point in the woolen schedule.

The committee met again today to go over the sundries schedule, planning reductions in many articles.

NEW HOT WAVE NEARING LAKES.

Chicago's Death Roll Grows Despite Cooler Breeze.

Dogs Driven Mad by Heat Bite Seven Persons.

Highest Temperature of Year Recorded in St. Louis.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Despite the cool wave which arrived yesterday evening and continued today, five additional deaths from heat were reported today, the victims being persons stricken mortally the first two days of the heat wave. No prostrations were reported today, but seven persons were bitten by rabid dogs, driven mad by the heat.

The cool breezes from the lake, which rushed the temperature in the city from 98.4 to 67 in a few hours, brought little relief to the western and southern suburbs of the city. Twelve miles from the lake the temperature was twenty degrees hotter than in the city.

Capt. Carland and his crew of life savers rescued seven men from Lake Michigan today. Two sloops had been disabled by the storm and the occupants were in dire distress when the life savers, racing in motor boats, picked them up. All declined to give their names, thereby incurring the anger of the men who had risked their own lives to bring them to shore.

Bathing beaches which had been densely populated day and night up to last night, were practically deserted today, as the wind and water were too chilly except for the most hardy swimmers.

Weather forecasters give warning that another hot wave will sweep down upon this region again Thursday, as indications are the wind will vere to the south by that time. The humidity today was only 60, the minimum temperature was 66 and the maximum 68 deg., giving the wilted population an opportunity to brace itself against the forthcoming hot weather.

There was much suffering in towns and cities down State. At Joliet a Civil War veteran and a baby were killed by the heat and special dispatches tonight tell of deaths and prostrations at several points.

Apprehension is growing for the corn and other crops of the Northwest, where rain is badly needed. In Michigan the State Agricultural Board completed its survey of the districts recently affected by frost and subsequent scorching weather and reports that in some cases the fruit crop will be a total loss and that the damage generally will be heavy.

COOLER IN THE SOUTH.

While portions of the Middle and Central West are baking, the extreme South is almost as cool as Canadian points. Cincinnati had a maximum of 96 and minimum of 72, while St. Louis had a maximum of 98 and minimum of 74. Miami, Fla., had a maximum of 84 and minimum of 78; New Orleans 90-74; Jacksonville, Fla., 96-74; San Antonio, 90-70 and Denver, 90-58. Phoenix, Ariz., and Evansville, Ind., held the banner at 100 each.

RAINS AT MANY POINTS.

Tonight's map shows rain in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Texas, Michigan, Wisconsin, South Dakota, Minnesota, Montana and Canada. With the exception of South Dakota and Canadian points, however, the rains were local and not of any volume.

ST. LOUIS BREAKS ITS HEAT RECORD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Today was the hottest June 17 since 1868, records of the local weather bureau show. On June 17, 1868, the mercury climbed to 98 deg. and between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon that record was equaled. The records of temperature go back to 1836.

Today also was the hottest day in St. Louis this year, and lacked only two degrees of being the hottest day in the history of St. Louis up to June 17. On June 9, in a previous year, the temperature was 100 deg. The hottest June day in the history of the city was in 1836, when the government thermometer registered 102 deg.

It is estimated that today was hotter than any of these other days, however, as the readings now are taken 280 feet above the street level, while then they were taken nearer the street.

No relief is in sight, according to reports from the local weather bureau, the indications being that the present heat will continue. The forecast today was: Generally fair, continued warmer.

The government Kiosk in Times Square at 3:30 o'clock today registered 104½ deg. The dial is shielded from the sun.

There were four heat prostrations today.

Frederick Wagner Admits Engagement to "Lady With a Cup of Tea," and Surprises Artist Colony.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frederick Wagner, well-known member of the local artists' colony, whose landscape canvasses are shown to frequenters of water color exhibitions, admitted when seen at the Sketch Club today that the report of his engagement to Miss Eva Wilmont of this city was true, but would advance no information about the romance or his fiancee.

Mr. Wagner confirmed the report to the extent that Miss Wilmont posed for the "Lady With a Cup of Tea," his canvass at the last Academy exhibit. He was unwilling to divulge anything further as to her identity, however, saying that no date had been set for the wedding, though it will probably take place shortly.

The announcement of Mr. Wagner's engagement came as a surprise to his fellow-artists of the Camac-street quarter. Fred Wagner is not exactly a young man. He was born in 1864 at Valley Forge, Pa., by the way, and he painted many years and many things before he achieved his present enviable position in the art world.

should prove as successful as it conceivably may, then it will close forever the chapter of geographical discovery, for the only place on the whole earth where there can possibly be land of considerable extent, whose very existence is unknown to us, is the unexplored area of a million or so square miles that is represented by white patches on our map lying between Alaska and the North Pole. But the more important aspect of the expedition is the broadly scientific one, for it carries a larger staff of scientific specialists than have ever been carried on a polar expedition north or south, and their investigations will be distributed among more departments of human knowledge than have ever been included in the progress of a polar expedition. The time contemplated is also unusually long, for if everything goes according to schedule the work of the fifteen scientists will extend through three winters and four summers.

On our last expedition, Dr. Anderson and I found that the work we had planned to do in one year could not be done in less than four and we accordingly stayed the four years to do it. The same principle will still apply if no catastrophe overtakes the expedition, but if the work is merely retarded by untoward circumstances, then the time of it will be of necessity extended beyond the four summers contemplated for the time is elastic, but the work to be done is a fairly definite quantity.

CARRIES UPLIFT TO BLOND ESKIMO.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) June 17.—The last of fifty tons of coal was piled today on the deck of the whaler Karluk, which is to carry Dr. Vilhjalmar Stefansson's scientific and exploring expedition into the Arctic for a three-years' stay. All that remained to be done before sailing for the North was the adjusting of the compasses.

Capt. Robert Bartlett, who commanded Peary's ship, Roosevelt, and who will be master of the Karluk on the Stefansson expedition, said his ship would be steaming north before night through the inside passage toward Cross Channel, where she will turn westward and head for Unimak Pass, the entrance to Bering Sea.

The Karluk's first port of call will be Nome, Alaska, where she is expected to arrive July 7. The Kaiuk will wait there until Dr. Stefansson and Dr. R. M. Anderson, who will command the southern party of the expedition, arrive from Seattle by mail steamer.

Stefansson does not expect to leave Nome until July 20, as ice conditions in the Arctic Ocean would prevent the expedition's making much headway if they passed through Bering Strait before then. Dr. Stefansson today called attention to his letter of instructions from the Canadian government, which is financing the expedition.

The letter says:

"While every precaution should be taken for the lives of the party, the safety of the vessel is not so important."

This means, Dr. Stefansson pointed out, that the government thoroughly understands the nature of the work and is prepared for risks.

THE EXPEDITION.

The expedition differs from most of the polar undertakings in that its objects are practical and commercial. Its purposes are to learn whether a polar continent exists; to map the islands already discovered east of the mouth of the Mackenzie River; to make a collection of the Arctic flora and fauna; to survey the channels among the islands in hope of establishing trade routes; to make a geological survey of the islands, which are believed to contain copper and other minerals, and to study the blond Eskimos of Coronation Gulf, on the mainland south of Victoria Land. No effort will be made to reach the North Pole; that will be left for Amundson, who will sail into the Arctic next summer. No attempt will be made to bring back any of the blond Eskimos, or to open their country to civilization, which Stefansson says would destroy them. The expedition expects to return to Nome in September, 1916, but may be carried to Greenland, crossing the North Pole on the way.

COMPOSITION OF PARTY.

The Stefansson expedition, when it leaves Nome, Alaska, on July 20, will be composed of the old barkentine-rigged wooden whaler Karluk, 247 tons, and the gasoline screw vessel Alaska, thirty-two tons, which is already in the north, and will meet the Karluk at Nome. From Nome the ships will proceed north through Bering Strait into the Arctic Ocean during the brief period of open water, and head east to Beaufort Sea. It is reported that a continent exists north of the sea, and the Karluk will steer due north and seek land, on which Stefansson and his main party may establish a base, the Karluk returning to Herschel Island for the winter. The ice in Beaufort Sea may lay hold of the Karluk and carry her toward Greenland, or it may crush the ship into bits. The explorers are prepared for either event. If the Karluk is able to make its way north through the supposed location of the continent and no land is found, it will, if possible, make its way east to Prince Patrick Island, and winter there, with the purpose of making winter sledge journeys north and east.

With Stefansson on the Karluk, in the northern party, are Capt. Robert Bartlett, Peary's old sailing master, and a picked crew of Britishers; James Murray, oceanographer; W. T. McKinley, magnetician, University of Glasgow; George Malloch, Canadian government geologist and a specialist in stratagraphy.

Most of the scientists will join the southern, or Victoria Land, party on the Alaska. From Point Barrow she will hurry eastward hoping to reach a base on Simpson Bay, Victoria Land, before winter sets in. In this party will be Dr. R. M. Anderson, zoologist, commanding; Fritz Johanson, United States government biologist; J. B. O'Neil, mining geologist, member Geological Survey; Kenneth Chapman and J. R. Cox, Canadian topographers; Henry Beauchat, anthropologist, Paris; Dr. Jennis, ethnologist; Dr. A. Forbes Mackay, Shackleton's Antarctic expedition surgeon, of Edinburgh University, and photographers and cinematographers. A thorough scientific exploration will be made of Victoria Land, which is supposed to contain great copper deposits. Visits also will be paid to the blonde Eskimos, on the mainland. There is a tradition among the continental Eskimos that Victoria Land, about which little is known, is inhabited by Eskimo tribes.

WELL EQUIPPED.

Stefansson and Anderson are thoroughly familiar with the country between Point Barrow, Alaska, and a point far to the east of the Mackenzie River, that having been the scene of their earlier explorations. In their former journeys they were separated most of the time and each man lived alone, except as they fell in with bands of Eskimos. Stefansson says there is no fear of starvation, for there is plenty of fish and game in the north. Except for some dainties which the ship will carry, the party will subsist as the Eskimos do, on flesh of wild animals, with a few berries in the summer. Both Stefansson and Anderson speak the Eskimo tongue. They know all the Eskimos upon a long stretch of coast, and will obtain dogs from them.

SUNBURY (Pa.) June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, daughter of the President, proved her democracy here while en route from Eaglesmere, Pa., to Washington, by eating her lunch from a shoe box in a public park and advising a youth not to smoke cigarettes. Miss Wilson, with a number of other young women, alighted shortly before noon today, and as she left the train the youth yelled "chicken" at the daughter of the President. "You ought not smoke; it is bad for your nerves, and your mother wouldn't like it," was Miss Wilson's retort.

Four Japanese Emissaries Declare They Have Succeeded in Mollifying Their Countrymen in West and Reassert that Nippon Is Not Warlike Nation, but Advocates Peace.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Commercial Japan's four peace envoys here to further friendly relations between Japan and the United States announced today that they expected to visit all the important commercial bodies in this country in an effort to aid in bringing about an equitable settlement of the problems growing out of the California land legislation.

The envoys, Dr. J. Soyeda of Tokio, and Messrs Kamiya of Japan and Shima and Abiko of the Pacific Coast, held a long conference with Ambassador Chinda, and detailed to him the feeling of the Japanese in California. Dr. Soyeda told the Ambassador that their countrymen in the Western States had been greatly disturbed at the prospect of having to abandon large investments, but that since his visit feeling had improved, and a satisfactory adjustment of the situation was hoped for.

Dr. Soyeda explained today that he was not in America as an agent of his government, but had come simply as a representative of the affiliated commercial organizations of Japan.

In a statement he emphasized the friendliness of his people toward the United States.

"Japan, in spite of all that has been said and printed regarding its warlike tendencies," he said, "is not a warlike nation and has no desire to go to war with the United States over the California land act. We look upon America as the teacher who enabled us to become the enlightened nation we have since become. Japan does not want war; it would be a great calamity."

President Disregards All Precedents in Presence of His Secretary of State—Today Will Invade Capitol Again to Discuss Diplomatic Appointments With Senators.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—President Wilson and Secretary Bryan got a taste of Washington's hot weather today when they sat down to work over a number of prospective diplomatic appointments. The Secretary reached the executive offices shortly after he had been presented to the new Minister of Cuba.

The sizzling temperature and the formal frock coat made an uncomfortable combination. It was the President who cast precedent aside, together with his frock coat and in his shirtsleeves he talked for more than an hour with Secretary Bryan, going over appointments chiefly and discussing briefly the currency question.

Tomorrow the President expects to consult Senators at the capitol about the additions to the diplomatic list.

Acceptance of Czar's Mediation Conditional and Balkan Ruler Is Once More Acute—King Ferdinand's Troops Accused of Murdering Moslems.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal Wireless to The Times.]

SOFIA (Bulgaria) June 17.—[Special Dispatch.] Relations between Servia and Bulgaria are strained. King Ferdinand's reply to the Czar's offer of mediation implies that, from his point of view the Bulgarians in any event evacuate the disputed zone in Macedonia. The implication of the answer is that Bulgaria has a historical and moral duty to perform in Macedonia. That country has declared to be Bulgarian and that it is to remain Bulgarian, although the people having united in a treaty of peace. This apparently paves the way for the ceded in the proposed Servo-Bulgarian treaty or there will be war.

The government of Bulgaria declares the people are as firm, silent and determined as they were before the Turkish war. The Bulgarians, it is said, are for their brethren in Macedonia and are determined that they shall be set free. There will be no demobilization of the army until the treaty conditions of the allies are published.

"The Balkan war," said a prominent leader of the Central Macedonian organization, "was a war of liberation and not of conquest. We want a proper solution of the Macedonian question fail our organization will force such a solution."

STIRS UP WOMEN IN CANAL ZONE.

Santa Monica Club Leader Returns from Panama.

Says She Has Dispelled Languor of Tropics.

Predicts Vigorous Battle for Franchise on Isthmus.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Miss Anna G. Manning of Santa Monica, suffragist leader and prominent California club woman, who arrived on the steamship Pennsylvania from Panama today, declares she has fanned the spark of suffrage for women into a flame and believes that the women will soon rise and demand the franchise on the isthmus and in the Republic of Panama. Miss Manning delivered a number of addresses before women from Colon to Panama and has worked for several months in the tropical strip for "the cause."

"The women are ready to rise in Panama," declared Miss Manning this morning. "The climate tends to make one seek languorous ease rather than a strenuous struggle for franchise rights and I had quite a little difficulty in getting the women aroused—but I did it.

"I am too old and too ardent a suffragist to let a little thing like climate deter me. I am 65 years old now, and I have been a suffrage worker since I was 16. Susan B. Anthony was my teacher and I worked at her behest for many a year. I have been an intimate friend of Mrs. Pankhurst and the other noted suffrage leaders of England, and while I myself am not a militant, I believe these women are wonderful.

"In Panama I first met the two heads of the government there, the American Surgeon-General and Col. Goethals. I consider the fact that I held the friendship of these two great men a real honor. They gave me every assistance in their power and I then commenced my work.

"The fight is not easy in that lazy country, but I got the women stirred up and I believe that in a short time the spark will be fanned into a flame that cannot be extinguished."

Miss Manning will leave tonight for her Santa Monica home.

After Thirty-seven Years of Married Life Discovers Wife Is Not Suited to Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After thirty-seven years of married life, raising a family of sons prominent in San Francisco's business world, Jesse Chester Martin, pioneer constructing engineer and capitalist, sued for divorce today from Mrs. Nellie V. Martin. She has left the fashionable Martin apartments at Jones and Jackson streets, where they have resided for the last year.

Martin, who is suing for a division of the community property, charges that Mrs. Martin has told him she will never again live with any man and that she wants a divorce.

The couple were married in New York on January 2, 1876. All of the children have families of their own.

The first trouble cited by the husband in his complaint came in December, 1911. For the thirty-five years previous he has no complaint.

In that month, he says, he was compelled to go to New York on business. Returning he found his wife engaged in packing up their furniture in the old homestead at No. 431 Fillmore street, intent on moving to more expensive quarters. He remonstrated, he says, but she refused to change her determination and moved.

He says also that Mrs. Martin remained out late many nights, refusing to inform him where she had been.

OAKLAND, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] All outstanding municipal improvement bonds for the water front, auditorium and schools will be recalled, and issues bearing a higher rate of interest than 4½ per cent. will be floated. In addition, a bond issue for probably $700,000 to complete the new City Hall will be voted upon by the people. This action was practically decided upon at a special meeting of the authorities last night.

Mayor Frank Mott headed the conference, which was an executive session. Commissioners Harry Anderson, John Forrest and William Bacus, Chief Deputy Auditor Earl Beatty, City Treasurer Edward Meese, City Attorney Ben Woolner and his chief deputy, Charles Beardsley, were present.

The City Council will call a mass meeting in the new executive building for Thursday evening, when all civic and commercial organizations will be asked to send representatives to discuss the financial situation. Owing to the stringency of the money market the city is unable to sell its bonds.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) June 17.—Petitions were placed in circulation by labor unions today for the recall of Judge John C. Phillips of the Superior Court of Maricopa county. Judge Phillips, who was the only Republican elected in this county in November, 1911, is charged with incompetency.

The circulation of the petitions was decided upon when the judge took from the hands of the jury and dismissed the $10,000 personal damage suit of Joseph Strinker against the Ray Consolidated Copper Company. It is alleged that Judge Phillips, in various cases, has asked the advice of attorneys before rendering decisions.

SANTA ROSA, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This city is experiencing a mild sensation over the escapades of several young men of Santa Rosa, members of the most prominent and wealthy families of Sonoma county. Recent indiscretions have involved the young men in a mass of rumors which have gained wide circulation.

As the result of an investigation into the conduct of the young men by Dist.-Atty. Clarence F. Lea and Probation Officer John P. Plover, complaints have been prepared and sworn to against thirteen young men, and these will be filed in the court of Justice of the Peace Atchison, Wednesday morning.

The boys are charged with furnishing minors with liquors. When they appear in court the lads are to be assessed a pretty stiff fine, but all are abundantly able to pay the amounts that may be assessed against them.

They are alleged to have given a couple of young girls liquor, and may be considered fortunate to escape a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors. Officers would not make public the list of names tonight.

HEAVY RAIN IN ARIZONA.

Gila River Valley Benefits and Severe Hailstorm in Mountains Swells the Streams.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GLOBE (Ariz.) June 17.—Rain fell heavily throughout the Gila River Valley today, doing much good to ranches and ranges. In the Graham mountains there was a severe hailstorm, swelling the streams and carrying prosperity further among the ranchers. Indications tonight were for a continuance of the precipitation.

BUYS GIRL FOR LIFE.

Suing Gypsy Values Services of Alleged "Fortune Teller" at Twenty-five Thousand Dollars.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, June 17.—By the terms of an agreement of sale, Rose Cruze, a young gypsy, was to serve Pete Mitchell in the capacity of public soothsayer for the term of her life, according to charges made in a damage suit filed here yesterday by Mitchell against the girl's father, John Cruze.

In his petition Mitchell asserts that the agreement was made in November, 1911, and he says he paid $2500 for the girl. He took her to Sacramento, he relates, and up to last May she had been earning for him by her fortune telling $500 a month. At that time, he sets forth, her father induced her to leave him and return to Berkeley. He admits that Cruze paid him $650 to annul the agreement, but in his suit he asks for the remainder of the cash he originally paid out, $1850, and additional damages in the sum of $25,000.

CATERPILLARS RAID OREGON.

Millions Invade Portland Rose Gardens and Orchards—Leave Trail of Devastation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Caterpillars by the millions are attacking Oregon orchards and gardens in this section, carrying destruction in their wake. In several districts the foliage has been stripped from entire orchards and the pests are now attacking rose bushes and other flower shrubs. Unless something immediately is done to destroy them it is feared that great damage will result.

First, the pests attacked ash, cherry, plum and apple trees, eating off the foliage. They next began to feed on rose bushes and several fine rose gardens have practically been destroyed. Park Superintendent Mische says unless immediate precautions are taken the caterpillars will gain such a foothold that it will be difficult to destroy them.

PRISON GUARD IN CHAIN GANG.

Oakland Man Given Hard Labor And Earnings Will Go to Support His Wife.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Eighteen months on the chain gang at hard labor is the sentence that the Superior Court of San Joaquin county has imposed on Edgar Hannagan of Oakland, who was formerly a guard at San Quentin, for neglecting his wife and baby with the necessaries of life.

The judgment provides that the county shall pay the young wife a sum not to exceed $1.50 for every day that the defendant works on the public highways. It was a tense moment in the court room when the 19-year-old wife went on the witness stand and with tearful eyes repudiated her husband, declaring, in reply to questions by the court, that she would never again live with him.

If she had consented to a reconciliation the outcome might have been different. The couple were married here last August and Hannagan, it is said, deserted his bride the following day, going to Oakland where he was subsequently arrested.

WEDDING AT SAN FRANCISCO OF INTERNATIONAL INTEREST.

Congratulations from Far East and England for Mr. and Mrs. C. Young Williamson—Cablegrams from Sir Thomas Lipton, Lord Beresford and Gen. Sir Baden-Powell.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An event of wide interest in this city, as well as in Dublin and throughout England, was the wedding this afternoon of C. Young Williamson and Mrs. Sybil I. C. Lambe, which took place at 3 o'clock at the Unitarian Church. Rev. Bradford Leavitt performed the ceremony. William Greer Harrison gave the bride away and Mrs. Campbell Pomeroy of Santa Rosa was the bride's attendant. George Buffingham of Berkeley was best man and Rennie Stevenson of Alameda and H. Wilfred Maloney of the faculty of Stanford University were ushers.

A buffet luncheon and reception followed in the red room of the Fairmont Hotel, which was attended by about 150 guests. At the reception cablegrams were read from Lord Beresford, Sir Thomas Lipton and Gen. Sir Baden-Powell extending felicitations to the bride and groom on their union. Congratulatory cablegrams were also received from the bride's mother, Mrs. R. W. Buckley of London and her four brothers, Lester Buckley of Calcutta, Claude Buckley of Bangalore, R. Buckley of Siam and Roland Buckley of Singapore, and many other relatives and friends in India and England.

Mrs. Williamson, who has resided in this city for the last four years, is a cousin of the Earl of Dudley and a niece of Canon Carmichael of Cheshire. Williamson has maintained a residence here for the last eighteen years and is a son of the late Col. Richard Williamson, commander of the Fifth Northumberland Fusileers, and a cousin of Archbishop McGee of New York. He is president of the British Empire Club and California Water Soccer Association of this city, and a member of the Bohemian, Olympic, Pacific Union and Union League Clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson will spend several weeks at Del Monte, and in September will make an extended visit to England and Ireland.

TO RAISE FRUIT RATES.

Railroads Ask Authority of State Commission to Advance Tariffs in the State.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Santa Fe and Southern Pacific today applied to the Railroad Commission for authority to increase the rate on dried fruits, including raisins, prunes and figs, throughout a large section of the State. The points affected are Fresno, Hanford, Aroma, Visalia, Guadalupe and Lompoc, on the Southern Pacific, and the points included between Fresno, Visalia, Hanford, Tulare and Bakersfield on the Santa Fe.

The proposed advances range from small percentages to as high as 20 per cent. The case will be heard here before Commissioner Eshelman on Friday, June 27, in the offices of the commission.

Successful Drink Habit Treatment

The habit of drinking alcoholic liquors always results in a general poisoning of the drinker's system with alcohol. Self mastery is completely lost and mental and physical ruin is sure to follow. Men and women should realize the danger of a social glass, and stop drinking at once. If they cannot stop, they should take the Neal Drink Habit Treatment, which is a safe, sure vegetable remedy that will remove the craving for drink in three days, without the use of hypodermic injections. The Neal Home Treatment can be arranged for those who desire it. Call and investigate. Get proof and references, or write or phone for book of information. The Neal Institute, 945 South Olive St., Los Angeles, and 160 Hill St., Ocean Park, California. Phones Broadway 4603 and A4072. Drug habit successfully treated.

It is a mistake to buy any Piano but a

Chickering

if you can afford its price

"What Piano would you advise me to buy?" is the question we are constantly being asked. We invariably reply, "A Chickering, of course—it's the World's greatest Piano."

But many people are unable to pay the Chickering price, which is of course higher than any other Piano.

We want you to have a Chickering, because we know it will give the highest kind of musical service.

But if you cannot afford a Chickering, then the piano for you is a FAIRBANKS.

Do not wait until you can afford the Chickering price before having good music in your home. Buy a Fairbanks now—it is a splendidly-toned instrument that you will enjoy—use it two years and then when you are ready for a Chickering we will take it back and allow all the money you have paid on the new instrument. This is the only proposition of its kind you have ever been offered. It's an opportunity to use one of the most popular instruments in the country while you are getting ready to own a Chickering—acknowledged by all to be the finest Piano the World has ever known. Let us tell you more about this plan.

(Of JUNO MATÉ)

The Most Delicious and Healthful Beverage in the World, Whether Served Hot or Iced.

Summer games mean summer drinks. Ice water is not recommended by physicians and is seldom used by athletes.

Serve as Refreshment From Fatigue.

The one most refreshing, healthful and generally beneficial drink (hot or iced) is Juno Maté.

Dr. Arnold Lorand, physician to the world famed baths at Carlsbad, Austria, says in a letter, under date of March 31, 1913:—

"Juno Maté is an excellent beverage, and, at any rate, the most hygienic for nervous persons."

Men of science from all over the world agree on this point and rank Juno Maté (pronounced mat-tay) as ahead of tea, coffee, chocolate or cocoa in health giving qualities and in the power to revitalize and invigorate.

This is not a "manufactured" mixture nor is it a "substitute," but it comes to you just as it grows, prepared for convenient use.

Juno Maté grows in the highlands of South America and we furnish you with only the highest grade of selected quality.

Try this wonderful beverage and you will never again be content with coffee or tea.

The greatest food of the age. Nearly all grocers sell Juno Maté in 25c or 50c packages. A trial package will be mailed you free, if you will send your name and address to Berndt & Co., Sole Distributors, 130 Hopkins Place, Baltimore, Md. Mention the name of your grocer.

LOSING YOUR HAIR?

Read What a Herpicide Enthusiast Says

You are becoming bald. The hair is getting thin on the top of your head and unless you take my advice you will, before long, be as hairless as a croquet ball. Remember too that chronic baldness is incurable.

It is all due to dandruff. I can tell, because you always have dandruff flakes on your coat collar. Besides being an indication of impending baldness, it also suggests untidiness.

Newbro's Herpicide causes dandruff to disappear and prevents the hair from falling out. It has a wonderfully beautifying effect upon the hair, producing changes which are sometimes beyond belief.

You are not taking any chances when you purchase Herpicide and you are tempting fate when you use anything else. Herpicide has thousands upon thousands of satisfied users who testify to its germ destroying and hair preserving qualities.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

The best barbers recommend and use it.

AFFECTS TITLES TO OIL LANDS.

Los Angeles Suit Involved by Riner's Decision.

Government to Appeal to Validate Its Claim.

Democrats Indorse the Policy Laid Down by Taft.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—In an effort to validate the Federal government's claim to thousands of acres of oil lands in Wyoming and California, valued at hundreds of millions of dollars, Atty. Gen. McReynolds today decided today to appeal from the decision of United States Dist. Judge Riner of Cheyenne, Wyo., upholding the Mid-west Oil Company's title to 4000 acres in Wyoming. This is a test case, and around it revolve many tracts of valuable oil lands claimed by other interests.

Not only will this case be appealed, but a similar case pending at Los Angeles will be prosecuted and many other suits will soon be filed to further test the title of immense oil holdings and prevent their withdrawing the oil until the ownership is settled. It is believed the issues finally will reach the United States Supreme Court.

These developments are regarded here as indicating that the new administration endorses the conservation policy of former President Taft with respect to these lands. President Taft withdrew the tracts in 1909 on the ground that great quantities of oil were being wasted and squandered by private interests when the land should be reserved until the government was prepared to dispose of it in the best interests of economy. It also held that adequate tracts should be withheld from entry to meet the oil for the United States navy.

The President's power to make the withdrawal was questioned and in June 25, 1910, Congress otherwise gave him authority and the lands were re-withdrawn. In the meantime many entries were made and patents issued, has held that the original withdrawal was invalid.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Ernest Knaebel will draw the government's appeal brief, as the text of the decision was written in Washington.

Senator Martine Counters With Mine Manager.

Details of the Holly Grove Battle Are Reviewed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) June 17.—At a stormy session of the Senate Mine Strike Committee at which a fist fight between Senator Martine of New Jersey and Quinn Morton, manager of the Paint Creek Operators' Association, was narrowly averted, the coal operators of Paint and Cabin Creeks presented today their side of the controversy.

Mr. Morton as the principal witness for the operators presented their account of the negotiations which preceded the strike and detailed his activities during the troubles. His discussion of his participation in the attack on the strikers' camp at Holly Grove from an armored train precipitated the clash with Senator Martine, who was questioning him, at the close of the morning session.

Morton defended the position taken by the employers throughout the present labor disputes, declaring that they were utterly unable to accede to the terms offered by the miners, although the latter were willing to withdraw all demands except that for the recognition of the union. He went into details as to the negotiations between miners and operators which preceded the strike in April, 1912.

BATTLE OF HOLLY GROVE.

The operators placed on the stand C. F. Leitch, the engineer and William Tardy, the fireman, who were in charge of the armored train the night of the Holly Grove fight. Both testified that they were certain that the shots fired in the trouble were not from the hills along the tracks of Holly Grove and that no firing was done from the train until after they had been fired upon.

"The first shots," said Leitch, "were fired at the lower end of the town of Holly Grove. There were four shots and I turned to come from the hills and then the general fusillade began the shooting from the train and from the hills."

The engineer said that he dropped to his knees beside the boiler of his engine and rode there until the firing ceased. He received a flesh wound in the hand from a bullet. When the train reached Mucklow, he said he went over the engine and train and found the marks of seventeen shots and a load of buckshot. All of his testimony was corroborated by Tardy, fireman, who said he took refuge behind the coal on the tender when the firing began to fly.

DENY PEONAGE.

Mine operators called a number of witnesses working in the mines who testified as to the general conditions, all of them declaring that the workers were well paid.

Attorney Tarnay said that of forty-seven men who came from New York on one car, only thirty-four reached Holly Creek. The others, he said, left along the road. He said he had been locked up in the houses where he was, but declared he was the only one of the thirty-four men who did not go at work.

Several of the witnesses denied that the principal trouble on the creeks was caused by the activity of the mine guards.

Senator Martine and others discussed the fight at the miners' camp at Holly Grove on the night of January 7, when witnesses for the miners testified a machine gun fired into the town from an armored train. Colonel Calvin, an ex-mine guard, flatly denied the statement made by the miners, that he had heard that the train had been backed up and that the men on board "give them hell round." This statement and the declaration that Morton had said "didn't we give them hell?" when the train passed the town were two of the points which Mr. Morton denied and precipitated a clash between the witness and Senator Martine. The Senator had objected to questioning along this line and expressed the resentment of Mr. Martine. When Chairman Swanson announced an adjournment, Mr. Martine remarked:

"Let's go down and take a few drinks and then we'll feel better."

Senator Martine had already begun to move toward the door of the room when he was arrested by the shout of Martine.

"No, no, that was not what you said, sir!" he was heard leaning toward Mr. Morton.

"Well, we will all go down and have a few drinks, and we'll feel better," said the mine operator.

Right away through the little door Martine shouted:

"You are a blackguard of the worst kind to address such a remark to me."

In the confusion that followed the words of Morton.

"Let's not take three drinks," said Martine, "let's take three drinks in thirty minutes."

Senator Martine corrected Senator Martine that separate drinks were not necessary.

"Then I forfeited all right to be considered a decent white man," he said.

"I am an excited old man," interposed Senator Vinson, as both men moved forward each other. Vinson then came between them and pushed against his client being pushed against his client being Senator Swanson hurried around the table and seized Senator Martine. Aided by Sergeant-at-Arms Bell, Mr. Martine was hurried him from the room and Mr. Vinson followed in vigorous language to the proceedings.

Order was restored, following an earnest appeal between Senators Swanson and Martine. Senator Martine, in charge of the hearings, declared Martine did not ask for an adjournment although he had the right to examine during Mr. Martine's testimony this morning.

TESTIMONY RUNS HIGH.

Through the morning session Attorney Tarnay, counsel for the operators, at different times protested against the methods of examination employed by Senator Martine.

Senator Martine made plans tonight to continue the examination of witnesses this afternoon and to have Washington tomorrow

Details of the Holly Grove Battle Are Reviewed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) June 17. At the closing session of the Senate Privileges Committee at which a fight between Senator Martine of New Jersey and Guinn Morton, manager of the Paint Creek Operators' Association, was narrowly averted, the testimony of Paint and Cabin Creek miners presented today their side of the story.

Morton, as the principal witness for the operators presented their version of the negotiations which preceded the strike and detailed his activities during the troubles. His account of his participation in the fight on the strikers' camp at Holly Grove from an armored train precipitated a clash with Senator Martine, culminating him, at the close of the morning session.

Morton defended the position taken by the operators throughout the proceedings, declaring that they were willing to withdraw if unable to accede to the demands made by the miners, although he said he thought that for the recognition which preceded the strike.

HOLLY GROVE.

Emphasis was placed on the stand by Fred Keitch, the engineer and Wilson, the fireman, who were in charge of the armored train the night of the Holly Grove fight. Both testified that they were certain that the shots fired at the trouble were fired in the hills along the tracks and not from the train and that no firing from the train until after the first shots.

"I am sure," said Leitch, "were from some of the town of Holly Grove, were four shots fired from the hills before the general fusillade began from the train and from the hills."

Leitch said that he dropped down behind the boiler of his engine and there until the firing ceased. He received a flesh wound in the hand from a bullet. Fireman Rumfield Mucklow, he said, was hit over the engine and he found the marks of seven shots and a load of buckshot. All of this was corroborated by Wilson, who said he took refuge in the tender when the firing began to fly.

BRIEF PROBABLE.

Morton called a number of miners who testified to the mines who testified to good conditions, all of which showed that the workers were satisfied.

Morton said that of forty-seven men from New York and thirty-four reached the mines, he said, he had had to send back. He said he had been told as in the houses that he destroyed he was the only thirty-four men who were willing to work.

Morton denied that there were tents on the creeks and others dismissed by the strikers at the mines. Morton was then shown a machine gun which he said was from an armored train, an automatic rifle, and a nine-mile guard.

Morton said that he had been told by Governor Glasscock that he would be backed up in the statement that he had given them the protection promised.

Morton said that he had been told by Governor Glasscock that he would be backed up in the statement that he had given them the protection promised.

"Now, sir," he said, "you have heard my story. Will you tell better."

Morton then retired.

Senator Martine began to read from a typewritten statement, but was interrupted by Senator Morton, who said:

"Mr. Chairman, I have given you the facts. Will you give them to me?"

Replying to that letter, Clark wrote Jan. 26, 1912, to Mr. Hamlin:

"I am glad Mr. Case had a talk with Senator Works. I feel quite sure that he will have to keep in line."

A letter to C. B. Warren, president of the Michigan Sugar Company, dated Feb. 1, 1912, and apparently from Hamlin, said:

"Mr. Pickett from Iowa, who is classed as an insurgent, will make one of the principal speeches in opposition to any sugar measure that may be brought in. Mr. Palmer is now at work on the necessary data. He will take the question up from the standpoint of its being a refiners' propaganda and also from the agricultural end. Mr. Mondell of Wyoming also wishes to enter into the fight on the floor and to be equipped with the necessary information. It is for him that I want Mr. Hathaway to prepare a brief. Have two purposes in this, the principal one being that in furnishing information for two persons, it is well to have the question approached from two different viewpoints, as it is difficult for one man to prepare a brief for two persons without their running along the same lines. This is very important and the sooner it is done the better. It might be well if Mr. Hathaway would come here and do the work on the ground. If he does, I will arrange matters so he can get into immediate touch with Mondell and know exactly what he wants. It seems to me wise to have the question presented, as far as possible, by members whose districts or States are not largely interested in the industry.

sors of agricultural colleges appear before committees of Congress with arguments favorable to the sugar men.

FEW DISCLOSURES.

None of the letters disclosed that the railroads had been interested or that the great news agencies had been extensively used or that the Inter Ocean bonds had been bought. Letters introduced did show that the sugar men had been dissatisfied with their efforts to have their "interviews" carried by the Associated Press.

Austin and a sergeant-at-arms of the Senate brought a big box of the telegrams and letters to the committee room this afternoon. The committee suspended the examination of witnesses and Chairman Overman, Senators Reed and Walsh began reading them into the record.

Two telegrams were exchanged between Hamlin, Senator Clark and Truman G. Palmer. The first of these, given out by Palmer after the committee adjourned tonight, read:

"Senate sergeant-at-arms has required Austin to produce box said to contain your private and business papers. Have talked with your uncle and we suggest you should wire retaining attorney to protect your rights under Fourth Amendment to the Constitution until you arrive."

Hamlin's telegram in reply sent to his uncle, Senator Clark, was given to the committee. It said:

"Have wire from Palmer suggesting retain attorney to prevent delivery of my papers to committee. Austin, on whom service is made, may have some of my private correspondence or papers but so far as I remember there is nothing among them which I would object to being made public."

Hamlin added that he would hire Washington attorneys if Senator Clark thought it advisable.

The correspondence covered much of 1911 and the early part of 1912, when the Underwood free sugar bill was introduced in the House. The letters produced indicated that Hamlin had made contracts with "news plate" concerns that furnish matter to smaller papers and had urged beet sugar men in different parts of the country to attempt to secure publicity in their own localities and through news agencies. Included in the mass of correspondence were letters from Aaron Gove, which showed that he made an extensive tour for the same purpose.

ONE LETTER.

One letter from the Hamlin file written from Washington on December 2, 1911, to Charles B. Warren, president of the Michigan Sugar Company, said in part:

"Visited one big town each day of my trip and invariably succeeded in getting our story in at least one of the leading papers. Of course some handled it more satisfactorily than others, but generally speaking, they all did well."

The writer enumerated nearly a dozen large papers in the Middle West in which he said he had succeeded in getting "our story printed."

The value of publicity was emphasized further in another letter written at Fargo, N. D., by Gove to Hamlin in Washington. It referred to an interview that had gone out which was designated as the "Arbuckle interview," and Gove urged the use of "patent inside" to reach the country readers.

"Many farmers read those patent insides," he said. "When I looked it up I found that a stick of stuff every week was not exorbitant in price, and it sure enough does get before the voters little by little and eats in."

Another of the Gove letters signed and dated August 4, 1911, gave some light on the efforts of the beet sugar forces while the Hardwick committee of the House was investigating the so-called "sugar trust." Mr. Gove said it would require some skill to itemize his expense account so it could be checked up by an auditing board.

"We have had an interesting time," the letter continued. "Palmer is before the committee on his third day today. He is doing well. H. T. entertained them in New York with, I learn, good effect. The Hardwick committee report will reach over to December and will be less harmful than I hoped."

Members of the committee asked who "H. T." was.

"I suppose it was Mr. Oxnard," said Senator Reed.

Mr. Oxnard's initials are "H. T."

The letter added:

"Bristow insists that he will yet get in his sugar amendment. Of course it would likely end with the veto of the Executive, but I don't forget that it's only four months to the session when something will be doing in earnest. I have had some very encouraging interviews as to next winter, but the issue promises to be warmly contested. Senators like Borah insist that they want to be shown. He used these words to me this morning."

LOS ANGELES MAN.

A copy of a letter purporting to have been written by Hamlin to J. Ross Clark of Los Angeles and dated Washington, Jan. 18, 1912, said in part:

"Mr. Case had another conference with Senator Works yesterday and is satisfied that he will do all he can for us."

Replying to that letter, Clark wrote Jan. 24, 1912, to Mr. Hamlin:

"I am glad Mr. Case had a talk with Senator Works. I feel quite sure that he will have to keep in line."

A letter to C. B. Warren, president of the Michigan Sugar Company, dated Feb. 1, 1912, and apparently from Hamlin, said:

"Mr. Pickett from Iowa, who is classed as an insurgent, will make one of the principal speeches in opposition to any sugar measure that may be brought in. OLLIE JAMES FOR FREE MEAT.

Kentucky Senator Opposes Countervailing Duty.

Wants to Carry Fight to the Democratic Caucus.

Tax on Bananas to Raise Two Millions Annually.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Senator Ollie James of Kentucky, who made the sugar-tariff speech in the Senate defending the stand of President Wilson, has taken a vigorous position in the Finance Committee against the imposition of a countervailing duty on meat and cattle, and announced today that he would carry the fight to the Democratic Senatorial caucus if he failed to swing the committee into line.

When the majority members of the Finance Committee resumed consideration of the proposed countervailing duties on agricultural products, Senator James emphatically declared that the public was entitled to unrestricted free cattle and meat. Final action on the matter was deferred.

IN SESSION LATE.

The majority members of the committee were in session until late tonight to hasten work on the tariff bill and practically completed the sundries schedule. Remaining for consideration are the income tax and administrative features of the bill which the committee will try to conclude by Thursday night. Chairman Simmons is planning to get the bill into the Senate by a week from Monday if possible.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, whose amendment to the tariff bill levying a graduated tax on the tobacco output, was rejected by his colleagues on the Finance Committee, gave notice in the Senate that he would carry that amendment to the caucus and make a determined fight for its incorporation in the bill.

TO TAX CORPORATIONS.

He also introduced an amendment providing for a graduated income tax upon all corporations having a capital stock or assets of $100,000,000 and controlling more than one-fourth of the production of any commodity. This, he said, he also would urge in the caucus.

The action of the Finance majority in putting a tax on bananas yesterday was explained by Chairman Simmons today as a revenue proposition.

"We have placed a tariff of 5 cents a bunch on bananas," said he, "for the purpose of raising revenue, and also for the reason that the banana trade is absolutely controlled by a trust. The idea was not to protect or encourage any banana industry in this country, because there is none. We estimate that the annual revenue to be derived from bananas at 5 cents a bunch will aggregate $2,000,000, and the small duty of 5 cents a bunch cannot very well be shifted to the consumer."

Chicagoan in Financial Straits in London Found Mentally Incompetent by Coroner's Jury.

LONDON, June 17.—"Suicide while temporarily insane," was the verdict of the Coroner's jury today at Westminster on Mrs. Viola McKenna Hudson of Chicago, who was found dead from asphyxiation by gas in her flat near Victoria station Sunday.

The evidence indicated that she was in financial straits. She borrowed some cash on Saturday last in order to cable to the Northern Trust Company in Chicago for money. She left a will scribbled on an envelope, bequeathing £1000 to one Oxford undergraduate named George Herbert and another £1000 to Bertha Belle Ferguson of New York, and the remainder to "my beloved daughter, Viola Hudson, Chicago."

There Is a Real Fascination in Wearing A Good Corset

ONE can see the dress, but can only feel the corset and it makes the figure. Let us show you the new Redfern — you no doubt have heard of them and thought perhaps that you could not afford a pair from this make. You can— they cost from $3.50 only to $15.00 per pair, and are actually better than the "custom-made" garments that cost twice as much—the long skirts are flexibly boned—stripped into a wonderfully strong, pliant fabric—almost chiffon cloth in weave—so exquisite a quality, fitting snugly, and most comfortably.

FIANCE'S FAMILY SAYS YOUTH NEVER EARNED A CENT.

Brother Declares He Had Been Supporting Him for Long Time and Young Halliwell Was in Sanatorium When He Met ex-Wife of New York Novelist.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The engagement of Mrs. Meta Sinclair, the sensationally-divorced wife of Upton Sinclair, the novelist, and Hubert Halliwell of Poughkeepsie, is an event of no immediate concern to the family of young Halliwell, according to George Halliwell, his brother, who stated today that the reported betrothal was a complete surprise to the family of the bridegroom-elect. It was said that Halliwell had not been at home for weeks and that his income long since was exhausted.

"This is very likely another sensational act of my always sensational brother. He has no income now and he never earned a cent, but for that reason might make a good husband for some poetic soul," said his brother.

"But just where my brother is now, I do not care to state. He was at Dr. Sahler's Sanatorium in Kingston. I understand Mrs. Sinclair went there after she quarrelled with Harry Kemp, the Kansas poet. I am supporting Hubert, who, you may say, is resting."

Can I Make a Living in Los Angeles?

Attend Little Landers' Lecture Tonight at House of Little Landers and You May Find Answer to This Question.

Do we need more professional men, more merchants, more workingmen and more people in every walk of city life?

That is an interesting question.

William E. Smythe says: "Hundreds of thousands of industrious men and women may make a living—a sure living and a free living—within twenty miles of the courthouse if they go at it in the right way.

"A better living than half the citizens of the United States are making today.

"And enjoy what will yield every worthy satisfaction within reach of the millionaire."

No more interesting lecture has been given in Los Angeles in many a day than the one you may hear tonight, with stereopticon views of how a little land is made to yield a living and build a competency at the mother colony of San Ysidro, near San Diego, of how the colony's own auto trucks collect the Little Landers' produce and takes it to the colony's own store in the business heart of San Diego, and of how the same ideas and plans are being carried out by the Little Landers of Los Angeles. The new colony near Los Angeles is in the Vale of Monte Vista, 16 miles from the center of this city, and at an elevation of 2000 feet above sea level.

COME TO THE LECTURE AT 8 O'CLOCK THIS EVENING and keep in touch with the progress of the work. Lectures are held on Tuesday and Thursday at 2:30 p.m., also on Wednesday and Friday at 8 o'clock, House of the Little Landers, 329 South Figueroa street, Los Angeles.

SIX MILITANTS TO HARD LABOR

Threaten Hunger Strike When Sentenced.

Time for Leniency Past, Dictum of Judge.

Not Likely to Be Freed, Assures Prisoners.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, June 17.—Six of the most prominent leaders of the militant suffragettes' organization and one of their male supporters were today found guilty at the Central Criminal Court of conspiracy to commit malicious damage to property. The trial has lasted several days.

The women were [illegible] Women's Social and Political Union, while the man was Edwin Clayton, an analytical chemist.

The jury handed in a recommendation for mercy in the case of Miss Lake, Miss Lennox and Miss [illegible].

The sentences imposed on the militant suffragettes were:

Miss Annie Kenney, [illegible] months; Mrs. Beatrice Sanders, [illegible] teen months; Miss Harriet [illegible] twelve months; Miss Rachel [illegible] nine months; Miss Agnes Lake [illegible] Miss Laura Lennox, six months; Edwin Clayton, twenty-one months.

All the prisoners were committed to the Third Division, which means hard labor.

Each defendant was ordered to pay one-seventh of the costs of the prosecution, and was bound over to keep the peace for a year after the period of imprisonment.

FOR HUNGER STRIKE.

With the exception of Mrs. Sanders, all the women loudly proclaimed their intention of going on a "hunger strike."

Prior to passing sentence the judge said that doubtless the prisoners sincerely believed that by their lawless conduct they were forwarding a good cause.

"Some of you must be reminded," he continued. "If you are sane you must believe in a moral government of the universe. I commend to you the statement of a modern writer—a woman, I believe—who characterized the belief that the end justifies the means as 'treason against the Almighty.'"

Whatever the motives of the prisoners, Judge Phillimore said, he must treat them as persons who had committed a very serious injury to public property and must be restrained from doing further mischief and made to some extent an example to others.

HINTS AT NO LENIENCY.

After passing sentence [illegible] "One of the counsel has [illegible] that the time for leniency has passed, and I do not think that you will [illegible] with quite the same treatment as the others. I am bound to add that if the Home Secretary consults me, as he often consults a judge, I shall [illegible] upon myself the responsibility of saying to him that the [illegible] you, at any rate, should not be let out of prison under any circumstances."

"Then we shall die together," exclaimed Miss Kenney.

The judge: If you, in the [illegible] our great poet, violate the [illegible] canon the Everlasting has [illegible] against self-slaughter you will have to reconcile such action with your conscience.

Miss Kenney: I am quite prepared to do that.

Miss Barrett, excitedly: We will all hunger strike.

Mrs. Saunders: Mr. McKenna will not keep me in prison against my will.

Miss Kenney: They have not the right to [illegible] me out or kill me. I think [illegible] coming up was most biased and unfair. You ought to be ashamed of yourself to receive six thousand pounds a year for hounding women.

Unsuccessful.

START FIGHT ON LONE RATES.

Opening Left by Supreme Court Decisions.

May Begin New Proceedings in Several States.

Question of Confiscation Is Also Involved.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The rate decisions which marked the session of the Supreme Court yesterday are regarded by some as merely the beginning of a fight by railroads against low rates.

In each case where a railroad tried to sustain its claim that the rates were confiscatory the Supreme Court specifically preserved the right of the road to begin new proceedings. This was true as to two cases in Minnesota, twelve in Mississippi and two in Arkansas, where Justice Hughes said the data on which the claim of confiscation was based was too general. Whether any road will collect data before the Interstate Commerce Commission concludes its valuation of all the railroad property in the United States, sufficiently complete to satisfy the court that its valuations have been arrived at is a new question. Justice Hughes made it clear that the court will not consider generalizations or opinions as to valuations and assessments.

It has been estimated that the Interstate Commerce Commission will complete its valuation within five years. In the meanwhile it is regarded as certain that some railroads will seek to convince the court that they have accurate figures to show a confiscation.

ORIENT RAILROAD.

Application for Final Decree Is Made Before Federal Judge in Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) June 17.—Application for a final decree in the receivership of the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railway to make possible sale of the railway was filed before Judge Pollock, in the Federal Court in Kansas City, Kan., by lawyers for the United States and the Central Trust Company and the receivers of the road.

About $24,000,000 of bonds are outstanding. It was expected the road would be sold to the highest bidder. The company to buy the Orient has been in the process of reorganization for several weeks and the application was expected to hasten matters. Judge Pollock appointed receivers for the Orient road last year.

At the time the Orient went into the hands of receivers, [illegible] was [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Most Men Who Have the Opportunity of Buying Something for a Song Soon Find They Can't Sing!

That is the reason why you never hear of this store advertising any kind of sales. We don't pretend to sell you a suit below cost or for less than it is worth. But we DO save you ten real dollars in hard cash when you take the elevator to this SECOND FLOOR store.

We claim and we can prove that it IS possible to sell you the right sort of a suit for $15.00. We have convinced more than 45,000 men that the suit we sell them at $15 would cost them at least $25 in most stores. There is nothing strange or unreasonable about our ability to do this—we don't ask you to swallow a lot of questionable reasons as to why we give such values. It's a plain question in arithmetic to which any one can find the answer. Add low rent, small running expenses and the profits derived from purchasing more suits than any other store in the city. The answer is the all-wool, guaranteed, hand-tailored, perfect fitting suits we sell you at $15. Compare our suits with those of any other store at $10 higher—compare fabric, color, pattern, style and workmanship. You will then convince yourself that you really get the values we claim at a real saving of $10 in price.

President Moffett of the National Association in Annual Address Declares They Are too Low.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.) June 17.—Closer organization and the consideration of effective methods of promoting the business interests of the members, with possibly the establishment of an advertising agency, were urged by A. D. Moffett of Elwood, Ind., president of the National Press Association of America, at the opening session of the twenty-eighth annual convention of the association here today.

"Changed and changing conditions have created a demand for something more than mere association," said President Moffett. "The low rates paid for advertising by the middlemen and the large profits made through it is well known. There is a growing and persistent belief among our members that an agency for the handling of foreign advertising should be established."

First Time in Ten Years, That University of Wisconsin Selects Woman for Commencement Orator.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MADISON (Wis.) June 17.—For the first time in ten years, a young woman was chosen to represent the outgoing class as commencement orator at the University of Wisconsin which today sent forth its sixtieth class. Belle Fligelman, Helena, Mont., recently voted five most prominent "co-ed" in the university, was the young woman so honored.

In her commencement oration Miss Fligelman presented a plea for a better interpretation of the word "freedom."

Wife of Contractor Is Victim When She Opens It and Her Sister-in-Law Is Mortally Wounded—Only Clew Is Paper Containing Message in French.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHERBROOKE (Quebec) June 17.—An infernal machine sent by mail killed Mrs. Theodore Bilodeau today and mortally wounded Miss Bilodeau, her sister-in-law. The house was wrecked.

The package arrived in the mail about noon and the two women were bending over it, untying the strings, when it exploded. The police have no clew to the senders. Mrs. Bilodeau was the wife of a contractor. A search of the room revealed pieces of a letter which had evidently been inside the package containing the bomb. The writing on these pieces is in French.

ST. GAUDENS'S CHILD DIES.

Two-Year-Old Grandson of Late Sculptor Swallows Poison Tablet by Mistake.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CORNISH (N. H.) June 17.—Harold St. Gaudens, 2-year-old grandson of the late Augustus St. Gaudens, the famous sculptor, is dead at the St. Gaudens summer home, as a result of swallowing a poison tablet which he found in a bureau drawer. Although the child died last Friday the facts did not become public until today, when preparations were made for burial.

Today's Beauty Recipes

By Mme. D'Mille.

"Dry or powder shampoos may be all right at long intervals, but needless to say they do not remove the dandruff scales which, when permitted to remain on the scalp, cause faded, brittle and falling hair. If you want beautiful, luxuriant and glossy hair use a shampoo that directly attacks the dandruff parasites. Mother's Shampoo does this. It leaves the scalp clean and refreshed and the hair soft, fluffy and lustrous.

"An actress friend of mine, whose beautiful complexion is envied by all who see her, never uses face cream or powder when off the stage. A simple face lotion, made by mixing an original package of mayatone with a half-pint of witch hazel, applied daily with the palm of the hand to face, neck and forearms, keeps her skin smooth, white, soft and lovely. Mayatone protects against freckles or sunburn, and it prevents the growth of hair.

"Cutting wild hairs merely encourages their growth. To remove superfluous hair, make a paste with a little water and powdered delatone, cover the hairs for two minutes, then remove and wash the skin.—[Advertisement.

News From The Times School of Domestic Science

Conducted by Mrs. Bertha Haffner-Ginger

Cooking as a Fine Art.

FOR WOMEN HOMEKEEPERS.

FASCINATING TASK ON A FASCINATING ART.

Open House and Free Lessons Three Days in the Week, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, in Afternoons, Second Floor New "Times" Building.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Like any triumphant hostess the Globe Flour Mills must be sighing contentedly today. The Times excursion therete yesterday proved an unqualified success and everything was quite charming. Two hundred eager housewives in gala attire assembled at the Times Building and the special cars provided by the mills duly appeared to convey them to their destination. A photograph with the Times Building for a becoming background opened proceedings and the smile we donned for the photographer remained fixed until the end of the day.

As Mrs. Haffner-Ginger had promised a bevy of good-looking, knightly young men clothed in immaculate attire, smiles, and much patience, awaited the onslaught of the ladies and Mrs. Haffner-Ginger's delighted guests did not hesitate to show and voice their entire approval in the most manner. We had no idea there were so many nice young men in California outside of musical comedy.

AT THE MILLS.

It certainly was a most interesting experience to see the whole wonderful process which goes to make Globe Mills A-1 Flour. They divided us into two parties of 100 and while half the contingent overran the warehouse the other half inspected the milling process. Picturesque millers in clean white suits and hats were dotted about artistically on every floor of the mills and the young men, who proved to be brilliant conversationalists, laden with technical knowledge on all the thrilling processes of grain metamorphosis, accompanied little parties of enthused housewives through the amazing scene.

We saw a perfect maze of snow-white pipes and tubes on every floor through which the flour passes up and down in every stage of its process, from the coarse newly culled wheat to the fine pastry flour as it comes to us.

Fascinating machinery with thousands of busy little wheels all looking frightfully important, queer looking white boxes with little glass windows through which one watches busy miniature snow storms taking place, great bins frantic with energy, slides, shoots and shakers—the place just hums with concerted movement. One floor is devoted to huge boxes suspended from the ceiling and kept in such frantic motion that we all felt we had started out on a very rough sea voyage without making our wills.

Other great engines are devoted to the removal of the last particle of dust from the flour and it makes one feel quite creepy to see how those huge suction tubes can distinguish between dust and flour and separate them with unerring instinct. But they do—one watches the process with fascinated gaze and marvels at human ingenuity. It also makes one pause. How much dust must our poor darling forefathers have devoured in the pre-Globe Mills days?

And so we saw it sifted and sifted into unadulterated and glowing purity. Then we passed on to the warehouse and watched the fascinating process by which the bags are filled and sewn up. You never saw such humanly intelligent machines in all your life. A mere man hands them the sacks, but after that the machine fills it, gauges the exact weight to the fraction of an ounce, and pauses silently while the man removes the filled sack. It is then sewn—and many of us realized with vivid enlightenment, just why we have often struggled in vain to rip open a flour sack in a hurry with a finger.

IN THE WAREHOUSE.

The warehouse where these thousands of sacks are stored and removed daily—for the grain is sold as fast as it is milled—present another interesting picture. Oh, what a jolly place for rats! A rodent's heaven. They could feast to their tummies content off a comprehensive menu of corn meal, cracked wheat, farina, graham flour, bran, hominy, cake flour, pastry flour, self-raising flour, rolled oats, rye flour, whole wheat flour, and steel cut oats.

One of the nice young men found himself at the mercy of a lady who had come well grounded with technical knowledge and their conversational display anent "shorts" and such like mysteries impressed us tremendously.

The start of "The Times" Cooking School excursion to the Globe Flour Mills yesterday. "Times" building in background.

The perilous attenuated elevators which carried the millers from floor to floor without any sort of support beyond a little shelf big enough for two smallish feet, gave us all the thrills of an acrobatic performance.

NOT ALL IN WHITE.

I do really think we should all have dressed in white. It would have been emblematical of the unsullied purity of womanhood in which we all specialized, besides being more harmonious with the flour. As it was many of us wore dark clothes and the unsullied purity was laid on in spots only. Still, the nice young men brushed us down carefully afterward, so it was worth it.

The luncheon was the supreme event of the day, of course. And our hosts had prepared it all themselves. Like the truly hospitable souls they were they had dodged none of the tribulations of the olives not arriving till the last minute, the cream playing hide and seek round the next street, and all those other cares we housewives understand so well. But their courage was rewarded and we certainly sat down to a repast beyond criticism and fit for royalty. When one considers they were catering for a company of experts you will gauge that a high standard was achieved.

In addition to a really stylish luncheon served in the warehouse among the flour sacks, each visitor was presented with a sack of flour, a book or recipes, a game of dominoes and a canary whistle for the baby. This last touch of domesticity and maternal sentiment put the artistic finishing touch to a thoroughly delightful day. I tried the canary whistle myself and I feel that another joy has been added to life.

A particularly delectable carbonated grape juice was served at the luncheon as a pretty finale, while Mrs. Haffner-Ginger, the clever lady-cook, and Mr. Kelly, the genial manager of the mills, made attractive and complimentary speeches about each other, The Times, the visitors and the nice young men. Then a lady rose to propose three cheers for The Times, the mills and Mrs. Haffner-Ginger, which received a ringing response, and so ended a most successful trip.

WITH HER APRON.

I must not forget to mention the dear old lady who came in her sneezy-white apron—the only one of us who was really suitably clad. It was a lovely apron, large, useful, comfortable and beautifully embroidered, and it covered a brown skirt from the waist all round, which made many of us sigh for the days that are no more. We were not at all sure that our skinny affairs were an improvement.

TODAY.

This afternoon Mrs. Haffner will lecture and demonstrate on canning and jelly preserving. It will be advisable to come to the Times Building very early for it is going to be a crowded day. Proceedings commence at 2:30 o'clock on the second floor and Mrs. Ginger has many new and improved methods to show.

REGARDLESS

of the quality of the soil, irrigation is the keystone to successful and profitable farming. Our concrete canal gravity irrigation system supplies you with an abundance of irrigation water the whole year through. In this dry year some projects which heretofore have had plenty of water, are literally without, others are struggling along with half of their needed supply, while the Patterson Irrigated Farms have at all times more than they can use.

WHY

we hold from the government both Riparian and Appropriated water rights on the San Joaquin River, by the virtue of which we are entitled to one-half of the water that flows in this river, a record not possibly consume one-thousandth part of what we are actually entitled to. The value of the water to our land is conservatively estimated at $12,000,000.

We sell land with irrigation water. Ask other projects if the railroad commissioners will let them do that.

THE KEYSTONE

has been outlined. Now let us explain the other advantages of the Patterson Irrigated Farms.

SOIL.

40 to 60 feet deep. Absolutely no hardpan or alkali.

of 18-foot slope to the mile makes irrigation a pleasure and sour water logged land an impossibility.

CLIMATE

healthy, moderate, even climate with a long growing season.

PRODUCTION

HIRAM DOUBLE CROSSES CONFIDING LAWMAKERS.

Machine Obtains Their Votes by Passing Pet Appropriations Now Ditched by the Governor—Johnson Juggles Figures to Make It Appear that the Revenues Will Exceed Expenditures Authorized by Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As predicted, Gov. Johnson gave the double cross to many a trustful legislator, whose appropriation bills were allowed to slide through the Legislature by mandate of the machine, to get votes for the administration measures. No effort was made to keep within the estimated revenues, and, the votes safely delivered, Johnson calmly applied the chloroform.

He cut nearly half a million out of the general appropriation bill, from which $414,260 were topped. This helped him out in his big task with the special appropriations, which were about twice the estimated revenue. This leaves $12,998,640 in the general appropriation measure. So far the figures agree.

The Governor gave out a statement today which purports to show that he kept within the estimated revenue. To make such a showing, however, he has juggled with the facts.

According to his statement he refused to sign special appropriation bills amounting to $4,495,538, and signed special appropriations amounting to $4,857,968, the total appropriations approved being $17,857,968.

And he asserts that the total revenue available will exceed the appropriations by $102,321. He conveniently figures that the refund to counties, a special appropriation, should not be counted. Nor does he count the $685,000 appropriated for premiums on the sale of bonds, a "revolving fund" being supposed to excuse his omission of it from the list.

As a matter of facts and figures Gov. Johnson has signed appropriation bills aggregating an expenditure of $20,321,310.77, which, according to Comptroller Nye's estimate of the revenue for the coming two years, will result in the overappropriation of $2,421,319.77. If Nye's estimate is substantially correct, there are but two methods by which the appropriations can be met. One is by paying the claims from the surplus in the State Treasury and the other is through the medium of an ad valorem tax on the people.

EXCEEDS REVENUE.

Comptroller Nye has estimated that the State revenue for the next two years will be approximately $20,804,000. The general appropriation bill signed by the Governor totaled $12,999,640. Special appropriations approved aggregated $7,321,670.78, including the appropriation of $1,400,000 as bond refunds to counties, made necessary by the adoption of the separation taxation amendment. State aid to the elementary and high schools and the universities, automatically appropriated under existing laws, is estimated as $11,700,000 for the two-year period.

The combined total of the general and special appropriations signed and the educational expenditure is $32,021,319.78, or $2,421,319.17 in excess of what the State's income is estimated to be for the coming two years.

Legislative appropriations approved by the Governor for the 1911 session aggregated a grand total of $14,524,004.66 or $5,777,315.12 less than the grand total of appropriations just signed by the Governor. The average percentage increase under Governors preceding Johnson has been 20.7 per cent. The increase this year over two years ago, when Johnson first went into office, is approximately 27 per cent.

It was announced from the Governor's office shortly after the Legislature adjourned that it would be necessary to "prune down" the total of special appropriations in order to come within the estimated revenue for the coming biennial period. It was also promised this would be done. The coming two years it will cost between five and six million dollars more to operate the State government than ever before in the history of the State.

CUTS ROAD APPROPRIATIONS.

Practically all of the road appropriation bills were refused approval. It was largely through this failure to sign many of those measures that the Governor was able to keep down the enormous expenditures proposed. Less than $200,000 for State road construction and improvement received gubernatorial indorsement. The Governor declared that the $18,000,000 highway bond issue was all that the administration cared to invest in good roads or any kind of highway work.

Opponents of the administration declare that the five million dollars in special appropriations which were refused approval by the Governor, represents indirectly what it cost the administration to get enough votes to put through the "Ten Commandments" and other Bull Moose measures. When some of the less loyal Progressive members of the Senate and Assembly were inclined to berate the administration leaders for not recognizing them in the way of appropriations and threatened to halt the Armageddon programme, it is said, the word was given to pass all appropriation bills and swing the wayward lawmakers into line. Through the Sutherland bill approved by the Governor which repeals the corporation license tax the State will lose approximately $850,000 annually. This loss of revenue, it is expected, will be made up through the increased revenue that it will result from an increase in the inheritance tax rates and on the new annual tax for automobiles and motorcycles.

The stereotyped reply to disappointed legislators who called at the Governor's office today for an explanation of the double-cross, was "lack of funds made it necessary for the Governor to refuse his approval to your bill."

APPROPRIATIONS SIGNED.

Among the larger of the special appropriations which got through were:

Free text-books, which will require an outlay of $500,000.

For the enforcement of the workmen's compensation act, $385,000.

Rectification and improvement of rivers, $450,000.

Construction of a training school for wayward girls, $200,000.

For the maintenance of a civil service commission, $50,000.

For the construction of a new hospital for the insane in Southern California to relieve the present congestion, $250,000.

TEACHERS' PENSIONS.

One of the last bills signed and which reached the office of the Secretary of State was the Ryan-Boynton teachers' pension bill. The bill provides a flat pension of $500 per year for all superannuated teachers who have taught school for thirty years, at least fifteen of which shall have been in the schools of California.

Funds come from the inheritance taxes and from the pension funds paid in by teachers at the rate of $1 per month and from gifts and legacies for the purpose.

In counting the actual experience of teachers to come within the act absence or leave of absence of school years and half school years shall not be counted, and in reckoning the time of service the night school term shall be counted as equivalent to the day school term. The act shall be binding on all school teachers in California employed in the schools who on or before January 1, 1914, serve notice on the Superintendent of Public Instruction or the County Superintendent of Schools that they agree to be bound by the act.

But it seems that they and the mothers' pensions are to be only the beginning of the State pension programme.

ANOTHER COMMISSION.

Assembly bill No. 1550, by Farwell, is signed by the Governor. It authorises him to appoint a commission of five, one of whom shall be a member of the State Board of Control, to investigate and consider the various systems of old age, insurance, old-age pensions, mothers' pensions and mothers' compensations now in use in other States and in foreign countries.

It is required that the commission make a full report of the investigations and recommend for adoption by the Legislature bills of its own relating to the subject.

INHERITANCE TAX.

The Gates inheritance tax bill also was signed. The measure creates an inheritance tax department with headquarters in Sacramento and branch offices for two assistant inheritance tax attorneys, in the city of Los Angeles and in San Francisco. The State inheritance tax attorney will have headquarters in the Capital as now, and will work with the State Comptroller in enforcing the State inheritance tax laws, which fix the percentages to be collected by the State from estates of those who die in California.

RADICAL CHANGES.

Radical changes in the administration of the prisons is provided for in other bills approved. The straight jacket, shower bath and other punishments are forbidden. Parole is made easier. First-termers may be let loose after one year, second-termers after two years and life-termers after seven years. Grades and classes are provided for convicts, only the incorrigibles to wear stripes. Assembly bill No. 274, by Farwell, provides:

"Any person who knowingly and wilfully communicates to another, either orally or in writing, any statement concerning any person then or thereafter convicted of a felony, and then either on parole or finally discharged, and which communication is made with the purpose and intent to deprive said person so convicted of employment, or to prevent him from procuring the same, or with the purpose to extort from him any money or article of value is guilty of a misdemeanor."

HE REPUDIATES INVESTIGATORS.

NO FOUNDATION FOR SUIT, SAYS CITY ATTORNEY.

Charge that Purchaser of Owens River Valley Lands Used Irregular Methods Declared Without Legal Basis, Despite Report of the Aqueduct Investigating Commission.

City Attorney Shenk reported to the City Council yesterday his conclusions relative to the purchase by the city from Fred Eaton of certain properties in the Owens River Valley during 1905. A demand was made on the Council that action be brought against Eaton to recover lands alleged to have been held or obtained by him in an irregular manner and from which the city should profit. This charge was based on the report of the Los Angeles Aqueduct Investigating Commission.

Shenk reported that in his opinion there is no foundation for instituting legal proceedings against Eaton. He summarizes his review of the case and says:

I am unable to concur in the conclusions of the Investigation Board, or of its specially-employed attorney, for the following reasons:

(1.) Because the undisputed testimony before the Investigation Board was to the effect that the lands lying north of the north line of Township ten were included in Mr. Eaton's proposal by mistake, and that "the original understanding between Mr. Eaton and the Board of Water Commissioners was that he was to transfer to the city such of the lands as he acquired from Mr. Rickey as lay south of Township 9;

(2.) Because, by the action of the Water Board of May 22, 1905, accepting the offer of Mr. Eaton, it was expressly required that the contract with Mr. Eaton provided that he assign and transfer to the board all options and contracts held by him for the purchase of lands south of the north line of Township 10. The transaction was subsequently closed in accordance with this official acceptance by said board;

(3.) Because of the resolution of the Water Board of January 4, 1909, reciting at length the facts in the case and declaring that the inclusion of the lands in Township 9 in Mr. Eaton's proposal and contract, was erroneous and improper, and that the city had no right or interest in said lands by reason of such inclusion, and authorizing the filing of a disclaimer in any proper suit brought against the city to quiet the title to said property in Township 9;

(4.) Because, pursuant to the resolution last mentioned, a decree in the Superior Court of Inyo County was entered against the city quieting the title of the owner of said land as against the city, which decree became final in 1909;

(5.) Because the undisputed testimony of every city official familiar with the transaction leading up to and including the purchase of the property from Mr. Eaton shows not only that there was no understanding or agreement that Mr. Eaton was acting as agent or trustee for the city in the purchase of said lands, but also that there was an absolute lack of authority on the part of any one to enter into such an agreement or agreement with Mr. Eaton at the time in question. Neither the records of the Water Department nor of any other department of the city show any authorization to Mr. Eaton to act as agent of the city prior to or at the time of the execution of the contract of June 6, 1905; and there is no evidence or circumstance indicating that any city official ever pretended or assumed to have authority to employ Mr. Eaton for that purpose; and,

(6.) Because the evidence shows that Mr. Eaton was not authorized to act as agent for the city in purchasing aqueduct lands except under agreements entered into with him after the contract of June 6, 1905, was executed.

I am therefore of the opinion that Mr. Eaton, in securing the options and contracts in question, was acting solely on his own responsibility and independently of the city, and that there is no foundation for instituting legal proceedings against Mr. Eaton and others, as recommended by the Aqueduct Investigation Board, and you are so advised.

Dispatchers' Plan.

TO ELIMINATE CHANCE IN HANDLING TRAINS.

CHANCE will be eliminated as a factor in train operation and the safeguarding of human lives reduced to near-mechanical perfection by three changes in train-handling rules which are certain of approval today by the Train Dispatchers' Association of America and of eventual adoption by railroads the country over.

In brief they are: The elimination of the "thirty-one order;" the establishment of absolute meeting points for trains, and a complete change in the "display signal" system. These changes will be proposed to the association by the Train Rules Committee, of which J. E. Scott of Cleburne, Tex., a recognized authority on dispatching, is the chairman.

No more far-reaching change has ever been proposed in the train-dispatching system, according to association officers, than the one which will consign the "thirty-one" order to the abyss of oblivion. By its elimination, the "nineteen order"—known in railroad parlance as the "helping hand"—will be made standard, the operator will be eliminated as a party to train-handling, except as an automaton, thus making but two parties to an order, the dispatcher and the train crew. By this change, the possibility of misunderstanding, which has always lurked in the three-party system, will be reduced to a minimum. Moreover, all stops for signing orders will be done away with and the handling of trains thereby expedited.

AND NO FARTHER.

Hand-in-hand with this change goes the change by which "discretionary" meeting points, always a fruitful cause of wrecks, will become things of the past. In other words, the dispatcher will say, "Thus far shalt thou go and no farther," instead of giving a blanket order to meet a train within a certain time limit.

The new "display signal" system will make yellow markers standard for the first and intermediate sections of regular trains, with green as the marker of the last or "closing" section of "convoys." By this change the tendency to confusion which results from the present no-marker system for a leading section and green for following sections will no longer exist, even though different sections of two trains are intermingled.

So important are these three changes that the entire day will be given up to their discussion. In the evening the reception and grand ball will be held in the ballroom of the Alexandria.

Showing 1200 members, representing practically every division of every railroad in this country, Canada and Mexico, as well as a scattering of members in the island possessions and foreign countries, the annual report of President Kane was the feature of the opening business session yesterday. This report followed divine invocation by Rev. Baker P. Lee, rector of Christ Episcopal Church; an address of welcome by the Mayor, and of welcome to California by Rev. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

WOMEN GO SHOPPING.

While the delegates were in session the women visitors were taken on a shopping tour by the Ladies' Committee. Last evening the visitors were tendered a theater party by the Entertainment Committee.

Though the convention does not formally end until Sunday, the business session tomorrow will be the last. At this meeting officers for the new year and the 1914 meeting place will be chosen. That J. P. Finan, dispatcher for the Santa Fe at Needles, will be advanced from the vice-presidency to the presidency appears certain. It is also practically certain that Secretary J. F. Mackie will be re-elected for his seventeenth term. This leaves only the vice-presidency to be filled. St. Paul is apparently the favorite as the next meeting place.

The women visitors will take a trip to the beaches tomorrow afternoon as guests of the Pacific Electric.

Say the Police.

BOY MECHANIC BUILDS LARGE THEFT SYSTEM.

GEORGE HARI, organizer of boy burglars, a neatly dressed mechanic by day, and a receiver of stolen goods by night, was arrested when he returned from work last night for conducting a "fence" for stolen goods in the down-town district. Detectives give him credit for being the brains of the campaign of motorcycle and bicycle thefts that has harassed the city for months.

Boys of from 13 to 15 years were the Fagin tools that Hari used to scour the down-town district for available plunder of any kind. One housebreaking job is traced directly to his tutelage.

Beginning with one or two small boys Hari

WANTS A TON OF GOLD.

Woman Sues for Divorce and Only Asks a Half-Million Dollars' Financial Solace.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, June 16.—Five hundred thousand dollars, or about a ton of gold, is asked by Mrs. Mary A. Eastland of Coronado, until recently a society leader in San Francisco, as alimony in the divorce suit she has just filed here against Joseph Lander Eastland.

Mrs. Eastland took up her residence in Coronado last January after a two-years' European wedding tour.

In the divorce complaint Mrs. Eastland charges her husband with intemperance. In basing her claim for alimony the complaint alleges that she is destitute and without any means of support. She states that her husband receives an income of $5000 per month from the estate of his father and from business investments.

Mrs. Eastland left for the north last week. Before her departure she is reported to have said that her marriage spoiled a beautiful friendship that had existed for many years. The two attended school in Marin county and their marriage, which was a runaway match, was performed in Chicago.

BIG MEN MAY ENTER UNION.

Important Changes in Oil Company Expected.

Three Financiers Named for Directorate.

Presidency May Also Pass to Stewart's Son.

That probable changes in the personnel of the Union Oil Company contemplate the accession of J. C. Drake, E. J. Marshall and John S. Cravens to the directorate, and the resignation of Lyman Stewart as president and the advancement of W. L. Stewart to that office, is the information which comes from a well-informed source. The likelihood of such changes was reported in The Times a few weeks ago.

It was expected that some action would be taken in relation to these changes at the meeting of the directorate today. However, W. L. Stewart, vice-president, stated last night that the meeting had been postponed, and would not in all probability be held until next month. He said that there was no special business to come up at the present meeting.

Lyman Stewart is ill at his home, according to information received last night, while John Garrigues, treasurer of the Union, has left for the East. It is possible that the delay in the meeting may be partially due to these facts.

It has been generally reported for some time that certain persons have been suggested as fitted to act in the capacity of directors of the Union Oil Company, J. C. Drake having been mentioned several times in this connection. Drake is president of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank, and represents prominent financial interests of the city. He did not absolutely deny that he would become a director in the Union Oil Company last night, but said that it would be difficult for him to undertake such duties at present on account of his many other business enterprises.

E. J. Marshall, also mentioned as likely to become a director, is a member of Torrance, Marshall & Co., the local investment firm, which recently underwrote part of the Union Oil Company's debenture note issue. John S. Cravens is a wealthy financier of Pasadena.

The accession of such men as these to the directorate would undoubtedly strengthen the Union Oil Company in a very marked degree, because of the large financial interests which they represent. Just whose positions on the board they may fill cannot be definitely ascertained.

As is generally known, Lyman Stewart has expressed the wish of retiring from the presidency of the Union, although, heretofore, such a change was not contemplated until after the consummation of the General Petroleum deal for the control. W. L. Stewart's name has been suggested several times as the probable future president of the Union.

Just what effect such changes as those outlined would have on the future of the General Petroleum deal is problematical. It was predicted some time ago that an effort may be made to set aside the option which that concern holds although it is doubtful if such an attempt will succeed as long as payments are made. From present indications the General company shows no intention of relinquishing its rights on the control of the Union.

Who's Got It?

PETER HUSTLING FOR PAUL'S PAY.

ENDLESS LOAN CHAIN MAKING TROUBLE FOR CITY.

Council Lends Works Board Three Hundred Thousand and Board Loans It to Power Bureau—Now City Wants It Back, and More Loans Are on the Cards to Swing It.

All of yesterday afternoon and unabridged amount of language was expended by the Public Service Board in a discussion of the transfer to itself of the goods and chattels now in possession of the Board of Public Works. The finances involved in the transfer are so much so that nobody understood them, in spite of the fact that Edward Johnson, of the works board was there with the explanations.

The commission owes the City Council $300,000, which in turn it loaned to the Power Bureau. This little bagatelle is due and payable August 1 and the Council has intimated that it needs the money. Commissioner Wade contends that the commission needs it more than Council does and declared that he would see snow flying over the Temple Block before he would let go a dollar of it—so there.

There is approximately $162,000 in hand, but when all outstanding obligations are paid, it appears that will have shrunk to $26,000 less than nothing. It may be possible to dig up $100,000 to slip Council pretty soon on account, but $30,000 per month for four months is needed to keep the San Francisquito power work going and protect the machinery already on the ground pending a possible bond authorization. Today the Budget Committee of the Council is to be taken into the confidence of the commission and invited to extend the loan. A member with an inspiration suggested that if the money is repaid according to agreement, perhaps Council will loan it right back again.

Of the $600,000 previously advanced to the Power Bureau, $200,000 has been returned in material, labor and other transfers. There is about $100,000 in hand and this will be turned back to the commission July 1 and if there is no other way out of it will be paid back to the Council. The aqueduct department has about $50,000 and the water department about $30,000, in addition to the $162,000 against which there are a number of liabilities. There is an estimated salvage of $650,000, including $550,000 for the cement plant which the county may be able to buy next August. There has been an interchanging of funds and loans until it will take the "Man With a Hoe," to find out who is ahead. There is a tendency to "let George do it," the "George" in this instance being the new board which Mayor-elect Rose is expected to appoint.

On Nature's Stage.

WONDROUS PAGEANT HISTORIC, DRAMATIC.

Pomona College's Quarter-Centenary Spectacle of Past and Future, a Masterpiece of Beauty, Witnessed by Thousands — Over Four Hundred Performers Depict Progress of the City, Valley and Institution.

BY A. M. ROW.

IF POMONA COLLEGE, in the quarter-century of her struggles and triumphs had produced nothing greater as a motif for imperishably stamping upon the minds and hearts of the people the history of the charming valley and the marvelous progress from savagery to the ethereal heights of learning, than the magnificent pageant given yesterday, she had done well.

Beneath a faultless sky, in the delightful setting at the feet of the mountains, on nature's stage, just as it came down from the hand of Jove—just as it was in the beginning of time—and just as it served for the tepees of the Coahuillas before Claremont was, or the white man dreamed of the things he was to accomplish in twenty-five short years—in this incomparable setting the college pageant recorded its interpretation of history yesterday.

The stage was the same. The Greek Theater, the creation of man, with its steel and concrete, is merely a convenience for those who would look on at the play on the rostrum as God made it.

Man has made many efforts to produce a house in which the voice may be heard in all its richness and fullness, but his puny efforts are ridiculous as compared with the acoustics of this outdoor theater. Ellen Beach Yaw will never trill her marvelous song of the lark; Theresa Cogswell will never throw the wondrous richness of her voice, nor will Donatelli ever feel the pulsing notes of his trumpeters, more effectively than they were all heard yesterday on this wonder-piece of the Creator.

It was a masterpiece of beauty.

This historical pageant was given in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the college, and that it might be fitting and worthy the splendid institution, no expense was spared in the preparations to make it historically accurate. The Greek theater, seating 4200 persons, was completed but two days prior to the staging of the spectacular production, and no less than 4000 witnessed the initial performance yesterday afternoon and overflowed it last night. It was a dramatic presentation of the history of the college, of the city of Claremont and of the entire valley, and was given by over 400 performers, gathered from the ranks of the students and the people at large of the little city. They were all one yesterday, as they probably are any other day, but the college spirit held them with a firmer grip.

It was in two parts, that of the afternoon typifying the primitive life, the coming of the Spaniards, the staking-out of "Claremont the Beautiful," and the beginning of the orange industry.

Part II was given in the evening, beginning with the founding of the college, the introduction of water and electricity, the dedication of the library, the students' celebration and the final scene, "The Look to the Future," in which Ellen Beach Yaw appeared as "The Spirit of California," singing her wonderful triple-trill "Lark Song" and her song "California."

A more fitting introduction to the pagean could not have been devised than the appearance of Miss Theresa Cogswell as the herald. The programme stated that she would "read the prologue." Read it! She delivered it in voice and manner that any student in Pomona would give his prospective fortune to possess. It was with a vision by Maro Beath Jones, but it was ennobled by the interpretation of Theresa Cogswell.

The prologue solicited the attention of the gathered thousands that they might hear what may be accomplished when seed is sown by lofty purpose; and having heard, pass the spirit of it on to others.

The opening scene brings upon the stage, approaching from far back under the trees—a hundred yards or more—a band of Indians, naked as God made them but for a clout. First come three, Chief Kipah and two others, dying of thirst and finding the water-hole dry. The chief prays for rain and as the trio retire to their tents the clouds appear.

No one would care to undertake to depict the beauty of the coming of the cloud. Two-score handsome young women appear far back among the trees in loose violet-colored robes over which were tunics of smoke-colored gauze—producing the most ideal cloud color that one could imagine. Very slowly they approach in pose symbolizing the formation of the clouds, the intervening trees heightening the striking effect. Then they poise on one foot—a gathering of the clouds—while the slow music proceeds and when it finally breaks into a storm of melody the clouds rush forward through the trees like a veritable cyclone and dance "The Storm." They whirl and writhe and gyrate, until suddenly the rainbow appears—six girls in the colors of the rainbow from back among the trees just where the clouds came from, and the dance symbolized giving rain to the earth. As they all retired, the storm being over, the three Indians come from their tents, give praise to the rain god, fall down and drink from the water-hole and go in search of their tribe.

Pomona College's historical pageant.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the institution was celebrated yesterday with a spectacular pageant attended by 4000 persons. Above is a section of the crowd, with portrait of Theresa Cogswell; under it the Storm Dancers on the stage of the Greek Theater, and prayer pose of George Weinland, as the Indian chief, Kipah.

GUN BEHIND THE BARS.

Jailer Becomes Suspicious, Searches Prisoner Second time and Finds Secret Holster and Revolver.

Juan Martinez was behind the bars of the Central Police Station last night with a loaded revolver concealed in his trousers. After he had been searched and turned in as without arms, Jailer Romero's suspicions became aroused and he searched the man again, finding a large-caliber gun in a secret holster.

Martinez was wild from inhaling the fumes of the marajhama weed. He had been caught in a Japanese rooming-house, No. 1345 Ross street, taking whatever he fancied. Five Japanese women and five Japanese men wrestled him into exhaustion and tied him with seventy feet of clothes line.

On his way to the jail Martinez attempted to kill the guards. Fatalities were probably prevented by Romero's strange sense of danger that prompted him to search the man again.

FOR TWO MORE TUNNELS THROUGH BUNKER HILL.

OFFICIAL movement toward the construction of the First-street and Second-street tunnels is finally under way. The City Council yesterday adopted the recommendations of the special Tunnel Committee, composed of Councilmen McKenzie, Langdon and Whiffen. Under this recommendation, proceedings are to be started as speedily as possible to secure rights-of-way for portals for both tunnels.

When the report was formally presented, Councilman Reed objected on the ground that the City Engineer has not yet furnished sufficient estimates of the costs in necessary condemnation proceedings. Reed again advocated the middle-of-the-block tunnel, finally declaring that if this was set aside then only the Second-street tunnel should be considered now.

Councilmen Andrews and Betkouski also opposed the report on the ground that insufficient data as to costs had been furnished. These three members voted against adoption, but all others, with the exception of Councilman Langdon, who was absent on account of illness, voted for adoption. The result was greeted with applause from the lobby, filled with interested spectators.

The report adopted is as follows:

We of the special committee, appointed to consider and determine upon the most feasible location for the portals of the First-street and Second-street tunnels, respectfully recommend that the east portal of the First-street tunnel be placed at the east line of Hill street; that the tunnel approach be 40 feet in width; that a public driveway 18 feet in width be made on each side of the approach and that an 8-foot walk be constructed on both sides of First street between Broadway and Hill street.

This will require that easements or rights of way be obtained from adjoining property owners and will also require removing the fronts of all buildings between Hill and Broadway or supporting them on columns. We recommend that the west portal of said tunnel be placed 30 feet east of the east line of Figueroa street between Second street and Diamond street be lowered to conform to the tunnel grade; that the tracks of the the east line of Figueroa street; that a GREAT DECADE OF PROGRESS.

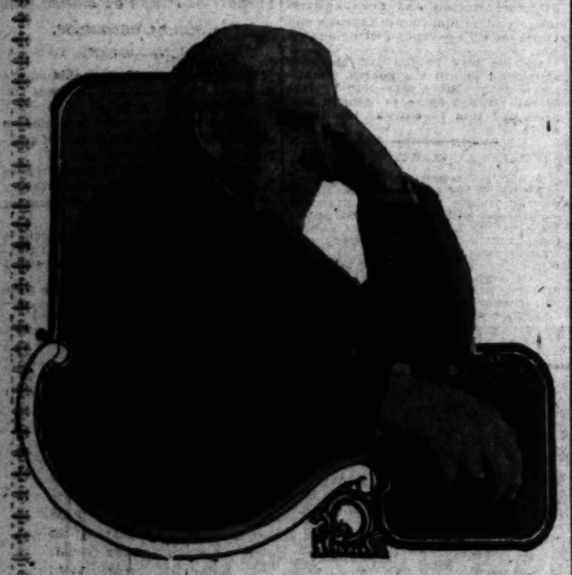
Bishop Conaty Here Just Ten Years Today.

Hard Work, Happiness and Achievement His.

Knights of Columbus Give Glad Reception.

Ten years of hard work, ten years of happiness, ten years of achievement, will come to a close at noon today and another decade will stretch



Bishop Thomas J. Conaty,

Whose tenth anniversary as head of the diocese of Monterey and Los Angeles was signalized by a brilliant reception tendered him by the Knights of Columbus last night.

out before Bishop Conaty of the Diocese of Monterey and Los Angeles. He celebrates his coming to this city, a community of wonderful possibilities, all of which he grasped and out of which he has developed one of the most flourishing church organizations in America.

Last night, the Knights of Columbus, his staunch supporters in the efforts of the past, received him with open arms, welcomed him as few men are welcomed by any organization. When he arrived at the temporary hall of the society in the Mozart Theater building, he was given a standing ovation lasting several minutes, and this was repeated several times before he left.

Officers of the organization spoke eloquently and feelingly of the love which the people of this community have for him, particularly the people who look upon him as their guide and superior, the parishioners of the many churches scattered up and down the Coast that are within his domain. They told of his arrival and his first efforts, of his success, and wished him many years more of life in the vineyard which has brought forth such wonderful fruit under his gardening.

THREE TO TWENTY-FOUR.

The bishop spoke of the advancement of the Catholic Church in Southern California. "When I arrived here, there were three churches in the city and today there are twenty-four," he said. "Coming from the East, looking over the situation, I saw many possibilities and when in one day, I established three parishes, there was some stir. The number of priests has increased from 101 to 229 in the past ten years and they are the pick of the seminaries of the East and represent seventeen nationalities."

He told of the coming of the Slavish, the Polish, the Armenian, Syrian and other missionaries and finally of a priest who for years labored in Japan and has been brought here to look after the wants of the Japanese Catholics. "When the Panama Canal opens, this diocese will be in readiness to receive the inpouring of emigrants from any part of the world and take care of their religious needs," he declared.

His story of progress was interspersed with many anecdotes, with the tales of co-operation on the part of men high in the business and financial world, no matter what their religion. To the bankers of Los Angeles he gave unstinted and heartfelt praise. "Many of you may wonder where all the finances have come for the undertaking of these things, and I must tell you that they have come from the banks of Los Angeles, and there has never been a time that I have had to go outside of the city to secure any means necessary to carry on the work."

ALWAYS SOUND.

"Banker Hellman in the early days assured me that his financial institutions were always sound, and I established three parishes there was some stir. The number of priests has increased from 101 to tions considered the notes of the Bishop of Los Angeles, representing the Catholic church, as the highest gilt-edge security obtainable, and because of this same sentiment of other financiers, we have never been hindered in our progress for want of money. Today the assets of the church, without interference with any parish, could clear off every outstanding obligation.

He spoke of the building of parish schools, of the establishment of the home for the aged and infirm, the home for wayward girls, the different convents and schools of higher education, all brought about by the evolution of Los Angeles from a pueblo to a great, thriving, throbbing city. To the people residing here, and especially to the Knights of Columbus, he attributed the wonderful advancement of Catholicity, more than to any work that he may have done in that direction.

There will be no special celebration of Bishop Conaty's arrival in Los Angeles ten years ago today. All that he has asked are the continued prayers of his people, and in every church a special offering of this character will be made for him. On Tuesday evening the Newman Club will act as host at a banquet given in his honor, and numerous leading citizens outside of the Catholic faith will be on hand to pay honor and tributes to a bishop who belongs, not alone to the people of his own faith, but to the community as one of its foremost citizens.

Reclamation.

VAST WATER SYSTEM COVERS MORE LAND.

LAST Friday W. H. Holabird, receiver of the California Development Company, supplying Imperial Valley with water, delivered to the mutual water companies 2000 cubic second feet, plus a large amount for seepage and evaporation.

Two thousand cubic second feet is equivalent to 4000 acre feet, or 100,000 miner's inches, which is five times the theoretical maximum capacity of the Los Angeles aqueduct.

Undoubtedly, the California Development Company in Imperial Valley is furnishing more land with all the water required than any other irrigation system on this continent, and compares favorably with the volume of water carried in some of the great irrigation systems of India and Egypt.

The earnings of the California Development Company for May exceeded $40,000, and will probably reach $50,000 for June. The months of greatest consumption begin with May and end with August, although there is a large demand for water during the rest of the year.

GREAT GATE IN USE.

The new Stoney gate at Hanlon Heading, on the Colorado River, is now in use. This structure cost about $46,000 and comes up fully to the expectations of the receiver, and adds greatly to the efficiency of the water system.

A new hull will be built for the hydraulic dredge El Centro, which operates at the mouth of the Intake Canal, the present hull being an old barge that was put into use as a temporary expedient.

The dredger Imperial, operating below the gate, is in splendid condition, and keeps a deep basin pumped out, which causes the settling of all the debris coming down from the Colorado River, which is a very great help in operating the canal system and freeing it from silt.

The dredger Delta, lying in the Alamo Channel, twelve or fourteen miles from the heading at the Colorado River, will be put in shape and operated in the near future. This is one of the large type of dredges.

The dredger Gamma, also a large type, which has been for many months in operation near Sharps Flooding, above Calexico, struck a snag and sank. The machinery will be recovered and a new hull built immediately. The dredge had served its day and the timbers were too rotten to justify efforts to raise and repair the old hull.

Three portable dredgers with half-yard clam shell buckets are owned and operated by the receiver on the main canals in Imperial Valley. These dredgers are of the most useful type and it is difficult now to see how the system could have been operated without them.

This makes seven dredgers in operation all or part of the time by Receiver Holabird.

Beginning with the appointment of Receiver Holabird, December 13, 1909, up to and including March, 1913, the total expenses, both ordinary and extraordinary, for the California Development Company aggregated $1,305,936.61, of which $913,748.54 was expended in the United States, and $392,191.27 in Mexico.

The gross receipts from farming operations in the Imperial Valley for 1913 will probably exceed $15,000,000. The population of the valley has increased enormously.

The receiver states that the East High Line Canal, now about completed to Imperial Junction, and the existing West Side main canal, constitute the final exterior boundary lines of the territory, that will be placed under irrigation in Imperial Valley. The irrigable areas within these boundary lines, after allowing for railroads and cities, waste ditches, etc., is a little in excess of 400,000 acres. To this should be added the area in Lower California, which will be from 200,000 to 400,000 acres, all served by the same canal system.

AVALON.

AVALON, June 17.—Alexander R. Horn, attorney, of St. Paul, Minn., and chairman of the Board of Education of that city, and his daughter, Miss Margaret Horn, aide Mrs. John Adams, her daughter, Miss Priscilla Adams, and sons, Banning and Henry Adams, family of Mr. John Adams, Northwestern agent of the Erie Railway Company, also of St. Paul, have just arrived in Los Angeles, guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Banning. They will spend the summer vacation at the Isthmus, Santa Catalina Island.

THESE TWO YOUNG WOMEN

Tell How They Suffered and How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Their Health and Stopped all Pains.

Zanesville, Ohio. — "I would have cramping spells, distressed feeling in the lower part of my back, headaches and felt weak and was very irregular. After taking five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with Liver Pills for constipation, I felt well and strong and have no more female troubles. I hope every suffering woman will give your medicine a trial. I give you permission to publish what your remedies have done for me."—Mrs. ROY SIMMS, R. No. 6, Box 34, Zanesville, Ohio.

What Ten Dollars Did.

Danville, Va.—"I have only spent ten dollars on your medicine and I feel so much better than I did when the doctor was treating me. I don't suffer any bearing down pains at all now and I sleep well. I cannot say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as they have done so much for me. I am enjoying good health now and owe it all to your remedies. I take pleasure in telling my friends and neighbors about them."—Mrs. MATTIE HALEY, 501 Colquhone Street, Danville, Va.

REUNITES COUPLE.

Accident to Little Child Brings Parents Together After a Year of Separation.

Florence Marie Haag, 3 years old, ran a few steps ahead of her mother yesterday while walking along Normandie avenue at Thirty-ninth street, was run down, and her right arm crushed by a University car. The little girl was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where the mangled arm was amputated just below the shoulder.

Mrs. Julia Haag, the mother, was prostrated when she saw the child beneath the car wheels. Until a few days ago the mother and child lived at No. 1181 West Thirty-ninth street, but recently moved to a house on West Thirty-fifth street. Although separated for more than a year from her husband, Mrs. Haag immediately telephoned him of the accident and he hurried to the Receiving Hospital, and they were reunited.

SHOWER OF NUCO.

Many Cans of Product Which Figures in Unique Advertising Campaign Distributed Yesterday.

One of the most forceful and original advertising campaigns ever entered into in this city will culminate today. It is that of Nuco. D. H. Schumann, advertising manager for the California Cocoa Company, which manufactures Nuco, surprised his friends of the Ad. Club at the regular luncheon at Christopher's yesterday by having his musical band of chefs march in upon the assembly and play lively tunes while three of their kind distributed quarter-pound cans of Nuco to all assembled. Ernest Ingold, president of the Ad Club, in a graceful speech made due apologies to the speaker of the day. Schumann was fined 25 cents. The pirsoner at the bar borrowed the amount of the fine from Roger M. Andrews of the Citizens' Trust & Savings Bank, who accepted a can of Nuco as security. H. L. Ferguson, president of the California Cocoa Company, addressed the Ad Club on the subject of Nuco, especially detailing the advertising campaign, and giving assurance that it was carried on not only within the limit but within the spirit of the law, and no claims being made for Nuco which the product itself will not bear out.

One of the most surprising advertising stunts and interesting propositions during the last few days has been the appearance on the principal streets of a large wagon built on the principle of those which made Barnum & Bailey famous. On this advertising delivery wagon is an eight-foot can of Nuco and the band of chefs are conspicuous. Nuco is manufactured in Los Angeles.

CALL TO DUTY.

VAN NUYS, June 17.—Suburban communities seldom are backward in "tooting their horns," but the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce plans to inaugurate a horn tooting to some purpose in this place. At last night's meeting of that body President S. O. Houghton proposed that hereafter on the evening when the chamber meets three members, who are ex-army buglers, shall sound the reveille, thus reminding forgetful members of their duty and insuring full attendance. As the three members suggested live in three different sections of the city it is believed that their notes would effectually reach every quarter.

Try Skin Absorption Instead of Cosmetics.

(From the Woman Militant.)

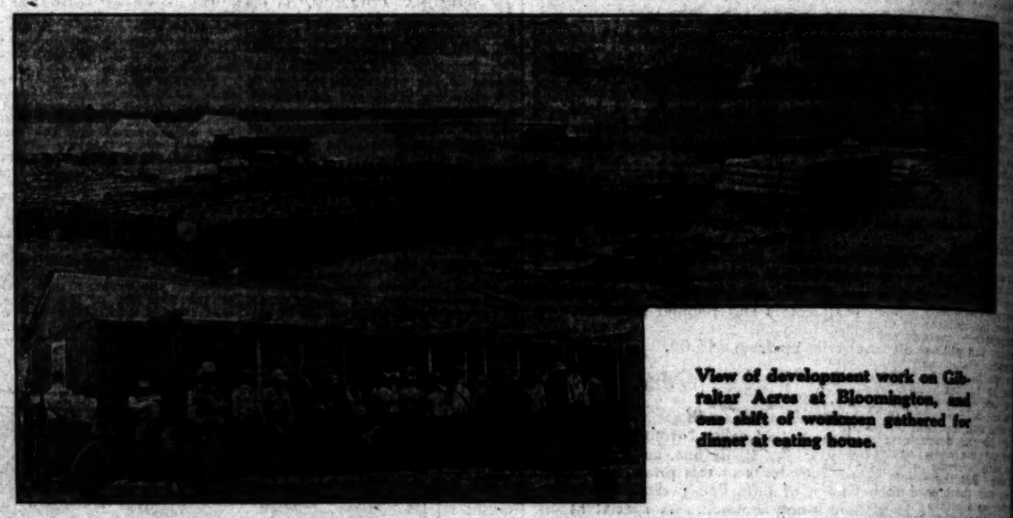
The constant use of rouge and powder invites a coarsened, roughened condition of the skin, eruptions, enlarged pores and wrinkles. If you've learned this from experience, suppose you quit cosmetics and try what I recommend.

Ask your druggist for an ounce of ordinary mercolized wax and begin using this tonight. Apply like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Keep this up for a week or two. The wax will literally absorb the coarse, colorless or blemished top skin, but so gradually as not to discommode you at all. Just as gradually the clear, velvety, naturally-tinted underskin comes to the surface. And mercolized wax becomes your everlasting friend.

For those wrinkles and large pores, make a face bath by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half-pint witch hazel. This has remarkable astringent and tonic properties, and beneficial results come quickly.—[Advertisement.]

The Creative Principle of Gibraltar

IS BACKED BY NATURAL GROWTH, ECONOMY AND KNOWLEDGE. All of these forces are back of the steady growth of this company and of the advance in value of the preferred shares. Natural growth in land values and products is governed by growth of population and demand, but the profits are governed by economy of operation and expert knowledge of development and conditions. The individual who purchases land and trees at retail and develops on a small scale loses the economy of large consolidated operations.



View of development work on Gibraltar Acres at Bloomington, and one shift of workmen gathered for dinner at eating house.

Gibraltar's fast-selling Bloomington tract of 1897 acres is creating community values by developing vacant land into highly improved orchard home tracts. Gibraltar buys the land at wholesale in great tracts, grows its trees in quantities of millions at a time, and develops, plants, subdivides and sells the land on a wide, comprehensive plan. Savings are made through scientific management at every step, even the concrete pipe for its great irrigating system being manufactured on the very land in which it is laid. Larger profits are thus realized for the co-operative shareholder than are possible through individual effort.

Shares advance Monday, June 23, to 22 cents and may be purchased now for 21 cents either for cash or on the installment plan of 20 equal monthly payments.

MORN OF HAPPINES FOR LITTLE

Calls for Nearly Thousand Seats at "T Party at Orpheum Saturday Receive Yesterday—More Good Things on Pr Every Hour—Newsboys, Too.

THE TIMES' big orphans' party for Saturday morning, at the Orpheum, to be given in conjunction with that theater, is already assuming mammoth proportions. In one day requests for nearly 1000 tickets for poor and parentless children have poured in, and every one has been honored. Other places of outings for these little ones have yet to be heard from, so there is small doubt that 1500 will be on hand at 10 o'clock on Saturday, when the Orpheum show will be given, wholly for their amusement.

New features are added to the plans almost every hour. Arrangements were made with the Los Angeles Railway Corporation yesterday whereby free transportation to and from the Orpheum is offered by that company. This has been thankfully accepted, and The Times will issue to each orphans' home for each inmate coupon tickets good for two car rides and admission to the Orpheum Saturday morning. Conductors will take up a coupon for each trip and the ticket of admission will be accepted at the Orpheum door. No one will be admitted there, by the way, who has no ticket.

Another feature will be a committee of society women, most of whom are on the boards of management of the various orphanages. These good women will assemble at the Orpheum and greet the children as they come in charge of their matrons and superintendents, and will see that they are comfortably seated and entertained. There will be no confusion at the theater, as no seats have been reserved; each company of children on arrival will be conducted to the best seats remaining, and will be seated in a body. As the doors open at 9:30 o'clock and the show begins at 10 o'clock, early arrivals will have the best seats. But there will be room for all; only those who do not obtain their seats before 10 o'clock will miss one of the very best acts to be offered.

ANOTHER FEATURE.

Another new feature developed at the Orpheum yesterday. Through the courtesy of A. F. Frankenstein and the Orpheum Symphony Orchestra a special concert will be given between 9:30 and 10 o'clock. This will entertain all who come early. Among the numbers will be the famous Haydn "Toy Symphony," a little piece Haydn wrote for the children of the German Elector's court. It contains parts for all sorts of toys, rattles, squeekers and the like, and is lively and very funny. Marches and popular songs will be played, also, in which anyone may join, and the concert will conclude with "America," when all the children will be asked to rise and sing with the orchestra.

Following the concert, at 10 sharp the show will begin. The first act will be Meehan's dogs, canines that dance, play tricks, ride barrels, box and jump—the greatest leaping dogs in the world. There are about forty of these dogs, and Herr Meehan makes them do things that are almost human. Their antics are very funny, as well as clever.

VOICE LIKE A BELL.

Then will come Lester, the ventriloquist, who can throw his voice about like a rubber ball. Lester has a little boy dummy that sits on his knee and does most of the talking, while Lester smokes, drinks water and the like. This bad boy is an awful fellow; he bosses Lester and bullies him, and makes him do a whole lot of things. The dummy also sings and Lester takes him right down into the audience during his performance. Then will be the big number, lasting almost an hour—the Gus Edwards boys and girls in the song revue of 1913. Edwards wrote all the songs and made up the show and he has twenty-five youngsters to help him, including lovely Miss Boardman, cute little Cuddles, and Georgie. All have to do; they wear pretty clothes, possess fairylandlike in beauty and whistle, dance and play jokes on Cuddles, sings and dances, Georgie gives imitations, Mr. Edwards sings and plays and dances and the others all take part in the big sweet. This has six separate scenes, so there is sure to be a lot in it to please everyone.

IT'S A LONG ONE.

All in all, these make up a show of two hours long, and it will be past 12 o'clock; luncheon time, when the final curtain falls. Then the kids will hustle back into their cars and go home again.

Another feature brought about by the Orpheum yesterday was the extension of the newsboys. The Times' be furnished the orphans its boys to co crowd throu partment. T Times circul o'clock and way to the should see th in advance a There are also—they w row and Frid news of gala Times-Orpheu ment Saturd

But—and must be there will be impos of the show, matinee in th begin on tim to see all of t 10 or they w treat.

UNANIMOUSLY adopted by the City Council, with instructions to the Board of Public Works for immediate action."

Such is the notation to be inscribed upon the report of the Municipal Bureau on the substitution of machine lining of the Hill-street works. This means that the Board of Public Works will be required to submit a complete reorganization of the engineering department of the city.

The investigation of the Municipal Bureau was made by its subcommittee on streets, composed of Charles Seyler, Farley M. Johnson, S. J. Hunsaker, A. E. Judd, Louis W. Myers, W. F. Bryant, R. F. Koster, James J. Burkel, George Cotty and A. L. Anderson.

The report of the subcommittee on streets was referred to the Public Works Committee of the League and from it evolved the Executive Committee. Council. This report sent to the Council. This report says:

"In the matter of the change in the organization of the work of the Hill-street tunnel we beg to present to your honorable body the conclusions reached by our subcommittee, as submitted in report of June 13, 1913, which was unanimously adopted by the Executive Committee of the League at a special session held June 14, 1913.

Another feature will be a committee of society women, most of whom are on the boards of management of the various orphanages. These good women will assemble at the Orpheum to greet the children as they come in charge of their matrons and superintendents, and will see that they are properly seated and entertained. ANOTHER FEATURE.

Another new feature developed at the Orpheum yesterday. Through the kindness of A. F. Frankenstein of the Orpheum Symphony Orchestra, a special concert will be given between 9:30 and 10 o'clock. This will entertain all who come early. Among the numbers will be Haydn's Eighth "Toy Symphony," for this piece Haydn wrote for the children of the German Elector's court. It contains parts for all sorts of toys, rattles, squeakers and the like, and is lively and very funny. Other old and popular songs will be rendered, also, in which anyone may join, and the concert will conclude with "America," when all the children will be asked to rise and sing to the orchestra.

Following the concert, at 10 sharp the show will begin. The first act will be Nelson's dogs, canine that dance, do trick, ride barrels, box and do the greatest leaping dogs in the world. There are about forty of the pups, and Burr Meehan makes the things that are almost human. Their antics are very funny, as well as clever.

WHO LIKE A BALL.

Then will come Lester, the ventriloquist, who can throw his voice about as a rubber ball. Lester has a funny dummy that sits on his knee and does most of the talking, while Lester smokes, drinks water and the like. The boy is an awful fellow, by the way, Lester and bullies the dummy like a whole lot of schoolboys. These youngsters will be The Times' special guests, and will be furnished seats and tickets as are the orphans. The Times wants all its boys to come, and will handle the crowd through the circulation department. The boys will meet at The Times circulation department at 9 o'clock and will march down Broadway to the Orpheum. Those going should see the circulation department in advance and secure their tickets.

There are other things developing also—they will be announced tomorrow and Friday. Watch out for more news of gala times at this, the big Times-Orpheum orphans' entertainment Saturday morning.

But—and this is important—all must be there before 10 o'clock. It will be impossible to delay the start of the show, as the Orpheum has a matinee in the afternoon. So it will begin on time, and all who want to see all of it must be seated before 10 or they will miss out on the big treat.

WEARY OF THE STRUGGLE.

Akron Man Who Lost Position There Commits Suicide Here by the Use of Gas.

Oscar A. Nelson, 42 years old, former receiving teller of the Central Savings and Trust Company, Akron, O., was found dead in a bathroom at the residence of A. S. Burger, No. 4510 Franklin street, yesterday by neighbors, who broke in the door. The man had evidently taken his life several days ago, the daily papers which had accumulated on the front porch indicating that he had not been about since last Thursday. Nelson was not married.—His mother and sister lived in Akron. He was prominent in society there and a figure in Free Masonry.

The police were unable to learn a motive for the suicide of Nelson other than that he was in poor health. His accounts in Akron were all straight. Drink cost him his position there, according to dispatches. The Burger family was away from home, having left Nelson in charge of the house for the past two weeks. The unfortunate man was seen about the house up to last Thursday. Since that time neighbors noticed a light in the bathroom day and night, and yesterday they determined to investigate.

The body of Nelson was found on the floor, a gas tube still in his mouth and the gas turned on. Nelson came to Los Angeles three months ago, and made many friends among his neighbors here.

TOURIST ACTS STRANGELY.

A man about 45 years of age and giving the name of Lewis Miller was picked up by Special Officer Churchill of the Pacific Electric Company on the line near Pasadena yesterday. He was evidently suffering from some mental ailment. It was claimed that he had made three attempts to throw himself under the car. He was removed to the County Hospital, where he is at present under observation.

Stop Gambling for Pennants.

Councilman Topham introduced a resolution in the City Council yesterday, which was unanimously adopted, calling attention to the fact that boys and girls are shaking dice in public places for pennants, and instructing the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance prohibiting this practice. Council Andrews declared that this was no worse than the practice of throwing dice for cigars and that he believed the entire practice should be prohibited.

Must File Reports.

The City Council adopted yesterday the recommendation of the Board of Public Utilities that an ordinance be adopted requiring all private water companies operating within the city to file with the board annual reports of their business. Considerable difficulty has been experienced by the Utilities Board in securing necessary data from some of these companies.

Sustains Telephone Rates.

The telephone rates for the new fiscal year as set by the Board of Public Utilities, and which are the same as now in effect, were sustained by the City Council yesterday, despite the fact that protests had been filed by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Home Telephone Company. The Council took the stand that a hearing would bring forth only the points already presented to the Public Utilities Commission and therefore it was useless to grant one. Both companies protest on the grounds that the rates are unreasonable and confiscatory.

ENGINEER OFFICE TO BE REORGANIZED.

An office system under which it is possible for important details of proposed construction to be determined by an office subordinate, and so vital a change of construction to be made during the course of the work without the superiors in office knowing anything about the subsequent change or even the original plans, demonstrates on its face the necessity of a reorganization.

While it is clear from the evidence submitted in the reports that there was no dishonesty in the Engineer's office in this matter, we are profoundly impressed with the seriousness of the incident.

The rules of the Engineer's office should arbitrarily prohibit a subordinate from making any change whatever in the specifications or permitting any departure from them, without the written authority of the City Engineer.

We recommend that steps be taken by your Honorable Body in conjunction with the Board of Public Works to bring about a complete reorganization of the engineering department.

ACTIVITY REPORTED AT MONTROSE

Beautiful Homes Building Throughout La Crescenta-Canada District

Montrose, the sightly new subdivision at the head of the Verdugo Valley, above Glendale, is establishing a remarkable record of activity.

It is reported that plans have been completed for nine different building projects.

Mr. J. W. Wilson of Glendale will start the erection of a beautiful $4000 home in Waltonia Drive this week. E. G. Luentzel, a Los Angeles contractor, has purchased the corner of Crescent Drive and Rockland Place, a lot with 116 feet frontage, and has begun the erection of a $5000 home. Charles de Vidal Hundt, a newspaper man, has purchased lots 96 and 97 on Park Place, and the Foothill Boulevard, and is building a magnificent home. H. W. Gray, a civil engineer who has recently come to California, has purchased a lot on Glendale Avenue, and has already started the erection of a beautiful bungalow home. There will also be a home built on Glenada Avenue, near Montrose Avenue, for Robert M. Allen. E. Ritter, who is identified with one of the large film companies of Los Angeles, has plans completed for his home on Waltonia Drive. The contract will be let the last of this week for store and apartment house buildings on the corner of Montrose and Honolulu.

In addition to those mentioned above, Mr. J. W. M. Burton has just purchased lot 263 on Montrose Ave.; Arthur S. Heineman is preparing plans for a $4000 home; Mrs. S. A. Hill, recently of Seattle, has purchased a lot on Waltonia Drive and is having plans drawn for a six-room bungalow. Work is being rushed on the car line west from Montrose to Los Angeles Avenue.

The ideal location of Montrose—its healthful, fog-free atmosphere, the wonderful view it commands and the spacious, viewful villa sites it affords, combined with city accommodations and electric car service, have established a sales record of many figures.

The Holmes-Walton Co., owners and agents, 507-8-9 Grant Bldg., corner of Broadway and Fourth, are conducting free auto parties to Montrose and return twice daily. All those going are required to call at the offices of the company for free tickets. Phones: Home A3010, Main 4590.

Other crowds are visiting Montrose by way of the new trolley line, one of the most delightfully scenic rides in Southern California. The car leaves from the corner of Brand and Broadway, Glendale.

IOWANS, ATTENTION!

This is a fac simile of a letter that was sent to the president of the Iowa Society, inviting all Iowans to visit Belle Mead on "Iowa Day," next Sunday, June 22nd.

June 13, 1913.

Mr. J. A. Roninger,
Pres. Iowa State Society,
1213 Cedar Ave.,
Long Beach, Calif.

Dear Sir:-

We have set aside our regular Sunday excursion of June 22nd, as a special day for all Iowans to visit our Belle-Mead property, enjoy its beauties and become better acquainted with the Los Angeles public, which will be numerously represented.

We extend to you, personally, and through you, to all members of the Iowa State Association, a most cordial invitation to become our guests on our specially chartered cars leaving our offices, 308 Story Building, 6th & Broadway, at 11 o'clock, Sunday, June 22nd.

Souvenir badges, containing the Iowa Coat of Arms, will be distributed on the car.

A substantial luncheon, including a cup of genuine "Old Verginia" coffee will be served in our big tent. A box of candy will be presented to each lady and a fine cigar to each gentleman.

Come and enjoy the inspiring view and the glorious sunshine and breathe the invigorating air at Belle-Mead, the beauty spot of all Los Angeles.

Most cordially yours,

Charles O. Middleton

Timely Action

The Washington administration's offer of $500,000,000 for use by the masses staggered Wall Street. The business interests of the nation "sat up and took notice." It was timely. It has lifted a dark and threatening cloud. Because of the large crops assured and the great development of its enormous latent resources under way, the effect will be to cause the great West in general and the Pacific Coast in particular to spring forward anew. With the near completion of the Panama Canal and its world-wide influence, all trending to the rapid upbuilding of the commerce of the new countries of the Pacific slopes of America, Los Angeles as well as all of Southern California has great things to look forward to if the people have ready money with which to do business.

A knowledge of the fact that the Government holds $500,000,000, and more, in readiness to meet any proper emergency is most encouraging.

Los Angeles Securities Company began business in January, about five (5) months ago. In that time it has prospered and grown amazingly. But because of the conditions above referred to, the management thought it wise to go slow. It had the resources to start its first large hotel and apartment house on the corner of Temple St. and Bunker Hill Ave. sixty days ago. In the meantime it has been "sawing other wood" and helping to rehabilitate the northwest section of this city while waiting until financiers thought and talked differently.

Now that the change has come, Los Angeles Securities Company announces an advance in its shares from 15 cents to 16 cents each at the close of business June 30th, 1913. By that time construction of its first combination hotel and apartment house will be further under way.

The present price of 15 cents a share and easy terms is attractive and interests the wage earner, for whom more than 4 per cent. is a necessity, as well as most desirable. That additional advantage is assured by the government policy and the consequent more rapid upbuilding of Los Angeles.

For further particulars regarding the Company's plans please apply to

Los Angeles Securities Company

SOCIETY AFFAIRS.

Miss Gertrude Connell,
Who will assist at the brilliant Campbell-Beveridge wedding this evening.

DUE to the cleverness of the young bride-elect, the engagement of Miss Elisabeth Bard, youngest daughter of former United States Senator Bard, and Reginald G. Shand has been kept a profound secret until now, when news comes of the wedding, which is to be quietly solemnized this evening at the Hueneme home of the Bards. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. B. J. Darneille in the presence of close friends only. Miss Anna Bard, sister of the bride-elect, will be bridesmaid, and Ernest C. Hamilton, cousin of the groom-to-be—who, with his wife and children of Hamilton City, are guests here of Mrs. Hamilton's mother, Mrs. W. H. Bonsall of No. 1340 Crown Hill avenue—will be best man. Mr. Shand is connected with a sugar factory at Hamilton and will take his young bride there to live.

The news is of more than ordinary interest in this city, where the young people are socially known.

Col. Black to Wed.

Messenger boys were kept busy yesterday delivering telegrams containing news of the very interesting engagement of Col. George N. Black and Miss Florence Kohn, a society leader of Portland, Or., who is also well known here, where she has spent much time at the Hotel Alexandria. Col. Black is visiting his betrothed in her northern home. The messages, signed by both young people, caused a decided flutter in society circles. The groom-to-be, who has lived in Los Angeles thirty years, is vice-president of Black Brothers, Inc., a bond house; president of the California State Realty Federation; past-grand president of B'nai Brith and a member of the Concordia Club. For four years he served as a colonel on Gov. Gillett's staff, and has been prominently identified in the political world for years. Sunday with Miss Kohn he will receive at her home, when several hundred friends will call to congratulate the happy couple.

Will Wed Today.

Los Angeles and Hollywood society are greatly interested in the wedding of Miss Marion Beveridge, the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Beveridge, of Hollywood boulevard, who will become the bride of Wilbur Watkins Campbell at 5:30 o'clock tonight in St. Stephens Episcopal Church, Hollywood.

Miss Phylis Beveridge, the pretty sister of the bride-elect, will assist as maid of honor. Miss Gertrude Connell, cousin of the bride-elect, and Miss Elisabeth Hoag will be bridesmaids. Little William Palmer will carry the wedding ring on the family crest, which is embroidered in the center of a white chiffon cushion filled with pink floss sent from Japan.

Roy Campbell will attend his brother as best man and the ushers will be Messrs. Raymond Somers, Leslie Somers and Roy Williamson.

A full choir of thirty, under the direction of Mme. Elaine Fisher, will precede the bridal party to the altar singing the bridal chorus from the "Rose Maiden." After the ceremony the choir will follow the bridal party to the door singing Lohengrin's "Wedding March." Mrs. Graham L. Putnam of St. Stephens Church will preside at the organ. Miss Ouellet will play the harp, while Rev. Arthur Evans is performing the ceremony.

The vestments for the rector, of the finest of Canton linen, were made expressly for this occasion. The altar cloth, made of hand-point lace, was brought from Japan.

Fronds of asparagus plumosus fern and pink carnations will decorate the church. Candles and the cross will be the only altar decorations, the six Eucharistic and twenty-eight vesper lights being hand-carved and sent from Madrid, as were two chancel lights, 200 years old, and from the old candalabra from the Granada in Madrid.

A wedding supper will be served to a few friends after the ceremony. No invitations have been issued, but the church will be open to friends.

Mr. Campbell and his bride will leave immediately for a motor trip to Lake Tahoe, San Francisco and Portland, and after their return will live in their new home, now being erected in the Wilshire district.

At St. John's.

St. John's Episcopal Church, which is noted for its picturesque weddings, was never prettier than last evening, with its handsome decorations arranged for the marriage of Miss Blanche Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Ford, No. 907 West Forty-ninth street, to Dr. Frank A. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Williams, No. 331 South Westlake.

The altar and altar gates were hidden with pink gladiolus and thousands of pink sweet peas and asparagus plumosus fern. An aisle was carpeted with white [illegible] down this passed the bridal [illegible]

First came the maids of [illegible] sister of the bride-elect, Miss Margaret Ford, attractive in a [illegible] creation of pink chiffon over charmeuse, carrying an armful of Killarney roses, with [illegible] shower bows. Next came [illegible] the brother of the bride, [illegible] Ford, Assistant District Attorney, the brother-in-law of the groom, W. Colton. They were followed by the little ring bearer, Master Colton, carrying a white satin pillow with the ring nestling in a cluster of pink chiffon roses. The little flower girl, Margaret Ford, sister of the bride-to-be, was dainty in a white French frock, with pink bows, carrying a basket filled with rose petals, which she scattered before the bridal party.

The bride-elect, leaning on the arm of her father, was lovely in a gown of heavy white satin charmeuse, overdraped with white chiffon, elaborate with rose point lace and a court train. A tulle veil, caught with orange blossoms extended to the bottom of her train, and had been worn previously by her sister, Mrs. Andrew Swanfeldt at the time of her marriage. Her only ornament was a platinum necklace with a diamond pendant, the gift of the groom. Her shower bouquet was of lily of the valley and bride's roses.

The groom and his best man, Albert G. Maxson, stood at the altar. The organist, Mr. Donahue, played the wedding marches as the bridal couple entered the church. The Rev. George Davidson united them.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the family home, where a white and green color scheme was effective, roses, [illegible] daisies and greenery having been combined except in the dining room, where all the appointments were pink. The table held a centerpiece of pink Killarney roses and long pink bows of pink tulle and the chandelier was shaded with pink satin and crystal-beaded fringe.

Dr. Williams will take his bride on a wedding trip to Canada, stopping at San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Vancouver and Lake Louise. After the honeymoon they will [illegible] their own home at No. 107 Westlake avenue, where they will be at home to their friends after June 25.

Wedding Announcement.

Announcement is made of the marriage Saturday of Miss [illegible] Elftman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Elftman of Long Beach, to Raydn J. Ziegler of this city. The service took place at the home of the officiating clergyman, the Rev. J. M. Schaefle, pastor of the Heights Congregational Church. Miss Elftman was attired in a handsome tailored suit of gray with hat, gloves and shoes to match. At the conclusion of a honeymoon trip to San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler will be at their home at No. 327 Magnolia avenue.

Another Wedding.

Rev. John H. Cooper officiated at the wedding in the Bethlehem Presbyterian Church recently of Miss Elizabeth Zeigler, daughter of Mrs. Etta Zeigler of No. 311 Rose road, and Frank Warren. The office was decorated to represent a garden scene with trailing vines and sweets peas. Specially-arranged [illegible] opened as the bridal party entered. The bride, attired in Duchesse lace over white crepe meteor and [illegible] stood beneath a shower of [illegible] during the ceremony. She wore a long tulle veil and carried a shower of bride roses.

Miss Elizabeth Warren, sister of the groom, assisted as maid of honor and was attired in delicate pink [illegible] chine with pearl ornaments. She carried a bouquet of pink [illegible] ners tied with pink tulle. Miss Armond was a fascinating little flower girl. Ralph Eugene Hoag was best man.

Before the service a special musical programme was rendered by Miss Ella Rosetta Stuart, Miss Bell and Mrs. Fred P. Rosecrans. The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren left on a two-weeks' camping trip to Big Bear Lake in the San Bernardino mountains, and will be at home to their friends after August 1, at No. 1 West Forty-sixth street.

Has Returned.

Mrs. Charles Fairbanks, wife of United States Land Commissioner of Colorado, has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Clyde Hitchcock, for the past month, during which time she was lightfully entertained. Mrs. Fairbanks was accompanied by her son.

Nervous Wrecks from Sore Feet: Gives Cure

The nagging irritation from daily foot torture causes thousands of nervous break-downs. Besides there is the pain, the haggard face and peevish disposition. Don't waste an hour, here is a treatment that will cure your feet quickly. No matter how many patent medicines you have tried in vain this treatment, formerly known only to doctors, will give prompt results. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effects are marvelous. All pain goes instantly and the feet feel simply delightful. Corns and callouses can be peeled right off; bunions, aching feet, sweaty smelling feet, get immediate relief. Use this a week and your foot troubles will be a thing of the past. Calocide works through the pores and removes the cause. Any druggist has it in stock or will quickly get it. A twenty-five cent package is said to be enough to cure the worst feet.—[Advertisement.

DAILY BEAUTY HINT: There is a new ap[pliance] at the home. "I have been thinking," said the Business Woman, "of getting out into a real home, instead of continuing to reside in a downtown apartment-house; but I cannot reconcile myself to the idea of neighbors. Sounds familiar and disagreeable, doesn't it; but after being in the turmoil and meeting people all day, it is such a boon to get where you are not obliged to speak to anyone unless you wish. And when I tell you that I have lived in one place for three years and do not know a person who lives in the house, you will realize that I am inclined somewhat of a solitaire; but—do you know—I believe all the people in my vicinity are like me?"

"But," I asked, "why not live in a wilderness? Would you like that?"

"No. I do not believe any of us would want that. We like to know that people are near-by, but not too near, and there is a sort of companionship in mere vicinity, without talk. In fact, I sometimes think it the best kind of neighborliness—but not everyone recognizes this fact. When I go out to look at houses or lots, the first thing that I meet is a neighbor who proceeds to tell me all about everything, so that I feel myself enmeshed in the jealousies, hatreds and maliciousness of the locality, even before I have arrived there, and I instantly decide that I will stay away. If ever do move into a home, I shall take care not to see the neighbors before I move in—for I would be unhappy before getting settled."

"In your judgment, then," I said, "silent neighborliness is the best [policy]."

"Well, silent neighborliness, at least. I truly believe that the best companionship, anyhow, is that which is not [overfamiliar]."

Your Neighbor's Sprinkler.

Have you never been annoyed by your neighbor's lawn sprinkling? But of course you have, no matter where you live. You have tried to dodge between the sprinkles, as you passed along the sidewalk; you have found, when you essayed to step out of the front door that your walk and the side of the garden where you wished to go was deluged and, in fact, there were annoyances many and varied in connection to your neighbor's lawn sprinkling; but now that is all at an end, or may be—if you do your part. That is necessary is that you purchase for him one of those newly-invented lawn sprinklers—a "made-in-Los Angeles" sprinkler. If his lawn [is] square, just slip over there some morning before he is up and measure the grass plot and when you go down town, buy the device, which is properly shaped and sized to sprinkle his lawn without casting a single glitter-ing drop upon your premises or upon the outer walk. These sprinklers come in every size and shape and even [are] in a style which sprinkles upward. "The man" where they are sold will explain to you just how this miracle is accomplished, but I fear my technical dictionary is not equipped with the proper terms to do this, although it looked like a simple enough [thing], as he explained it. Think of the saving of water, as well as of the wear and tear upon the dispositions of the passers and upon all within the sprinkling radius!

Progressive Sale.

After looking into the window of one of Lower Broadway furniture houses [where] they are having what I would call a "progressive sale," I have been [spending] my time figuring how much the most wanted article would be by this [time] next week or the week following.

Articles are marked a certain price [and] the date is given and then follows a long line of reductions—10 cent. daily—until sold.

I discovered a charming Chippendale chair, marked very reasonably [at first], but as we are always going to do, you know, I decided that I would wait until Saturday week, when the sliding scale of reduction would bring it to the level of a comfortable kitchen chair, and then I meant to buy it for—well, for the dower chest for the "wish chest," as we call them now, since girls plan for bachelor homes more than hopes. It seems, however, that I had set her mark a few pegs too low, for the chair was gone when the mahogany rocker—and perhaps I shall have learned to figure a little more rapidly, so that will not [occur].

Figures Still Further.

It seems that this "window sale" is an indicator of what is going on inside the store, where there are reductions in all lines of high-class furniture. In most cases the reduction is fully one-half and the goods offered are of the better kind, as one has always wished for a specially luxurious nook in the form of a fine piece of carved English sideboard, desk or bookcase [or] a chair for some especially [desired] spot in library or living-room, a massive table to go with [the] one which has always needed that [piece] and for which you have waited [for] many. The sale even extends to rugs, imported articles upon which there art reigns supreme, and, in fact, an extensive and expensive sale.

The pinless clothes line comes in [the] form of snakes or any of the [other] reptiles, and you buy so many feet, and you buy them cheap, just at [present], and at each joint there is a peculiar twist into which you [place] a corner of the particular garment which is "out a-dry-ing," and behold, give the twist and behold, you have the [article] securely fastened upon the [line]. From Prose to Poetry.

It may seem a far call from clothes pins to Louis XVI bedroom suites, but it is not so very far after all—only about a block. If you are the parents of the bride and wish to make her a truly regal gift, you will be especially interested in this bedroom set. It is the very last word in luxury. Of finest mahogany, finished in French hand-carved Ormolo or gilt, and set with cane, every piece is a gem of its kind, both as to shape and finish. If I were to print the number of thousands of dollars that it costs, you might not like this publicity, especially if you really intend it as a gift to the bride—and what could be more superb than such a gift?

In the other window of the same high-class furniture house which displays this regal set, is a set in white enamel, hand-painted in flowers, and this is as beautiful in its way as is the royal one. Every detail is perfect and the dainty flowers might be examined beneath a glass without losing caste. Each set is accompanied with all the accessories of luxurious bedroom fittings.

Out-Dresdens Dresden.

In the art department of one of the Broadway jewelry houses I saw a new importation of that charming ware, which, as I could not help thinking, out-Dresdens Dresden. It is a flowered ware in the same delicate colors of Dresden, but the flowers are in full relief, giving them a still more life-like appearance than the posies upon that charming ware. There are tall comports, candelebra, and odd dishes for various uses, and all are enticing in their dainty beauty. They are far from high in price, too, considering their true beauty and worth. Any piece or set would form a fitting bridal gift.

ONE JURYMAN SHORT.

New Venire Is Necessary to Complete Panel in Manslaughter Case. Ranchman's Story.

After a day spent in trying to get a jury in Judge Cabannis's court to try the charge of manslaughter against Ralph S. Ferris, a young ranchman of Rawlings, Wyo., whose auto is alleged to have run over and killed Mitchell Wecor, a 7-year-old Polish boy, the venire was exhausted and adjournment was taken until this morning, when a special venire of five men will be in court. Eleven members of the jury qualified.

Negligence on the part of young Ferris is alleged in the complaint. The defendant will prove, if possible, that the killing was an accident. Ferris says his machine was following one driven by Dr. E. M. Pallette of No. 624 Los Angeles Trust and Savings building, both machines traveling at East Ninth and Stanford streets fifteen miles an hour. A motor truck was standing in the road, he says, and Dr. Pallette turned his machine out to avoid a collision. The child rushed out behind Pallette's car. Ferris found it impossible, he maintains, to stop in time to avoid running over the boy.

PLAN CHARITY FETE.

Fund of Peter Pan Home to Be Swelled by Ball at the Shrine Auditorium.

The Peter Pan Home for Children will in a few weeks come into its own in the way of a fund for properly carrying out the work of the institution, if plans being formulated by a number of prominent business men, who are co-operating with the Order of Railway Conductors, are carried out.

A charity ball is proposed for July 24 at the Shrine Auditorium, which has been donated by the Shriners for the worthy cause.

Tomorrow evening Mel C. Adler, treasurer of the Humane Society for Children, will call to order at the Hotel Alexandria a meeting of the committees and the programme outlined will be completed. The cause has been given a big boost by the Humane Society, the Merchants and Manufacturers, who have indorsed it; the Native Sons, who will be represented at the meeting by Harry Leland; the Elks, who have placed their end of assistance in the hands of Frank Bryson; Louis Schwaebe, acting for the Shriners; the automobile dealers and others.

Elmer McDowell will assume chairmanship of the general committee after the relinquishment of that office by Adler. Irving W. Heliman of the Heliman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank is treasurer, and Thomas Foss of the Railway Conductors is secretary and manager of the ball.

FOR GREAT CATHEDRAL.

Member of Firm of Ecclesiastical Architects Here to Consult Bishop Over New Episcopal Church.

R. G. Goodhue, of Cram, Goodhue & Ferguson, New York, generally recognized as the leading ecclesiastical architects of the country, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday to consult with Bishop Johnson with reference to the Episcopal cathedral to be built on the site of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral on South Olive street, and which is to be designed by the distinguished eastern firm. Registering at the Van Nuys Hotel, the New York architect spent the entire day in going over the project with the churchman. He took extensive measurements of the ground site of the proposed cathedral, and from the bishop learned the general requirements of the parish.

The ideas secured will be embodied in sketches upon Goodhue's return to New York. Plans for the edifice, it is expected, will be completed late this summer, and the construction work may be started in the fall. The building, according to present plans, will cost about $150,000.

Goodhue went to San Diego last night to remain until Friday, when he will return to Los Angeles to go further into the cathedral project with Bishop Johnson. The New York firm has in hand the architectural work of the San Diego Exposition, and has already prepared plans for the leading structures of that fair. Goodhue's mission to the southern city was to observe the progress of the work.

MAINTAIN SILENCE.

Italians Held by Police as Possible Black Hand Agents Remain Noncommittal.

The police are still working on the theory that the two men in custody in the Receiving Hospital, badly burned as a result of the explosion and fire at the residence of G. D. Trapani, No. 1502 East Fourteenth street, are Black Hand agents.

The silence which has characterized the demeanor of both Guiseppe Principe and the unidentified Sicilian since they were brought to the hospital was kept yesterday. They ignore pleading and threats alike.

C. V. Riccardi, an attorney who says he has been retained to defend the men, scouted the idea that they are Black Hand agents or that they intended to kill or injure Trapani or his family, promises a sensation when the real truth concerning the explosion and fire becomes known.

Aside from the finding of a pasteboard box with Italian characters on it in the room of the two men at No. 680 South Boyle street, nothing of consequence was unearthed by the detectives working on the case.

DIVORCE REUNITES.

Separation Decree Convinces Couple They Do Not Really Wish to Sever Union.

Since a week ago, when Judge Cabannis granted a divorce to Jessie Ray Williamson from Andrew Williamson on the ground of extreme cruelty, the Williamsons have patched up their differences, and they appeared in court yesterday, through counsel, asking that the former order and judgment be vacated and that the divorce petition be dismissed.

In granting the petition Judge Cabannis said: "In the hearing of this case Mrs. Williamson told a sorrowful tale of persecution by her husband, and her testimony was in part strengthened by other evidence. Now she asks that I undo what she begged me to do but a few days ago. And I am going to do it. There is an old saying about 'marrying in haste and repenting at leisure.' I hope that it will not in this instance be stipulating in haste and repenting at leisure."

BUT TISN'T A "NANNY."

Russian Neighbors Land in the Police Court When Goat Causes Backyard Clash.

Henry Rayman, a resident of the Russian quarter, sent his wife a few days ago to purchase a "nanny" goat of a neighbor, J. Leiberman. A likely-appearing goat was transferred from the Leiberman back lot to a vacant lot next to the Rayman household. For a day everything was serene. When Rayman returned home, however, he found that the goat responded to the name "Billy."

The Rayman family thereupon paid a visit to the Leibermans. A talkfest ensued. Mrs. Leiberman is said to have shown undue familiarity with the raven tresses of Mrs. Rayman. Rayman retaliated by swatting Leiberman on the nose.

Both families were in Police Court yesterday, Rayman having been arrested on complaint of his neighbor. After hearing both sides of the story Police Judge Fredericksson decided that all were at fault and sent them home to make up.

DUMB BRUTES' FRIENDS.

California Veterinarians to Hold Two-Day Session with Addresses, Papers, Clinics and Banquet.

The California State Veterinary Medical Association will hold a two-day session, beginning today, with its southern auxiliary in the committee rooms of the Chamber of Commerce building. The first session will be held this morning at 10 o'clock. Papers will be read on "Veterinary Anaesthetics" and "Nuclein," by Drs. R. T. Whittlesey and Otis A. Longly.

A pathological clinic at an abattoir will be held in the afternoon, at which Dr. H. T. Doak will deliver the lecture.

A banquet will be held at the Hollenbeck at 6:30 o'clock p.m., at which Dr. Whittlesey will preside. An address of welcome to northern members will be given by Dr. W. E. D. Morrison, responded to by one of the members from the upper part of the State. Toasts will be given by Dr. John L. Tyler and others and papers will be read by Drs. Charles Keane, L. M. Hunt and Julius Koch.

Tomorrow morning's session will be occupied with papers by Drs. R. A. Archibald, David F. Fox and C. W. Brown. In the afternoon the association will attend a clinic at the hospital of Drs. Carr and Stephens, demonstrations of operations being made by Drs. W. A. Boucher, H. R. Sparks, A. D. Hubbell, R. T. Whittlesey and W. R. Carr. About sixty veterinary surgeons are expected at the joint session, one-third coming from the northern part of the State.

JUDGE WELLBORN'S BIRTHDAY.

Honored Head of the United States District Court Passes Seventieth Milestone Today.

Today is the seventieth birthday of Judge Olin Wellborn, for eighteen years on the bench in the United States District Court for the southern division of the Southern District of California. Judge Wellborn can, under the law, retire on full pay for the remainder of his life, but he prefers to remain in the judicial harness.

The occasion will be marked by no formal celebration at the Federal building, but the judge's host of friends will call on him in his court to pay their respects and the attaches of the various offices have entered into a conspiracy to elaborately decorate his room with flowers. A bow of magnificent roses will arch the judicial bench and a floral basket will be sent to Judge Wellborn's residence, No. 1300 West Adams street.

THIS is what Commissioner H. E. Barnard, of the Indiana State Food and Drug Commission, said of beer.

He so declared after an exhaustive investigation of the processes of beer manufacture.

Maier's Select

Extra Pale Beer

—the brew that has received the specific endorsement of the United States Health Bulletin, on the merit of its purity.

Commissioner Barnard further declares:

"The milk and butter men ought to go in a body to visit the breweries of this or other States, to see how clean a food-producing establishment may be made.

"It is in the breweries that sanitation has been brought to as nearly perfect condition as is possible in a food-producing establishment. The water used is all distilled. The hops and malt are absolutely clean before being permitted to enter into a manufacturing process. The vats, pipes, etc., are not merely washed, but scalded and thoroughly sterilized by washing in caustic soda. And, as if that were not enough, when the beer is placed in bottles, it is Pasteurized.

"The person who opens a bottle of beer is assured that what he has before him is a product absolutely free from germs and perfectly clean. It is also true that it is the only manufactured food article which may be said to be absolutely clean."

We invite you to visit the Maier Brewing Company's great plant. See how the purest beer in America is made — and order a case to see how good it is!

CHARACTER, OBJECTS AND AIMS.

Distinguishing Features: Independent, uncompromised, unshackled, unpurchasable, unafraid and unincumbered. THE LOS ANGELES TIMES is devoted to the great principles of Liberty under Law, Equal Rights in all fields of lawful human endeavor, Industrial Freedom and to the upbuilding of Los Angeles, the State of California and the great Southwest.

ATTITUDE.

For the country and the flag.	For Labor's protection, reward and repose.
For the Constitution and the courts.	For punishing dynamiters and all criminals.
For upholding the honor of army and navy.	For protection of person, property, business.
For orderly government under law.	For the home and its safeguarding.
For fair chances for appreciative boys.	For social order and business solidarity.
For unshackled labor, nation-wide.	For world-wide peace with honor.
For the just rights of the unorganized many.	For an Ocean-to-Ocean highway.

FOR THE OLD CAUSE AND THE OLD STANDARD

And against their allied antagonists.	Against, not organized labor as such, but
Against political fads, freaks and frenzy.	Against its acts when law-defying.
Against the new-fangled judicial recall.	Against enforced idleness, and
Against free trade and free soup.	Against its sure outcome—suffering.
Against union conspiracy and misrule.	Against senseless burdens upon business.
Against the un-American closed shop.	Against the bomb, boycott and bludgeon.
Against discrimination and proscription.	Against strikes, picketing and violence.
	Against treason and the red flag.

A HEARTY WELCOME.

From the noise they make about it at Seattle we judge that the Potlatch string is always hanging on the outside.

THE MARKET PRICE.

A locality some miles from here boasts that it has several yards of earth worth 5 cents a pound for its gold values. What vanity! Now, if it was worth a dollar a pound it would be almost in sight of staple real estate values in the suburbs of Los Angeles.

STRIKING HIS GAIT.

Sam Agnew is catching sensational baseball for the St. Louis Browns and is considered a big league star. Agnew was turned down by Omaha when Hogan caught him and made him a Tiger. For the first six months here his work was rank. Then all of a sudden he pulled himself together and began to show class. A good many men have experiences of this kind. It doesn't make any difference what the world thinks of you as long as you don't give yourself up as a bad lot. The world can't beat a man as long as he continues to believe in himself and is willing to do something about it.

FIFTY-SEVEN STORIES HIGH.

New York holds the lead on skyscrapers. The newly-completed Woolworth Building is 800 feet high above the ground and contains fifty-seven stories. Its water system is so perfect that a one-inch stream was thrown from the roof 100 feet horizontally and reached the ground in the form of spray. Fire Chief Webb, it is said by the Boston Monitor, recommended the government to use this water power in demolishing the old postoffice across Broadway when the time comes for it to be torn down.

The tremendous power of water was demonstrated in Washoe Valley, Nev., when there was found an orifice the size of a needle in the great steel main which conveyed to Virginia City the waters of a lake in the Sierras. The pressure was about 1000 feet and people living in the vicinity used to saw cord wood by passing a length of it to and fro over the orifice.

This is a frozen fact, but it sounds like a high-class Progressive campaign lie.

MARRIAGE AS A BUSINESS.

When a judge separates two persons he gives them what is called a decree of divorce, but in reality it is only a degree of indifference, neglect, pride, pain and spite. No one decree ever made a divorce. The trouble lies in the painful and slow degrees by which persons destroy their happiness. Marriage should be studied. Two people should never live in the faults of one another, but in their points of excellence. If a man and a woman tried half as hard to be attractive to each other after marriage as they did before, not one divorce in ten thousand ever happen. Men and women spend no end of time planning for a simple business deal or a party, and then they take the tremendously vital business of marriage for granted, never giving it either study or effort. It's the devil of a business to leave matches to be made in heaven. If they are they soon burn out unless supplied with plenty of fuel from the earth.

A TAWNATORIUM.

It is rumored that Tooplous, assisted by Holy Hiram and Gates Ajar, will at no very distant day establish a high-class yawn cure in Los Angeles.

According to a recent writer in Pearson's Monthly, yawning is Nature's method of cleaning the lungs and air passages. An ordinary breath does not completely fill the lungs, and an ordinary respiration does not empty them. There is always a quantity of residual air left in them. This air becomes foul and affects the blood and the nervous centers.

The best way to expel this foul air is by a yawn. A yawn stretches the lungs, fills them with fresh air, drives out the foul air, ventilates the passages leading to the lungs and improves the hearing of the yawner. Very big yawns will stretch and open the eustachian tubes, which communicate between the ear and the back of the throat.

At the Tooplous yawnatorium the patient will be seated in a comfortable chair and Holy Hiram will repeat nine times the fairy story of how he kicked the Southern Pacific out of politics, illustrated by waftings of his shepherd pedoheum. At the ninth repetition of his story the lower jaw of the patient will begin to relax and his eyelids to droop.

Gates Ajar will then administer the second course of treatment, which consists in mumbling in dulcet tones a defense of the freak bills for which he voted at Sacramento. This recitation of the distinguished State Senator causes the yawns to come thicker and faster.

Then Tooplous administers the final treatment, the coup de grace, as we say in Paree. He reads the editorials in his one-cent newspapers.

Then the eustachian tubes of the auditors dilate. With mouths as open as midnight saloons in the red-light district they yawn until the last atom of residual air is expelled from their lungs. The sound of jaws clicking is succeeded by the music of noses snoring. Silence and slumber reigns in the yawnatorium and no sound is heard save the twittering of Tooplous as he iterates and reiterates his argument in favor of calling another and another and still another bond election.

Why is it that the average laundry will insist on darning brown socks with purple?

TAKE HEED, TAKE HEED!

Orators talk glibly about a conflict between capital and labor. There may be differences which do not really amount to a conflict, between different kinds of labor, but there is no conflict between capital and labor, because there is, in the last analysis, no capital in existence that is not owned or controlled by labor. Every form of constructed property from a jack-knife to a 10,000-ton steamship, from a shack to a skyscraper, owes its existence to labor alone. Legislation which protects property is legislation which protects labor. Legislation which aids the creation and accumulations of capital adds to the opportunities of labor.

Take the history of the jack-knife. Miners are employed to mine iron ore, railroad hands are employed to transport the ore to the furnace, men are employed to smelt it into pigs, men are employed at the puddling works to transform the iron pigs into steel, men are employed at the rolling mill to transform the steel into sheets or beams, and men in different departments of a jack-knife factory are employed to make the knife.

The wages paid to the American workmen who made the knife are paid for food to American farmers, for clothing to another set of American workmen who tend and shear the sheep, who carry the wool to the factory, who spin and weave it into cloth, who cut and sew the cloth into garments.

The money paid to all these workers stays in this country. The dollar that goes into the pocket of each worker is a certificate that a lot of other workers have somewhere, sometime, somehow rendered one hundred cents' worth of services to society.

Now come the tariff architects of industrial ruin and flourish the Wilson-Underwood bill, with the club of Presidential patronage behind it, and say:

"Pay English miners to dig the ore in Wales; pay English smelters and puddlers to make the steel bars in Birmingham; let the fires be extinguished here and glow in German furnaces; let the forges be silenced here and clank in Belgian shops; let the jack-knife be made abroad and be brought here in a foreign ship. Let the wool from which the garment is made not be clipped from American sheep in charge of an American herder, whose wages are thirty dollars a month. Let it come from the back of an Argentine animal, clipped by a South American who works for seven dollars a month. Let it be spun and woven into cloth by foreign workmen who eat meat once a week and live in hovels, whose wives have a new gown once a year, and whose children are uneducated.

"Let the skilled workers of America confine themselves to the building trades, for we cannot bring over ready-built houses from Europe. Let those who cannot find employment there dig canals and cellars and construct railroad grades and work on the farms. Let the splendid industrial structure that within the last half-century has been built in our magnificent country be subjected to the earthquake shock of the tariff-for-revenue-only craze, and let the millions of American workmen who will be crushed beneath its ruins crawl out as best they can and go to Canada and compete with Hindus and Chinese and Japanese for bread, or die like the dogs they are in return for their folly in disrupting the Republican party—which has been their friend and the consistent advocate of their interests—and placing in power the untrained, incoherent, illogical combination of academicians, dreamers, cranks, asses and adventurers who style themselves Democrats and who are as far from true democracy—which seeks the welfare and not the degradation of workers—as the devil is from Gabriel."

The cloth of the White House is poised over the head of the Republican doctrine of protection with intent to extirpate it. It may descend. It will descend unless God puts enough conscience and courage and pity into the brains and hearts of four Democratic Senators to impel them to check the crazy, insane and unwarranted blow.

If the blow fall the vox populi will be the vox dei at the next election, and it will brand the Democratic destroyers with a brand that the coming ages will not see removed.

It is a painful duty that The Times performs in trying, at even this late day, to reach the patriotism of a few Senators who can prevent the calamity that is dangerously near. The Times could not avert it by silence. It might possibly aid to avert it by disinterested and earnest warning. It is not so greatly concerned for the solvency of vendors of commodities as it is for the welfare of those whose toil makes the commodities. It appeals to a few Senators who have the power to check the disaster to take counsel of their patriotism rather than their Democracy. It begs them in the name of God to take heed what they do.

TROUBLE BETWEEN CHINA AND MONGOLIA.

Mongolia declines to be considered a part of the new Chinese republic and asserts her right and her purpose to maintain her right to separate and independent sovereignty.

Her history justifies her claim. On the maps Mongolia has never been depicted as a part of the Chinese Empire. The great wall built by the Chinese of former centuries to define their boundaries runs along her southern boundary, and divides her from China proper, and her northern boundary is the Russian frontier. The only access of her people to the Pacific Ocean by water is by small boats on the Hoang Ho.

The central part of Mongolia is a vast irreclaimable, uninhabited desert 300,000 square miles in extent and 4220 feet above sea level.

The Mongols, as described in Colton's atlas, "are of the middle size, but muscular and strongly built; their faces broad, square and flat; noses particularly low and flat; eyes small, oblique, black and keen; thick lips, short chin, with very little beard, and large and prominent ears; hair black and strong, almost wholly shaven out, excepting a little tuft on the crown. They live principally on milk, butter and cheese. Horse flesh is considered a delicacy, but the wealthy only can indulge in it. Their favorite national liquor, as among all the Tartar nations, is koumiss—fermented mare's milk—in which they often indulge to excess. In religion they are Buddhists."

Genghis Khan in the thirteenth century united the different races of China under his sway and made the Mongols a part of his empire. His son, Oktai, extended his conquests and, with the aid of the Mongols, entered Russia, devastated large portions of it, pillaged Moscow, entered Poland and threatened all Germany with destruction until his progress was arrested by a great defeat at Wahlstatt. After the death of Oktai in 1243 all further attempts on Europe ceased, but the Chinese Empire continued to flourish until, half a century later, it stretched from the Chinese Sea west to the frontiers of Poland, and from Hindostan north to the frontiers of Siberia.

In the seventeenth century the Manchus invaded China and placed their leader's son upon the throne. They made the Manchu language the court and the official language and ruled the empire until the recent revolution. But Mongolia has always been held as a tributary territory and not as a part of the empire, and the Mongolians have had tribal governments, each with its own khan or prince, the only sign of Chinese authority being the presence among them of a Manchu viceroy who was practically without authority.

The Manchu dynasty being now down and out, the head of the local government of Mongolia has addressed a letter to Yuan Shih Kai, pointing out that Mongolia and China have always been separate countries though both were governed by the Manchu dynasty, and that when that dynasty fell and its organization thus became non-existent, the Mongolian people were obliged to form a government of their own, and that this was the natural outcome of events.

The "Gegen"—as the head of the Mongolian government is called—further points out—according to a correspondent of the Boston Monitor—that he has no intention of standing in the way of Yuan Shih Kai, but that he has also no intention of recognising the Chinese republic prior to the other nations of the world.

"He declares that no bonds exist between Mongolia and China beyond that of having been at one time under the Manchu rule. Consequently, in his opinion, the interference of China in Mongolian affairs is entirely unjustified and in view of the unrest, bordering on revolution, everywhere in evidence in China, it is absurd for the Peking government to think of annexing Mongolia, which is, and always has been, an entirely separate country."

In this communication the "Gegen" trusts that Yuan Shih Kai will take all this into consideration and abandon the pretensions of the Chinese government, and by this means arrive at a peaceful solution of the question. If, however, the Chinese government should persist in endeavoring to impose their authority on Mongolia the Mongolians will resist to the utmost of their power and will not hesitate to resort to arms.

EUGENICS IN OREGON.

The triumph of eugenics in Oregon will strip the treasuries of the counties bordering on the Columbia River of a considerable sum hitherto derived from marriage licenses. In Portland alone last year a total revenue of $10,953 was obtained from such licenses at $3 each.

Under the new law no license will be issued unless the intending groom first obtains a medical certificate that he is of sound mind and free from any transmissible disease. The cost of obtaining such a certificate will probably vary according to the conscience of the doctor and the worldly means and liberality of the applicant. An examination may be extended over several days. It may be stethoscopic, microscopic, retrospective, introspective, biological, chronological, historical and analytical, and may, in some cases, include an inquiry into the death and sanity of the father and mother of the applicant.

Webfoot candidates for domestic felicity are refusing to submit either their bodies or their purses to the scrutiny of medical examiners. They avoid it all by a half hour's journey into the liberal State of Washington, the common-sense laws of which have not been monkeyed with by a syndicate of experimenters in eugenics.

The County Clerks, and the preachers, and the justices of the peace in Portland are wearing crape upon their left arms for their lost opportunities of revenue from attendance on Hymen's court, and the corresponding officials in Washington are as happy and content as the historical boarders at Swimley, and the young people have discovered that the marital knot can be tied as fast and as hard in Washington as in Oregon, and what is a half-hour's trip addition to a life journey? It is a safe prediction that the next Oregon Legislature will put the grand kibosh on the eugenics law, if indeed the County Clerks and the clergymen of Oregon shall not in the meantime inaugurate a movement to referendum it out of existence.

"Foster Child of Special Interests."

SAM HOUSTON'S ROMANCE.

A local bride made her husband win his spurs before she accepted him. He was a perfectly good policeman, but she told him he ought to be more. He became a desk sergeant and she was still dissatisfied. Then he studied law and when he passed his examination she married him and they are happy. We are glad that she is having a sunnier experience than the white wife of Sam Houston. It may be that the romance which we are here about to relate has never been fully told in print before. Houston was born in Loudon county, Tennessee. He married the day he was elected Governor and that same night he left his bride and he left the State, never returning to either. Why he did so was a great mystery to the populace. It was a mystery because of its simplicity. When Houston fell in love with his wife he was a constable. She told him she would never marry a constable, but would marry him if he became a sheriff. When he was elected Sheriff she told him he would have to go to the Legislature. He went, but by that time she wanted a Congressman for a husband. Houston ran for Congress from the Third District and when he was elected she still refused him, but promised him that if he could be elected Governor she would marry him on the day of his inauguration. She had fooled him once too often. There burned in the heart of this man a fire of vengeance which punished the object of its scorn with a bitterness which only a great man or a monster could have contemplated. Houston was elected Governor, married his sweetheart of years on the eve of his inauguration and, without a kiss on her forehead, stole away into the night, disappointing a whole State in order to be avenged on one woman. Nor did his punishment stop with desertion. Going to the other extreme, he left the side of a southern belle to consort with an Indian squaw in Texas and had children by her before the great power of the man placed him in the Governor's chair of another State. What a lesson in the pride of place!

UNCLE WALT.

The Post Philosopher.

"All things are going to the dogs," the also ran remarks; "the government is slipping cogs; it's run by cranks and sharks. The voters turn down men like me, and elevate cheap skates, so how can aught but ruin be in these United States?" "Our prison system is a fake," the cattle thief complains; "it is a shame that I must break up rock in rusty chains. The whole blamed thing should be reformed; the convict has no rights; give him a cell that's nicely warmed and fixed with tungsten lights." "All things are wrong," says Out-and-Down, "on this dodgasted sphere; the peelers run me out of town whenever I appear. Because I am opposed to work on principle, I'm slugged; why should a conscientious shirk be chivied round and jugged?" The man who dallies with the booze with grumblings fills the street because he has no overshoes when snow is three feet deep. The man who loafs the hours away beneath the summer skies is sore because he must eat hay when others have their pies. And thus it is all round, I wist, and will be till we die; whene'er a man's a pessimist, we guess the reason why.

CROESUS AND LOVE.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Can a millionaire be loved for himself alone? It is quite horrid to be loved for anything else.

The Baron de Rothschild thinks not. Possibly he knows. He is one of the twelve richest men in the world, so his opinion should be treated respectfully. He has just written a play called "Croesus" which is being produced in London, in which a poor, sad millionaire goes through the world seeking someone who will love him for himself alone—and he fails utterly.

The play is quite serious. Millionaires mostly are serious, you know. Wherefore it is most uncalled for to laugh when we learn in the course of the play from the poor millionaire's own lips that life is all vanity and vexation of spirit because both—BOTH, mind you—his mistresses are unfaithful to him.

Oh, it is too, too cruel. Especially, as he assures us, he has given them everything in the world they could wish for. Including, of course, a full half share of his love and devotion.

But I decline to take this particular millionaire's experiences as an answer to the question. I don't think he can really have expected to find love—for himself alone—in the particular places he sought it. The two charmers in the play who wickedly deceive him are named Yvonne and Marcel—and they are that kind of lady. Now, you know, even millionaires, who seem to have an extraordinary monopoly of ignorance, know very well that the Yvonnes and Marcels of this world specialize in millionaires as clients and—well, dash it all, business is business and sentiment would be very ill-timed and out of place.

But, you see, the poor, dear millionaire lives in Paris in the Baron's play—and, as everyone knows, nobody ever gets married in Paris if they can help it, in novels and plays, at all events; so he was evidently forced to the trial-marriage plan. And to save time—for I am afraid the poor thing was rapidly getting older—he tried two damsels at the same time and found them both wanting.

But that should not have discouraged him. Having decided upon that system for discovering true love, it seems a pity to have abandoned it so early.

But we do hope his experience will not discourage other hopeful and ambitious millionaires. Although Socialism would welcome the idea, I do not really believe that millionaires are specifically barred from true love. His money need not necessarily break his heart. After all, when one hunts for gold one usually selects a district where one can reasonably expect to find gold. One does not gather wild flowers in a pigsty.

A very good plan, too, is falling in love oneself. That is a far more wonderful experience than having someone else love you. And there is nothing in the world to prevent the poor, dear millionaire enjoying this ecstacy. After all, even an ordinary man with an average income will admit that love is a one-sided affair. One loves, and one consents to be loved.

And while being loved is adorable, of course, loving is more worth while. And loving means sacrifice, giving up. Loving means courage and smiles and hope. Loving means strength in adversity, patience, prayer.

If the Baron de Rothschild really means what his play indicates he is a subject for great pity. His ignorance and warped vision must be sad indeed. It would seem that it is not exactly his money that is the prime cause in the millionaire's inability to find true love, but rather what his money has succeeded in making of him. Perhaps just the fact of owning so much money has made him consequential, selfish, querulous, difficult to please and unpleasing.

The sumptuous air of affluence is very impressive, but rarely lovable. It may be that the millionaire's money is really all there is to like about him sometimes. He often expects it to make up for a very great deal that is lacking. That indefinable attitude of preparedness to purchase is apt to kindle the mercantile spirit and attract the people who want to sell.

Still, we need not really pity the poor millionaire. There is a wonderful law of compensation working for good in this dear old world. Some of us are rich in some ways and some in others—and most of us in the form that we cherish most. Those that really appraise love above all things can generally get it if they are prepared to make the sacrifice.

THE PURSUIT OF THE FLEA.

[Roy K. Moulton in Topeka State Journal:] One of our valued contributors has sent in the following receipt for catching fleas, which will be of interest now that the flea season is upon us with both feet:

Get a rope twenty feet long, toss one end of it in the air and leave it there. Fasten the other end of the rope to a stake. At the top of the rope is a cage. Scientists and bugologists tell us that fleas are very fond of cheese, so you place a piece of cheese in the cage.

The flea is walking along on the ground, and when he gets to where the rope is he hears the cheese. So he climbs the rope, hand over hand, and when he reaches the top he enters the cage, but he knows not where to go therefrom. While the flea is eating the cheese you place a dish of ice cream alongside of the stake. You then climb up the rope half-way and cut a piece out of the rope, but the flea does not know this. He starts to climb down the rope and when he gets to the open space, which you have cut out, he falls into the ice cream and freezes to death.

Another good way to exterminate fleas is to spread Japanese snuff on a large piece of cheese in the pantry. The flea sneezes itself to death.

Still another way to exterminate fleas is to beat them on the head with a sledge hammer.

"After the Coon."

[National Monthly:] A Presbyterian minister by the name of Haynes was once traveling through the wilds of West Virginia. One Sunday evening late he called a halt at a log cabin by the road and gave a halloo, when a woman came to the door.

Haynes said: "Where is your husband?"

"He went coon hunting. He killed two whopping big coons last Sunday."

"Doesn't your husband fear the Lord?"

"Oh, yes; he always takes his gun with him."

"Are there any Presbyterians in this country?"

"I don't know whether he has killed 'any' Presbyterians or not. You can go out to the shed and look at the hides and see."

FOURTH ELLIS CLUB CONCERT.

Admirably Selected Programme Ably Conducted.

The Ensemble of Chorus, Pleasing Soloists.

Symphonic Ode of "The Desert" Well Rendered.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

After seventeen years the Ellis Club may truly be proud of the last concert of the season.

The programme presented last night at the Auditorium was the best in [illegible] and the attendance at the fourth [illegible] greater than ever before.

The selection of numbers and of [illegible] as well as the admirable di[illegible] of a practically faultless pro[illegible] is a credit to J. B. Poulin, [illegible] director of the organization.

In the first part of the programme [illegible] numbers were given: Ham[illegible] "The Dawn," by the club with [illegible] M. Hennion Robinson at the [illegible] and Ray Hastings at the organ, [illegible] by Reginald de Koven's [illegible] Dorothea."

YALE DEFEATS HARVARD MEN.

Shut Out Results from Good Pitchers' Battle.

Ex-President Taft Among Twenty Thousand.

Long Childish Wrangle Over Switch in Pitchers.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW HAVEN (Conn.) June 17.—[Special Dispatch.] The largest commencement crowd ever at Yale saw Harvard defeated in a well played baseball game here today by the score of 2 to 0. A rough estimate would make the crowd at least 20,000. It filled every possible and available seat in all the grandstands and bleachers and even temporary chairs placed about wherever a hole could be found. It overflowed into the track stands, far in the rear of the playing field and around the temporary fence from right to left field it crowded itself ten deep among the automobiles.

TAFT IS THERE.

The presence of William Howard Taft marching proudly and smilingly, in his class of 1878, back for their thirty-fifth reunion, received most attention. About 100 members of the class were back—remarkable for such an old class—and have been entertained by Prof. and Mrs. Taft.

The members of the class of 1910 were dressed as cowboys and roped everything in sight with their lariats. The class of 1912 also had a reunion, with over a hundred marching as sailors, an innovation for so young a class to reunite. The class of 1907 were dressed as messenger boys and ran through the crowd selecting pretty girls to deliver and receive messages from. They also had all kinds of bikes, from the ancient high wheelers to the most modern and succeeded in running into most everything on the field.

Each class from "1432" up had its costume and special feature to amuse the large crowd. Once the antics were over, both teams settled down to play ball after the 1910 class boys had tossed the first ball.

LONG WRANGLE.

Then followed an unseemingly fifteen minute wrangle by Capt. Wingate of Harvard that annoyed every one present at the game and finally the crowd got to hooting and yelling "play ball" and Umpire Kelly became disgusted and after several peremptory orders were ignored by Harvard, ordered the game started within two minutes. It all started over the announcement by the umpire that Frye would pitch.

Just before the game started Harvard switched to Hitchcock and at first Coach Quimby and Capt. Blossom objected unless Frye would at least start to pitch. Finally Capt. Blossom gave his consent to pitch Hitchcock and then Capt. Wingate evidently concluded he wanted to pitch Frye. Yale took the field several times, but Wingate refused to play until finally Capt. Blossom turned his back on the Harvard captain on the field and refused to talk with him and Umpire Kelly got disgusted and gave Capt. Wingate a calling down. Then the game started after the Yale hands drew a laugh by striking up "We Won't Go Home Until Morning." The score:

HAWAIIANS ENTER SWIMMING MEET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Entries for sixteen swimmers, to compete in the Pacific Coast championship meet to be held in San Francisco at Sutro Baths on the fourth and fifth of July, were received today by W. F. Coffman, manager of the meet.

The list includes seven men from the Healani Boating and Yachting Club and nine from the Hui Nalu Club. The swimmers will leave Honolulu today for San Francisco on the Wilhelmina, arriving in port Tuesday.

No women swimmers are included in the entries, and only one novice, Robert Kaawa, but it may be possible that the Luriine brought in some entries last night.

Those entered are as follows:

Duke Kahanamoku, D. Keaweamahi, W. H. King, Vincent Genoves, Hiram Kahele, Lukela Kaupiko, C. W. Hustace, F. Wilhelm and Robert Kaawa of the Hui Nalu Club; George Cunha, Lawrence Cunha, Allen Cunha, Frank Kruger, Walter Grace, J. B. Lightfoot and E. W. Low of the Healani Club.

WINNING SCORES IN TOURNAMENT.

Vincent Hayes won first prize in the single tournament at the Ocean Park session of the Southern California Bowling Association Sunday with a total of 633 pins for three games; Hartley was second, with 615; Darrow third, 575, and Payne took fourth on 577.

Doubles were won by Shay and Hartley, first, with 1179; Stasch and Ballard second, with 1082; Grazier and Shafer third, with 1078, and Laughon and Steele fourth, with 1067.

As previously announced, the four winners in the team tournament were Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, Steele and Turner, No. 1, Colton Cement Company, and Hammond Lumber Company, on the respective totals of 2865, 2866, 2614 and 2574.

Three mixed double teams, Mrs. Scott-Mackenzie, Mrs. Laphamm-Strawn and Mrs. Johnson-Meador, found themselves without other opponents for the special prize, and the event was canceled for lack of sufficient entries.

NEW COACH STRONG FOR SHORT SEASON.

Now that Boyd Comstock is to guide the destinies of the U.S.C. track and field team, it is a cinch that the Trojan cinder knights will not be forced to enter more than two meets per month.

During the season just passed the team won easily when the meets were placed two weeks apart, then the press of the season came and the men were forced to enter a hard meet every week, the result was that the bunch went stale and blew up. Next year the season is to be made up of important meets at intervals of two weeks.

TIGERS WIN IN ELEVENTH.

Hard Battle Decided by Dick Bayless's Homer.

Brilliant Fielding and Costly Bobbles.

Each Club Scores Four Runs in the Fifth.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Supreme glory was reflected on the tribe of Bayless yesterday in the eleventh inning, when Dick heroically swatted the pill to the center field fence, thereby preventing the sandwich man from declaring an extra dividend.

When Richard delivered the knockout punch the score was 6 to 6, and the crowd in a high degree of excitement, for it had been a game calculated to frazzle a strong man's nerves.

Los Angeles bulged to the front with one run in the first, and Venice came back with the mate to it in the second. The fifth was a woozy inning. The Tigers apparently tucked the game away with four runs in this round, but the Angels kept the thing even by hanging up an equal number in their half.

Venice again took a fleeting lead in the seventh, scoring one run, but the Angels were there with the necessary score to tie it up in the same inning.

From that time on until Bayless got in his deadly work, the afternoon was scoreless and serene.

VERY ENJOYABLE.

Paradoxically, it was one of the worst and yet one of the best games of the year. It was featured by brilliant plays, and honeycombed with errors at critical times. Rube Ellis went after Raleigh's fly in the fifth like a farmer and it got away from him for three bases, but he made the fans forget this with a hair-raising running catch of Bayless's fly in the same inning. Brashear fozzled Johnson's pop-up in the fifth in a way to let two runs score, but he practically saved the game by his clever handling of Hoag's low heave in the last half of the eleventh.

When it settled down to a question of unadulterated agony of mind and spirit, the fans got a run for their money.

It so happened that Bayless was the first man up in the eleventh. That is an important position to hold with the score tied. Dick didn't waste much time fooling around the plate. He simply saw one to his liking and socked it way out between Maggert and Ellis. It took both of these speedy outfielders back to the fence at top speed. Bayless beat the series of relays in by yards. It was a bona fide home run.

This was the deciding blow. Five more Tigers were up in this inning, but none of them reached the plate, while the Angels were whipped in one-two-three order in the last half.

THERE AT FINISH.

Raleigh made a bad start batting Page, the first man to face him, but he was there at the finish. Whereas Bill Toser, who opened auspiciously, was nowhere to be found in the eleventh. Ellis turned the job over to Chech as early as the fifth inning.

Page's walk, followed by spirited hitting by Moore and Maggert, gave the Angeles their first marker. This early batting seemed to point to an

DUNDEE WINS BATTLE BUT WHITE SURPRISES.

Jack Leads Johnny for Eleven Rounds on Points and Clean Punching, but Weakens Toward the End—Dundee Maintains Fast Pace All the Way—White Seems to Have Come Back a Good Deal.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

DUNDEE'S REMARKS.

"It was a good fight, wasn't it?

"I tried to make it fast and get the people to holler all the time.

"White didn't bother me much, and I felt better at the end of the twentieth round than I did at the end of the first. He hurt me a couple of times with punches in the stomach, and one was too low and hurt me so much that it made me wild.

"I took several punches that I didn't need to, just to encourage White and get him to fight fast and hard."

JOHNNY DUNDEE won a twenty-round decision over Jack White after one of the best twenty-round contests seen at Vernon for many months. It was Jack's fight up to the eleventh round on points, and clean, solid hitting.

He surprised his friends by his great showing. It was Dundee's aggressiveness that forced Jack to fight as fast as he did, and had he been in the wonderful condition that Johnny was he might have won the contest. From the eleventh round on, he began to tire, but still took several rounds after the tenth. Dundee did not prove the hitter that we expected he would be.

After the fight Jack complained that he hurt his right hand in the second round, and it was noticed that he didn't use it at all after the tenth. This no doubt handicapped him greatly. Considering the five days' time he had to train, he put up a wonderful fight, and should be given another chance with more time.

Jack's body blows took a lot of steam out of Johnny on several occasions, and twice during the contest nearly stopped him. But he did not seem to realize the damage he was doing.

Dundee landed quite a number of solid punches on Jack's face with each hand, but did not seem to distress him in the least, clearly proving that he is not a hard hitter and would stand little chance with several of the top-notch lightweights.

Dundee was the first to enter the ring and took the southwest corner. He was seconded by his manager, Scotty Monteith, Harry Carter, Jim Smith, and Sammy Morris. White was seconded by his new manager, Joe Levy, Harry Atwood, Nick Lewis and Earl Mohan, his trainer.

Charles Le Doux, the little French bantam champion, was introduced and well received by the crowd. He then walked over and shook hands with Johnny Dundee and very politely kissed him on the forehead. Johnny was so surprised and embarrassed that he nearly fell off his chair. The Frenchman made a great hit with the crowd. The crowd then began to call for Charley Eyton and after a few moments he appeared in the ring much to the delight of the audience. Dundee looked in much better condition than White.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

Both lead lefts to the face and miss. White puts a straight hard left to the face and Dundee a right to the jaw.

FRANK BAKER STARTS DISASTER WITH HOMER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—Bodie's home run saved Chicago from a shut-out today by Philadelphia in the first game of the series. The score was 7 to 1. The scoring started in the second, when Baker made a home run. Scott pitched good ball, but was taken out in the seventh to make room for a pinch hitter. Lange, who pitched the eighth inning, was touched up for five hits, including a double, and four runs. Alnsmith was very steady and, outside of Bodie's drive, the White Sox had little chance to score. The score:

TIGERS-BOSTON EVEN SPLIT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, June 17.—Detroit made it a split for the day with Boston by taking the afternoon game, 4 to 3, principally on timely hitting and uncertain work by Bedient. Boston took the morning game, 7 to 4.

Earl Mosely, the recruit pitcher from Youngstown, made a successful debut against Detroit in one of Boston's twirling corps in the morning. He held the visitors to six scattered hits, while the Red Sox rallied Reulbach off the mound in five innings. Three long running pitches by Hooper were fielding features. The score:

BATTING RALLY WINS FOR SOLONS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A batting rally in the sixth inning by Washington won the first game of the series from Cleveland, 6 to 4. Hughes replaced Mullin in the fourth inning and the locals gave him great support, the feature of the day being a triple play by Gandil and McBride. A fast double play in the eighth also killed a threatened rally by the visitors.

DETROIT SCOUT IS AFTER BUTLER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, June 17.—James McGuire, scout for the Detroit club, is in Stockton trying to prevail upon Manager Thomas of the Producers to give him Johnnie Butler, the speedy shortstop, subject to immediate report. The price offered is $4500. McGuire offered $2500 for Joe Wilhelt, fast outfielder, subject to report July 1. Thomas has rejected both offers. McGuire will go to San Jose tomorrow with the Producers to witness the opening game of the series to be played in that city.

HAM'S HAMMER.

I believe that one reason why some fellows like to go camping is because they can't find a water hole in the creek big enough to take a bath in.

A lot more good men would study to be prize fighters if they could get along without a manager. Still, so many of us have to have someone sticking around constantly to tell us that we can lick any fellow in the country.

The fact that the Arcadia race track is kept in pretty good shape all the time makes me think that the bookmakers are going to raise cavalry horses there again as soon as they can get the Legislature to repeal that anti-gambling law.

The local sports who are figuring on that race track down at Tia Juana might as well go ahead. All they will have to do is to let all the Federals and the rebels, too, in on which one in the caucus nominee for each race, and neither side can close up the track then.

BROWNS POUND YANKEE HEAVERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 17.—St. Louis hit three New York pitchers for twelve hits, aggregating twenty bases and defeated the locals in the first game of the series today, 7 to 4. Baumgardner, who started to pitch for St. Louis, also was hit hard, but Hamilton checked the locals. Williams made three singles and a triple in five times up. Stovall hit a triple, a double and a single and drew a pass in five times up.

COAST CREW BREAKS RECORD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The University of Washington four oared crew sprang a big surprise tonight when it rowed a two-mile time trial in 9:55, beating the record of 10:01, made by the Cornell four in 1895. The Coast four started under favorable conditions but it was hardly expected that they would establish a new record for the course. They rowed 36 strokes to the minute for the first two minutes and then dropped the beat down to 34, which they maintained to the finish.

The first mile they covered in 5:01 and the last in 4:57. It was one of the best trials that has been held on the course this year and the Washington oarsmen are certain that they will be able to show the way on Saturday when the races are held. The varsity eight also had a time trial this evening but the time was not announced.

SEALS WIN OUT IN TENTH SPASM.

Score Tied in Ninth Due to Johnston's Speed.

Errors Figure Largely for Both Teams.

Beavers Appear to Have Battle Cinched.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Errors by the Portland Beavers booted away today's ten-inning game for the Oregonians, the Seals coming from behind to win out at the close by a score of 5 to 3. Incidentally, it was some finish to a game that seemed hopelessly lost for the San Francisco boys. With two down in the ninth and a man on third, Jimmy Johnston's speed so upset Third Sacker Lindsay that he fumbled the grounder and then hesitated before throwing to first. Johnston beat the ball and the score was finally tied. There was another error by Derrick in the tenth and one by Kores, too, which figured in getting over the final and deciding tally.

As for that matter, however, both Portland's runs were made on two muffs by Walter Cartwright, on third base. The third was Charley Fanning's only real bad inning and after getting over that he pitched effective ball, although he was hit consistently throughout the contest.

In the ninth Fanning retired to let Del Howard walk for him and start the rally and so Jess Baker went in for the tenth inning and gets credit for the victory. Hagerman for Portland also quit before the finish. He walked Howard and dished out three balls to Mundorff in the ninth and McCredie promptly called a halt and sent in Higginbotham.

Fanning broke his no-base-on-balls record in the second and followed it up in the third with a streak of wildness. He walked Derrick and then hit Bill Rodgers. Lindsay forced Derrick at third with a grounder to Cartwright. Kores hit to Fanning and Rodgers was killed off at third. In trying for a double play Cartwright threw the ball over first and Lindsay scored. Later, Schmidt caught Kores off second and with the runner trapped, Cartwright made a muff at third that scored the run.

Those two runs looked very costly in the face of Sip Hagerman's airtight pitching. He distributed four hits and was going great until Howard sent himself in the ninth inning as a pinch hitter. Del walked and sent in McCorry to run for him. When Hagerman threw three balls and no strikes to Mundorff, Higginbotham was rushed to the rescue. Hig got by nicely after Bush had given him the best of the first ball pitched for Mundy grounded out to Rodgers. Charles slammed one to center which looked like curtains, but Chadbourne took it up against the boards. McCorry raced to third after the catch and came home when Lindsay passed up Johnston's hard grounder. Jimmy stole second amid great applause but Hogan grounded out for the third out. Score:

CUBS AGAIN HUMBLE THE MIGHTY PHILLIES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 17.—Chicago made it two straight from Philadelphia, shutting out the league leaders, 4 to 0, today. The locals bunched their hits off Brennan, who started for the visitors. In the third he was replaced by Moore, who held the locals hitless for the remainder of the game. Smith, although hit hard, was given excellent support, and on several occasions the fielding of Tommy Leach prevented the visitors from scoring.

Otto Knabe, who recently was suspended by President Lynch, received word today that he is in good standing, and took up his position at second base. The score:

GIANTS WAR CLUB TINKER'S HEAVERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CINCINNATI (O.) June 17.—New York batted two of the Cincinnati pitchers out of the box in the first three innings of today's game and won from the locals 8 to 2. Packard started the game, but Ames relieved him in the third. Ames, however, was given such a warm reception that he was succeeded by Hartley.

Toscum, pitched effectively, but gave six bases on balls. Fromme and Hartley, who finished the game, pitched good ball, the former allowing only two hits and one run and the latter four hits and no runs.

New York's second run was the result of a home run drive by Snodgrass.

MARTY O'TOOLE PITCHES FINE BALL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, June 17.—Marty O'Toole pitched one of the best games of his career this afternoon, but lost to Boston 1 to 0. Carey's muff of Connolly's fly in the seventh inning lost him his game. Perdue was master of the Pittsburghs at all stages, holding them to four scattered hits.

ROGERS IS RELEASED BY LOS ANGELES CLUB.

Jake Hofman, Former Cub, Is Tiger Possibility at First Base—President Maier Is Willing to Pay Big Money for Pitcher and Catcher — Is Offered Jersey for First Baseman.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

"Sorry, but it is impossible to do anything for you now. May be able to help you later," read the wire.

"The real trouble is that players say of the major league managers are willing to sell are not really fast enough for this league," continued Maier. "The Coast League is now practically a major organization, and this makes it difficult to get men of the necessary caliber in an emergency of this kind. There are any number of players available, but they would be jokers in this circuit. We are in the market for high class men, and if we can get the right ones, money will be no object."

"Just now it is doubly difficult to get players, for there are few managers in any league, big or little, who are willing at this stage of the race to part with a man who may be of the least value to them.

"Last winter it would have been less difficult to secure players, but at that time there was no way of foreseeing the present predicament. The club had finished within a fraction of a game of the pennant, and on the basis of actual merit, should have won it. In the meantime, Gerlin was added to the pitching staff, and there was every reason to believe that he would increase its effectiveness. Later Ferguson was purchased. The club certainly figured to finish not worse than one-two, and I will admit that I am bitterly disappointed in their showing thus far.

"The idea of rebuilding the club is by no means pleasant, for we have certainly had a happy baseball family, but we must have results. That is why we are in the market for additional talent."

Major Leon Johnson.

While in the north Maier saw the Tiger-Seal series and also that between Oakland and San Francisco last week. During this time he made a close study of Jimmy Johnston, and arrived at the conclusion that Jimmy is the major part of the Frisco club.

"I don't mean to say that he is the whole team," said Maier, "but he certainly is a large portion of it. When Johnston gets on first base it is a pretty fair sign that he will score. He has the faculty of getting an enormous lead, and seldom fails when he starts to steal a base. His daring work on the bases tends to demoralize the opposing club. He is certain to go to the major league next season if he can hold up in his batting."

BEACH COMBERS LOSE FIRST GAME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONG BEACH, June 17.—The Beach Combers back from a successful series at San Bernardino, met the San Diego leaders today and lost the first game of the series in an exciting contest, when with the game lost by a good margin in the ninth they made a rally on Wells, had scored three runs and had men on bases with none out. Townsley replaced Wells and retired the next three batsmen. Henselman pitched a good game but weakened towards the last.

The Filipinos, this season, have defeated both the Waseda and Keio Jaochoon university nine.

NO CHANGE IN DUCK LIMITS.

Ed Tufts received a telegram from Sacramento yesterday in which it was stated that Gov. Johnson had vetoed what is known as the fifteen-duck limit bill, and had signed the non-sale game bill, which goes for every month except November.

This means that the duck limit this coming season will be twenty-five, which is the same as at present.

Tigers Win.

emotional afternoon, and the symptoms became even more pronounced in the second when the Tigers scored a run on singles by Litschi, Moep and Meloan. They would have realized more heavily had not Maggert picked off Elliott's long fly while going at top speed and doubled Hoop at second.

The first real uprising took place in the fifth. Raleigh opened with a long drive to left. Ellis misjudged the link, got part of one hand on the ball and then followed it to the fence. Raleigh reached third. Toser walked O'Rourke and Bayless, filling the bases, and turned the ball over to Chech.

Ellis made a great catch of Bayless's fly, but he was forced to go so deep that it was no trick for Raleigh to score. Carlisle and O'Rourke advanced on a wild pitch. Brashear was passed and the bases were again filled. Litschi forced Carlisle at the plate on a drive to Chech. Boles tried for a double on Lou at first, and threw the ball into right field. O'Rourke scored on this and Brashear came in when the truant sphere escaped Howard. Litschi was singled home by Hoop. Meloan hit to right, and Hoop was thrown out by Howard trying to reach third on the drive.

ANGELS SCORE FOUR.

The Angels squandered no time in getting them back. With one out in the last half, Ellis, Moore and Maggert smashed the ball into center field in a way to make Raleigh lose confidence in humanity. A single by Metzger, following Howard's out, put two runs over the pan. Johnson popped up a fly near first that looked harmless, but which, aided by the wind, grrated slightly out of its course. Brashear had a hard time judging it, and was greatly mortified when the sphere struck on the side of his glove and glanced into the center of the diamond. Metzger and Maggert, already under way, had no trouble in reaching the plate. This wiped out the Venice lead, which a few minutes before had seemed insurmountable. Boles was embalmed on a grounder to Hoop, ending the outbreak.

Hits by Bayless and Brashear and a sacrifice fly by Litschi, put the Tigers in front for a moment in the seventh. The Angels reclaimed this one immediately. Howard singled and was thrown out stealing. Raleigh then cracked Metzger's tibia with an inshoot. Art Krueger made his local debut as a substitute thumper for Johnson and forced Metzger at second. O'Rourke tried for a double at first and threw the ball away. Art ambling to second. Boles sent the expatriated Portlander in with a hit to left and Chech retired the side by jamming Boles into a forceout at second. Four innings later Bayless relieved the agony.

Who has made the all-American cricket team and also made a wonderful record while playing here. Experts say he is one of the greatest players in the history of the pastime.

HIGGINS TO PLAY WITH ALL-AMERICAN TEAM.

BY MARSHALL TAYLOR.

THE American Cricket Association has elected P. J. Higgins of the Los Angeles Cricket Club to be a member of the All-Star American team, which is to play Canada and the Australians this summer at Philadelphia, New York and Toronto. In addition to these matches, Higgins has been chosen to play for the combined eleven of Canada and the United States against the Australian team now touring the States.

Higgins was chosen seventh of all the cricketers in America, on account of his wonderful hitting powers, brilliant fielding and general all 'round excellence. Last year he established a new record in cricket for the United States and Canada, when he scored seven centuries. He is the first local cricketer to have scored over 1000 runs in a single season.

The all-star eleven which has been chosen to meet Canada and the Australians is as follows: J. B. King of Belmont, P. H. Clark of Germantown, T. C. Jordan of Germantown, C. C. Morris of Merion, H. A. Furness of Moorestown, W. P. Newhall of Germantown, P. J. Higgins of Los Angeles, T. Smith of Chicago, A. Hoskings of New York, J. L. Foyer of Brooklyn and C. Page of Beverly.

All of the above players have international records, many of them having played for their county, university and on the All-England, All-Australian and All-American teams in past years.

P. J. Higgins established several records at Vineyard last year. The first was when he scored 340 runs not out against the Wanderers. The second when he scored four centuries in succession and the third when he scored 1088 runs for the entire season. His batting average for nine innings netted him 180.33, an average which has never been equaled or exceeded in the United States.

At Del Monte.

YOUNGSTER THROWS SCARE INTO STATE CHAMPION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DEL MONTE, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the second day of the twenty-sixth annual Pacific Coast championship tennis tournament, twenty-two matches were contested. The play was confined to men's singles, women's singles, men's doubles and women's handicap singles, and, for the most part, consisted of the elimination of the weaker players.

Several meetings between the experts occurred, and they brought out the prettiest kind of tennis. The sensation of the day was a spectacular match between Roland Roberts and William Johnston, the State champion. Johnston, who is only 18 years old and is regarded as a wonderful player, was nearly overmatched by Roberts, who is four years younger. Roberts captured the first set at 6-4 through cool, sound judgment in using a very severe and accurate side-line drive and fine overhead work, which enabled him to take the net with safety when opportunity offered.

In the second set Roberts had the lead at 5-3, but finally lost out at 4-6, 8-6, 6-2. For two long sets he kept his famous opponent in anxiety, but was unable to maintain the pace in the third set.

Roberts has shown a more striking improvement in general play in the past two months than has been shown by any person on record in this State.

Another fine match was played between Strachan and Gardner. The former won by clever placing and a most perfect control, and, although Gardner played him close all the time, he only managed to take three games in the two sets.

In the women's singles the two strongest candidates for championship honors—Miss Van Vliet, woman champion of California, and Miss Myers, San Francisco city champion—met in the first round. Miss Van Vliet won after a hard struggle in the first set, and had an easy time in the second. The scores were 6-3, 6-1.

Strachan and Griffin won a good match in the men's doubles from R. D. Bates and Henry Breck. Strachan and Griffin played in fine form, but were held nearly even by their opponents. Of the four men, Breck, perhaps, excelled in driving and held his own in overhead work, while Bates gave him fine support.

The summary of play:

Men's singles, third round: C. Griffin beat B. Detrick, 6-1, 6-3; H. Breck beat R. Nourse, 6-0, 6-3; W. Johnston beat R. Roberts, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2; J. C. Rohlfs beat C. D. Bates, 6-3, 6-3; K. Strachan beat C. R. Gardner, 6-2, 6-1; E. Fottrell beat M. Evans, 6-2, 6-3; W. E. Davis beat R. Hunt, 9-7, 2-1, default; L. Strauss beat Wallace M. Alexander, 6-4, 6-2.

Women's handicap, singles, preliminary round: Mrs. Kullman (scratch) beat Miss U. Dietrick (15⅙) 6-2, 6-3; Miss L. Herron (scratch) beat Miss B. Culley (scratch,) 6-4, 4-6, 8-6.

First round: Mrs. Nicholas (owe 15) beat Miss A. Cooke (⅙,) 6-2, 6-2; Miss A. Myers (owe 30) beat Miss A. Well (15,) 6-4, 8-6.

Men's doubles, first round: Hunt and Evans beat Smith and Klein, 6-4, 6-4; Rohlfs and Ratcliff beat Kelsey and Wood, 6-0, 6-3; Johns and Detrick beat Roberts and Henry, 6-4, 6-4; Havens and Gardner beat Sharp and Harper, default; Alexander and Knowlton beat Rhodes and Brackett, 6-3, 6-2; Strachan and Griffin beat Bates and Breck, 6-3, 6-4; Johnston and Fottrell beat Davis and Bass, 6-3, 6-4.

Women's championship singles, second round: Miss S. Van Vliet beat A. Myers, 6-3, 6-1. First round: Mrs. Nicholas beat Miss B. Culley, 7-5, 6-3.

NOTED STAGE FAVORITES SIGN FOR COAST TOURS.

BY GARDNER BRADFORD.

NOW IS the time of year when stage folks are signing for the coming season and we can get a real line on what they are going to do.

For us, one of the most important contracts is the signing up of Helen Ware to come to the Coast in "Within the Law," which by long odds has been the real success in New York this year. There will be several other good companies that going South be headed by Jane Gordon and the Middle West organization by Catherine Tower. In New York Jane Cowl will retain her original role.

Robert Hilliard is coming to the Coast in "The Argyl Case."

John Flood and Julie Herne are new members of the cast of "As a Man Thinks," which John Mason brings to the Majestic in a few weeks.

David Warfield is going to revive his greatest success, "The Auctioneer," in September.

Ruby Dudley and Irene Bordini have been re-engaged for the New York Winter Garden, which means that the Coast will not see them for some time to come.

Help! I have received a postal from Robert Edeson in which he states that he is writing an original play on California life. He nearly died here, so his play ought to be good.

Otis Skinner is going to bring "Kismet" to the Coast. There is a burlesque on it in "The Passing Show," which comes next week.

Nate Collins, whom Los Angeles theatergoers know so well, has been signed to star in next season's "Follies."

Jeanette McCoy announced that she will play a few weeks in vaudeville and then retire permanently from the stage. Personally, I think she is foolish. The big question is, who is the co-ax.

Lionel Barrymore is going into vaudeville, too, having signed for twenty weeks. After that she will haunt a new musical comedy.

Before Richard Bennett comes to Los Angeles he will play "Damaged Goods" before the State Legislature at Harrisburg at the request of Senator Penrose, who has introduced a bill which he thinks the play may be instrumental in passing.

In view of all the recent cancellations, I am beginning to wonder if the remarkable Richard will ever get there.

Theodore Oberle nearly blew up the show at the Morosco last night. Too, too, with powder, too, but she is neither a suffragette nor an anarchist.

The merely uncivilized Harriman Hunter fondly with her arms and when she released him, there was a perceptible gap in the crowd. Of course, when the usher turned around and the audience saw the bold, yet dainty finger prints there was a merry laugh.

A real Chinaman is helping to stage "The Yellow Jacket" which will shortly make its debut at the Morosco. He is Tong Gee and helped put on "The Daughter of Heaven" in New York. If he produces as fast as he talks, "The Yellow Jacket" will be full of ginger.

I have been asked so many times who is to appear in "Madame Sherry" when it is played at the Burbank that I might as well begin to enumerate the cast.

Selma Paley and Lillian Tucker will have the principal singing roles. Both girls are handsome and fairly good singers, and if hard work counts for anything, will make great successes of their parts.

NORMAN MACBETH AGAIN WINS TOM MORRIS MEDAL.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

THE Los Angeles Country Club team is the winner of the Tom Morris Memorial Trophy again this year, with the score of 24 down. The results have been received by wire from Chicago, wherein Los Angeles is first, the Annandale Country Club second, with 39 down, and the Glen Echo Country Club of St. Louis third, with 46 down.

The Los Angeles team is the first to win it twice. The memorial was established by the Western Golf Association five years ago for competition by teams of eight from all the various country clubs. It is played for on old Tom Morris's birthday, June 16, every year. The trophy is highly prized, and the team possessing it takes premier rank of all golf clubs in the country. Each team plays against the par of its course, with all local rules suspended and no caddies.

Norman Macbeth of the Los Angeles team again won the gold medal for the best individual score made in the contest. He made the record score of 4 up on par, with a medal record of 73 this time. He won the medal with 1 up last year.

The trophy is already at the Los Angeles Country Club, so will not have to be disturbed.

Previous teams to hold this honor are the Denver Country Club in 1909 with 15 down—the best score ever turned in—the Oakmont Country Club in 1910, with 41 down; the Country Club of Cleveland, in 1911, with 18 down, and the Los Angeles Country Club in 1912, with 40 down.

Last year we certainly had an unfair climatic advantage for many of the other clubs played in torrents of rain and in blizzards. In fact, there were many rumblings in the Middle Western newspapers about California good fortune in this respect.

Now that a Southern California team has again won the coveted honor we shall hear a good deal more about this climatic business. We certainly are well provided for in this respect, and we are probably the only part of the world that can be sure of good weather for our play.

At this time of year, too, our links are very fast, and a long driver like Macbeth can get a 300-yard ball with little effort, where 300 yards would be a triumph on courses further East. We have often had to admit our opinion that scores have a way of improving wonderfully during the summer here. All the same, we are a very bright team of first-class players, and once we are so very much ahead of all the other scores we may safely rest on our laurels.

All California golfers are busy congratulating the Los Angeles team these days, and they are by way of turning their handsome heads to right mighty celebration is afoot.

The other scores were:

Los Angeles Country Club, 24; Annandale Country Club, Pasadena, 39; Glen Echo Country Club, St. Louis, Memphis Country Club, 47; Calumet Country Club, Chicago, 53; Rock Island Country Club, 56; Midlothian Country Club, Chicago, 57; Skokie Country Club, Chicago, 60; Highland Golf Club, Indianapolis, 60; Beverly Country Club, Chicago, 62; Detroit Golf Club, 63; Exmoor Country Club, Chicago, 64; Jackson Park Golf Club, Chicago, 65; Riverside Golf Club, Chicago, 67; Homewood Country Club, Chicago, 69; Victoria Club, Riverside, Cal., 69; Interlachen Club, Minneapolis, 70; Nashville Golf Club, 71; San Gabriel Valley, Los Angeles, 72; Country Club of Indianapolis, 74; Rockford (Ill.) Country Club, 75; Mayfield Country Club, Cleveland, 75; St. Paul Town and Country Club (unofficial), 75; Birmingham Country Club, Alabama, 79; Wheaton (Ill.) Golf Club, 79; Windsor Golf Club, Chicago, 86; Denver Country Club, 86; Minikahda Golf Club, Minneapolis, 86; Topeka Country Club, 91; South Shore Country Club, Chicago, 95; Salt Lake Country Club, 84; Northland Club, Duluth, 94; Happy Hollow Country Club, 95; Dallas (Tex.) Country Club, 96; Hutchinso (Kan.) Country Club, 92; Sinnissippi Golf Club, Janesville, Wis., 98; Scangaloka Golf Club, Galesburg, Ill., 104; Douglas (Ariz.) Country Club, 107; Ridgemoor Golf Club, Chicago, 111; Hamilton Country Club, Cincinnati, 111; Interlachen Club, Denver, 121.

VAN NUYS HAS REAL BALL TEAM.

[Special Correspondence of The Times.]

VAN NUYS, June 17.—The new Van Nuys baseball club will play its first regular game Saturday, June 28, and the opposing team will probably be one from Los Angeles.

Suits for all the players, with a complete outfit were ordered today. Practice games will be played twice a week.

Work on the new grounds at Broadway and Bonnie Brae will be started at once. A grandstand will be erected and games will be arranged for every Saturday during the remainder of the season.

A.A.U. STEPS IN.

In the future, all boxing tournaments held here under the sanction of the A.A.U. commission will be governed by that body in regard to weighing in and the selection of judges. This stand was taken yesterday after the meeting of the Registration Committee, when the matter of the St. Joseph Club's withdrawal in the recent tourney was brought up and acted upon. The club was not suspended, although sentence was suspended, and on the next cause of this kind, this or any other club will suffer heavily.

STANFORD WINS.

NOGOYA (Japan) June 17.—[By Cable and A. P.] The Stanford University baseball team defeated Keio University today. Score:

Stanford, 4; hits, 8; errors, 1.

GUARD COURSE FOR BIG EVENT.

Panama-Pacific Road Race Can Be Sane and Safe.

National Driver Emphasizes Need for Protection.

Peace Dove at Meeting of Supervisors.

BY BERT C. SMITH.

There is every prospect of peace at San Jose. There is also every reason to believe that the Board of Supervisors of Santa Clara county will rescind their action of Monday, which compels the drivers to observe the speed laws during the Panama-Pacific road race, July Fourth.

Perry H. Greer, one of the strong members of the Road Race Committee, is on the job. The matter has been put squarely up to the Supervisors, and as a result the report yesterday is that in two or three days an adjustment of all differences seems possible.

Though the time is short and the Supervisors of both San Mateo and Santa Clara counties held their last meetings for June on Monday, it is believed that a special session can be called to discuss race matters. Greer was sent out on an S.O.S. signal and he has made good.

Speed trials for the Panama-Pacific Road Race should be over today. There is no more need for fast work on the roads. The highways belong to the farmer and the motorist, but they are not open for eighty-mile-an-hour time trials. All that remains for the forty-six drivers and forty-six relief men is to study the road.

After a thorough study of the entire course the Los Angeles-San Francisco road race can be made a great event. It can be so conducted that the public shall demand it as an annual treat. There is the possibility, however, that it can be held and so many mistakes can be made, that the race will never be conducted again.

There are drivers who occupy all of the road at forty miles an hour and others who keep to the straight and narrow path at seventy miles or an even greater speed. When the reckless pilot hits a sharp curve at forty miles an hour there is nothing to protect the farmer or tourist, who may be coming in the opposite direction, from a collision.

SHETTLER AGAINST SPEED.

Chairman L. T. Shettler, who has been known to smile twice this week, once when he sold five buttons without taking a deep breath and again when he heard of the action of the Santa Clara Supervisors, has gone on record as being against any more fast work. The chairman almost snapped Herbert Brown's nose off when the Knox driver asked if he could exceed the speed limit along the San Fernando highway.

"I've asked the City Marshal to instruct his cops to arrest every one of you fellows if you make twenty-one miles an hour," barked Shettler.

This is final and the edict has gone forth from the sanctum sanctorum on Figueroa street.

The start of the race on the morning of July 4 will be pyrotechnical. Red and blue fires will illumine the sky. The glare of the rockets will announce to the countryside between here and San Fernando that the first racer has been sent out into the night.

BULLARD THE REFEREE.

George Purdy Bullard, Attorney General of Arizona, has been appointed referee of the race. Bullard has conducted the Los Angeles to Phoenix race each year successfully and has a host of friends among the drivers and entrants in the Panama-Pacific Road Race. W. R. Hallwell, the speedometer man, is chief timer. Hallwell is one of the most experienced men now in the game and will be assisted by his brother, Charles Hallwell. The timing will be right with this pair of clockers on the job.

William R. Ruess will start the race. Those forty-six men will be turned over to Bill the night of the big event. When the Pope-Hartford agent gets into action look out for something real. Bill has ideas of his own concerning that start. He has driven in races himself and when he wields the flag, after the initial bomb has been fired, each driver will know just when to leave the line.

ORDER TO RULE.

There will be no confusion. The mix-ups will occur before and not during the start. Instructions will be given each driver by the referee, who is supreme when it comes to the laws of the race. When Referee Bullard takes charge at Fiesta Park his word is law according to the rules of the American Automobile Association, and any other rules that may govern the contest.

While The Times-National was on its route-blazing trip as official pathfinding car for the Panama-Pacific Road Race, emphasis was placed on the need for protection to spectators during the contest. Bert Dingley estimated closely the time of arrival of the first car in each city touched by the National. As a result the police protection in these towns will be adequate and along the countryside the alarm will be sounded hours before the first car arrives.

POLO AT LAKE FOREST.

CHICAGO, June 17.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The mid-western polo tournament, awarded to the Onwentsia Club at Lake Forest, Ill., by the National Polo Association, will be held the last week in June. Plans for the games were announced today.

AMERICANS PLAY.

LONDON, June 17.—[By Cable and A. P.] Wallace F. Johnson of Philadelphia beat Craig Biddle, also of Philadelphia, in the first round of the open singles in the London tennis championship today at Queen's Club. The score was 7-5, 7-5, 6-2.

WHITE'S STUFF.

"I feel all right and think I put up a good fight. Look at me. There is not a scratch on my body and the only marks of the fight are on my lips. Dundee's blows were not hard enough to hurt, but they cut my lips a little.

"In the second round I hurt my right hand on his elbow and was not able to use it after that. With one hand I could not do the work I started out to do, but at that I stung him some and he is marked up worse than I am, even if he did get the decision."

ROUND 3.

Johnny puts a right to the body and they clinch. Jack lands two left swings to the face and a left swing to the body and they clinch. Jack lands a left to the face and Dundee counters with a right to the body. Jack lands two left swings to the face and they clinch. Jack puts another left swing to the body and they clinch again. White lands a left swing to the body and Johnny counters with a right to the body and a left to the face. Both land straight lefts to the face and they clinch. White swings a left to the face and Johnny counters with a left swing to the jaw. A fast round and a good fight.

Jack put a left swing to the face and a right swing to the body, then he puts a right and left to Johnny's body and they clinch. Jack puts a left swing to the body and Johnny comes back with a right to the ear. They clinch. White puts a left to Dundee's face and Johnny swung a left to Jack's ear. Johnny puts a left to the face and they clinch. After the break he lands another left to Jack's face and Jack countered with a left to the jaw and they clinched. Dundee lands a left swing to Jack's body and one to his face and they clinch. White lands a right to the body.

ROUND 8.

ROUND 11.

Dundee puts a right to the body and both land left swings to the face. Dundee puts a left to the face. Jack lands left and right to the face and repeats the blows. Dundee puts right to the body and they clinch. White lands left swing to the face. Johnny puts a right swing to the ear, a left swing to the face and a right to the body.

White put left swing to the face and they clinch. Johnny put a left swing to the body. Johnny put a left and right to the body and they clinch. When he broke, Dundee landed a right to the ear and they clinched again. White was tiring from the fast pace. Dundee put a left and right to the body and they clinch. When they broke Johnny slugged Jack hard. Jack lands a hard left and right to the body. Dundee's round.

ROUND 16.

ROUND 17.

PRELIMINARIES.

The second preliminary was between Charles Moss and Harry Hammer at 135 pounds. Moss put Hammer down in the second round. Both were hard hitters but not clever. They slugged hard at times. Moss was given the decision, which was a good one.

The third preliminary, between Harry Atwood and Buster Miller at 122 pounds, was a fast four-round bout. Miller was game and willing, but Atwood was much the cleverer of the two and the best hitter and landed by far the greater number of clean blows. The decision was hooted by the crowd, but it was the only proper one. Harry Burns refereed the first three preliminaries and George Blake the fourth, which was between Curley O'Neill and Jim Arroumay. They boxed at 122.

Arroumy had it all over Curley in the first four rounds and showed more real class for a youngster than has been displayed at Vernon for several years. He is only a kid newsboy and a pupil of little Jimmy Austin. He feints, counters and makes them miss like an old-timer.

POLITICAL WATCHTOWER

Among the legal lights, both dim and luminous, resident of Los Angeles county, there is a stampede for the half a dozen Superior Court judgeships that Gov. Johnson is to fill in his incapacity as Governor of the finest and glorious commonwealth. Each and Goo Goo who has the privilege of adding attorney-at-law to his name are apt to find an individual climbing into one of these initial judicial positions.

Then it is that there are some well-known and able lawyers who have entered the race for these six judgeships, but also there are aspirants whose chief claims for gubernatorial consideration in this regard consist in the manner of their servility to the Johnson machine.

It is generally expected that these appointments will be made somewhere about the middle of August. At least this is the appointed time suggested in the best circles. As there is only $6000 per annum salary attached to these judgeships it will be readily appreciated that the candidates are actuated with no other motives than that of serving the dear pee-pul. That being understood and agreed to, gaze upon the reported list of the "leading candidates," to wit:

R. F. Gordon, father-in-law of Marshall Johnson.

Lewis R. Works, faithful follower of Gov. Johnson.

Willis E. Morrison of Pasadena, now member of the State Board of Accountants.

E. T. Taft, of Taft, Tanner and Taft, of Santa Monica.

Frank Judge William Fredericksen.

E. A. Pierce, former police judge and a long way from being a "Long Beach."

Robert W. McDonald, of Pasadena, who has also Goo programme at all times and confines himself upon his support, preliminance to W. J. Bryan, whom cause he deserted to become police judge in the Crown City.

W. J. Northrup of Alhambra, who has been training as a justice of the peace.

Gorst E. Davis of Pasadena, whom the Goo Guys defeated for re-election in the hope because he wouldn't quit the Republican party.

And there are also George Howard Hunter, Willoughby Rodman, L. W. Ryan, and last but by no means the least, Mrs. Chase Shortridge Foltz.

So there we are. It has been suggested that City Attorney John W. Shenk will be urged for one of the judgeships as a balm to his badly bumped mayoralty aspirations, but I hear that he has no inclination to enter the race. Messrs. Fredericksen and Taft are regarded as certainties for appointment, because of their highly ethical and professional courtesy in withdrawing from the race for election so that Police Commissioner Mansfield could not be elected by the people. For their sacrifice in favor of Judge John York, they are to be given a job which they feared the people would never elect them to. Oh, well, it's just as safe to be appointed to a good job as it is to be chosen by the people, and let us hope that it is a leg-up for the leg-up.

There is a pretty kettle of fish with some sauce. The ingredients were served by over-zealous and indiscreet friends of some of the candidates for appointment as United States District Attorney; but Attorney General Reynolds added the warm sea-son-ing. Incidentally it may be added that two Federal judges here consider a little pepper and spice to the dish, which has been served already sizzling.

Now this report ever gained circulation may never be satisfactorily determined, but that there was such a report and that it traveled about as fast as wireless telegraphy, became evident when the word was received here that the Attorney General at Washington had high dudgeon, that he was pacing the floor with a club in both hands and dictating manifestoes on sheets of foolscap. And the whyfore? Because Reynolds had heard that no lawyer, in good bona fide, would receive the office of United States District Attorney from Southern California district judges who had the approval and indorsement of the two Federal jurists, Bledsoe and Rose.

I don't get to see the writings of Mr. Shenk, but I am assured by an army of anti-authoritative advocates of one of the job-chasers, that it was reported all right, and that the Attorney General wanted it distinctly understood that no Federal judges, here or elsewhere, were having anything to do with the appointments made by him. Not that Reynolds-site, so to speak. In the matter of the edification of politicians and candidates entertaining views to the contrary, said McReynolds served notice that the report peeved him to the extent that he didn't deem it worthy of his notice, consideration or denial, and while he didn't request such report as worthy of the dignity of denial, by jinx it isn't true.

Such an ordinary mortal this would have closed the incident, but there can have its finale written in action, until some hungry editor gets the job he is after. Then may be declared closed, but the watchdog brigade will be called service, and all disappointed aspirants will be found in the front rank. When it became known that the Attorney General was irate over the intimation that the Federal judges had been the say-so about the local U. S. Attorney, the cheering news was carried to Judges Ross and Trippet, and distinguished jurists said they exploded, but I am assured by both and mighty authority that if them would give a penny to have assumed the privilege of suggesting or suggesting that there or is taking any particular pains appointing anybody to anything.

While this news reached the seven aspirants in the case, there was a holding of breath and a yearning for light. Every man of them knew that he had anything to do with the report to Washington or talking to the two judges; and each and clear bill of health. One man has seen a letter written to Ross by Judge Ross in which the latter very plain that such was unfounded and untrue, therefore, stating that he has never for or thought of indorsing or for appointment; and has no objections to any of the men whom he has heard mentioned for the place. But there is a feeling that follows the hypothetical box-boss against the side of the box with.

POLITICAL LIGHTHOUSE

Among the legal lights, both dim and luminous, resident of Los Angeles county, there is a stampede for the half a dozen Superior Court judgeships that Gov. Johnson is to fill in his incapacity as Governor of [illegible] commonwealth. [illegible] who has the privilege of [illegible]-at-law to his name [illegible] to find an individual [illegible] into one of these [illegible] positions.

[illegible] that there are some well-[illegible] lawyers who have [illegible] for these six judge-[illegible] sire aspirants [illegible] for gubernatorial [illegible] in this regard consist [illegible] servility to the [illegible].

retaining wall be placed in Figueroa street between Second street and Diamond street 5 feet east of the center line of Figueroa street; that First street between Figueroa street and Fremont avenue and the westerly portion of Figueroa street between Second street and Diamond street be lowered to conform to the tunnel grade; that the tracks of the Los Angeles Railway Company on First street be carried down on a concrete structure from the top of said retaining wall to that a 22-foot approach and 10-foot sidewalk be constructed on each side of First street between Fremont avenue and Figueroa street and that the width of the sidewalks on Figueroa, between Second street and Diamond street be made six feet on the east side and eight feet on the west side.

This arrangement for the west portal will also require the city to secure easements or rights of way and we recommend that condemnation be started at once to secure all necessary rights of way for both portals.

Concerning the Second-street tunnel, we recommend that the west portal be placed at the west line of Flower street and that Second street between Flower street and Figueroa street be excavated its full width to conform to the tunnel grade so that adjoining property can be connected directly with the tunnel approach.

With regard to the east portal, we recommend that, if waivers of damages can be secured from all interested adjoining property owners for lowering street surfaces, it be placed west of the east line of Olive street and that the east half of Olive street between First street and Second street, Second street from the center of Olive street to Hill street and Clay street from Second street to Third street, be cut down to conform to the tunnel grade. If waivers can be obtained for making these changes no rights of way will be required for the Second-street tunnel. If, however, the necessary waivers for this undertaking cannot be secured, we recommend that the east portal be placed at the east line of Clay street; that the approach be 44 feet wide and that a 25-foot driveway and 7-foot walk be made on each side of the approach to accommodate both railway and public traffic.

The latter arrangement of the east portal will necessitate securing a strip of land 25.5 feet wide along the frontage on both sides of Second street between Clay street and Hill street, and in case it is deemed advisable to place the east portal at Clay street, we recommend that steps be taken at once to secure the necessary land.

TWO SEVERELY INJURED.

Fireman and Chinese Suffering From Fire-engine Accidents—Three Others Bruised.

Five persons were injured early yesterday morning as the result of a fire in the Shanghai Cafe, No. 431 South Spring street, the accidents occurring while the fire apparatus was responding to the alarm. Fire engine No. 5, drawn by three horses, collided with a wagon at Fourth and San Pedro streets, hurling the Chinese driver of the wagon to the pavement. W. J. Crumb and Wing Quee Lin were taken to the Receiving Hospital. The other three, H. C. Winkler, F. J. Nelson and A. L. Drake, sustained only minor cuts and bruises.

Engine No. 3 was traveling rapidly on Hill street when the driver swerved into Fourth. The rear of the vehicle sagged, then the whole apparatus turned over. W. F. Crumb, the driver, sustained severe cuts and abrasions.

The small wagon driven by Wong Quee Lin, of No. 422 North Los Angeles street, was demolished by Engine No. 5, traveling west on Fourth street. The Chinese, who evidently became confused and turned directly in front of the on-rushing engine, was knocked unconscious.

The fire, of undetermined origin resulted in but $500 damage.

J. L. Dean arrived at the Hayward from Chicago. He is sales manager of one of the principal departments of Marshall Fields & Co.

To Make Hair Quickly Disappear From Face

(Aids to Beauty.)

The beauty-detracting superfluous growths of hair on a woman's face can be quickly banished with a paste made by mixing powdered delatone and water and applying to hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbing off. This takes with it every trace of hair and after the skin is washed it will be clear and spotless. This delatone treatment is quite harmless and rarely is more than one application necessary to remove even a stubborn growth.

To beautify eyebrows, rub a little pyroxin on. This makes them grow thick and lustrous. Applying pyroxin at lash-roots with thumb and forefinger causes them to grow long, silky and curly. Use care and don't get any pyroxin where no hair is wanted.—[Advertisement.

John Willis Baer Delivers Address at Throop.

PASADENA, June 18.—The commencement programme of the Pasadena High School opened last night with the presentation of the class play, "A New Way to Pay Old Debts," at the auditorium of the new Polytechnic High School. It was likewise the first use of this large and handsome auditorium and there was a good attendance.

The play mirrors the time of Queen Elizabeth and the costumes and settings were striking. The seniors who had roles in it had worked hard and long and their efforts were crowned with success when last night they were showered with applause and fairly smothered in flowers.

The class-day exercises will be held at the same place at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. A class will and a class prophecy will be read, and there are to be other humorous features to the programme.

Tomorrow night the senior class will give a reception in honor of the members of the faculty at Tea Cup Inn. The graduating exercises will take place Friday night at the High School auditorium.

FETE A SUCCESS.

A large sum was raised yesterday for the benefit of the Children's Training School by the Young Ladies' Aid Society at a fete held at the home of J. H. Henry, No. 1199 Oak Knoll avenue. The spacious grounds were gay with booths of various kinds and there was a pony and dog cart for the amusement of the small children.

One of the features of the entertainment was the raffling of a dog, which was drawn by C. W. Gates of South Pasadena. The dog was having a good time at the fete and decidedly objected to leaving early to go home with its new master. It took the combined efforts of practically all who were connected with the entertainment to get it started.

Lemonade and ice cream were served and there was something doing every minute.

Miss Mamie Nimock, who has played the leading roles in several society amateur theatrical productions, was the prime mover in the undertaking. She was ably assisted by a bevy of young women, among them the Misses Marian Sinclair, Marjorie Mears, Gladys Waterman, Irene Grosse, Katherine Chatfield, Josephine Struve, Pauline Bennett, Marian Fillius, Helen Rowland, Mabel Seibert and Lucy Smith.

SPEAKS TO CHILDREN.

Dr. John Willis Baer, president of Occidental College, made a unique address to the graduating class at the Throop Polytechnic elementary school yesterday morning, when he ignored the adults, who formed the greater part of his audience, and spoke directly to the pupils.

"I do not come to speak to you as a college president," he said, "but rather, if your parents do not object, as your Dutch uncle. What Pasadena needs is not a larger crop of tourists, of those who somehow manage to live without doing much work. What Pasadena needs is a larger crop of boys and girls who are not morally blind—just such a fine lot of boys and girls as you seem to be. You look as though you were the 'real thing.' I am simply taking you at your face value, and I ask you not to deface the currency."

CITY BRIEFS.

The Pasadena Poultry Association yesterday set December 9 to 13 as the date for its next poultry show. The date has been set far in advance so that unusually fine exhibits may be obtained.

The members of the Parent-Teacher Association of the James Russell Lowell School in Altadena have determined to make a vigorous appeal to the Board of Education at once for a larger school building there. A committee will wait upon the school board at its next session.

A report made yesterday by City Commissioner Salisbury shows that the receipts of the municipal water department from October 31 to May 31, last, amounted to $1,405,-851.06. The report shows earnings from water revenue of $116,187.75, less $49,770.17 for operation renewals and repairs, leaving a gross surplus of $66,417.58.

The body of William Kraemer, who died at Berkeley, will be brought back to Pasadena today and the funeral will take place here tomorrow. The services will be held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at his late residence, No. 230 North El Molino avenue. Rev. T. C. Beattie will officiate. Kraemer, who was a well known importer of Japanese goods, had not been in Pasadena for about a year. He leaves a wife and 7-year-old daughter, who are now returning home with the body.

As a result of the action of the Pasadena Realty Board last Monday night when it was determined that a committee shall take up the question of increase in transportation facilities with the Board of City Commissioners, a conference is now being arranged. The Realty Board, which is not satisfied with the proposed new line that the Pacific Electric Railway Company recently announced it will construct is reported to favor an effort to secure a quick service over the Santa Fe track.

Former Mayor Thum's Efficiency Bureau went by the board yesterday. The City Commissioners decided that it was an unnecessary governmental department and abandoned it.

W. A. Kerr, foreman at the Baldwin rock crusher in the Arroyo Seco, brought up at the Receiving Hospital at police headquarters and Romiro Rodriguez, a Mexican laborer, in the City Jail on the other side of the wall yesterday. The foreman claimed that the workman had hit him on the arm with a rock. Rodriguez was arrested on a charge of battery, arraigned before Justice of the Peace Dunham and remanded to jail to await his trial today.

RESENT THE NOTORIETY.

Venice Officials Seek to Control Vice and Are Hurt Over Recent Intimations.

VENICE, June 17.—City Trustees aver that Venice is getting undue notoriety and that a closer watch should be kept of rooming-houses, hotels and restaurants. Last night, on motion of Trustee Gerety, the Chief of Police was instructed to make a report every month regarding the moral condition of these places and of the city generally. It shall be the duty of the Chief to see that every hotel, rooming-house or restaurant proprietor complies with the law and allows no immorality in his place.

NEWS BRIEFS.

John Burke, accused by Constable Barton of selling short-weight hams, was released under bonds to await his trial. Barton states that he has received complaints from Venice people that hams sold by Burke have been three and four pounds off weight. Burke, it is stated, would manipulate the scales with his fingers while weighing them. Barton captured the scales and they will be used as evidence against Burke.

Venice wants a two-bit round trip fare to Los Angeles, and vice versa. An appeal voicing this plea has been directed to the State Railroad Commission, with the assertion that this beach has been discriminated against. The Santa Monica Bay Chamber of Commerce took up the matter, but the Venice people say that the chamber is too slow.

After listening to his tearful plea that he was under the influence of liquor when he forged a check for $11, and that he had followed the sea for a livelihood and knew little of the wiles of those ashore, R. A. Phillips, drug store owner, today refused to swear to a complaint against Bert Edwards, and he was given his liberty.

Venice police officials have been notified by the police of Sacramento that Harry Lacey, alias Lieut. Wilson, arrested by them, has been turned over to the police of San Jose, who hold a warrant for his arrest on the charge of forgery. It is probable that the Venice victims of Lacey will await the outcome of the San Jose trial.

PLANTING ON GIBRALTAR ACRES

is rushing along, a hundred men engaged on this and other development work. The WAITING LIST for PLANTING is increasing. Extra carpenters are being added to the crews of bungalow builders.

Approximately 20 miles of cement irrigation pipe has been laid, a big force of men making the pipe on the grounds. Thousands of feet of the steel pipe for the Domestic Water system are laid—high pressure service.

The stretch of Ocean-to-Ocean highway which traverses the tract for two miles, is being completed. A trolley line is now running to Riverside, connecting with the line building to Colton, which will be finished in 60 days, giving connection to San Bernardino and Redlands. The Pacific Electric is now building its extension from Uplands to San Bernardino, via Rialto, and the company proposes to build a line from near Uplands, ACROSS GIBRALTAR ACRES to connect with the line now running to Riverside and the line NOW BUILDING from Bloomington to Rialto.

Gibraltar Acres are destined to become a center of a vast system of electric railways, connected direct with Los Angeles; present time will be reduced one-half hour. The present activity on Gibraltar Acres exhibits the highest type of energy and individual efficiency of the men PREPARING THE TRACTS FOR YOU.

One visit to the tract AT OUR EXPENSE will convince you of this land's great promise of generous fruit production. TERMS: $5 per acre per month, including payment on principal and interest, and $20 down, per acre, Planted to Olives.

Fatal Faults.

(5.) Steam road terminal situation is not half solved by the Southern Pacific's promise to build "show station" in place of Arcade structure.

A round handful of ills which he said strike at the vital development of Los Angeles were ticked off to the Electrical League at the Angelus by O. O. McReynolds, president of the Board of Public Utilities at the electrical men's luncheon yesterday afternoon. The speaker, however, offered a solution in only one or two instances.

FULL OF FRICTION.

"One of the greatest unsolved problems in Los Angeles today is the construction of a real Board of Public Utilities so designed that it will be able to do the work that such a board is supposed to do," said he. "One of the reasons that the board has not the power to perform the work it should perform is that too many branches of the city government are mixing into public utilities questions. Friction is the result and there is naturally too much dissatisfaction. There is need for a board that will direct the kind of service and how much the consumer shall pay for it, standing between the people and the corporations and seeing that both are given justice. If the newspapers should publish the fact that the present board cannot do that, as now constituted, I might be fired by noon tomorrow. I don't believe the people of Los Angeles realize the big work the public utilities board has before it. In New York the public utilities commission gets $1,500,000 a year to carry on its work. On the basis of our population Los Angeles should have one-tenth that amount, but gets hardly one-tenth of one-tenth.

"I have no fixed idea of always being at the head of the board here and am not making the plea for the need of such an organization for my own benefit, but for all time.

"It seems to me to be high time to get a solution of the telephone situation. Two things are wrong there. The first is that there are two 'phone companies promoted, built and operated with the idea that competition is a good thing. But in telephone service I don't believe in competition. One company should serve the need where two now serve, and it could be done at less cost. Another thing wrong with the telephone situation is the flat rate. The system is not right. Where it is possible to measure service all consumers should pay for what they get, no more and no less. If I should happen to be reappointed, I want some one to come in and suggest a fair method of measuring telephone service.

"The congestion on our streets increases every day and someone must come in and solve that problem. The great need is the production of a rapid transit system to handle the people in the suburbs. We have to get cars operated off the streets, either above or below. Otherwise we can't have rapid transit. Whether it is underground or elevated is the problem, and I have reached no conclusion. I am still seeking light.

"Another problem for solution is the steam terminal situation. Los Angeles is far enough removed from the size of a village to get down to the actual work of laying out a definite plan for handling the terminal. It has been before the people in many forms and when the discussion gets too hot our railroad friends throw us a little scrap and say: 'Digest that—it will do you good.' The Southern Pacific wants to build a new station on the Arcade site in a hurry so that we will have a show place for 1915. I am not in sympathy with this plan. It is not the real solution and I am against any half-solution to any such problem."

"How about 20-cent gas?" shouted one of the electrical men.

"That is a reasonable rate and we all like it," replied McReynolds.

"Does the Pacific Electric get the overhead franchise?" asked another.

"That is something I cannot answer," said the president.

JAPANESE WOMEN DRIVERS.

Santa Monica Trustees Will Frown on Custom Following Fatal Accident to Small Boy.

OCEAN PARK, June 17.—The driving of autos by Japanese women on the busy streets of this section will be discouraged by the police in the future. Mrs. M. Kojima ran down and seriously injured Noel Higgins at the intersection of Hill and Lake streets this morning. Higgins is 12 years old, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Higgins, who reside at No. 2441 Beverly drive. The Japanese woman driver and G. M. Kawamoto, both of Los Angeles, have been detained by the police pending the outcome of the boy's injuries.

The lad attends the Washington-street school, on the hill. He coasted down Hill street and into the path of the auto driven by Mrs. Kojima. She tried to avoid striking the boy, driving over the curb and into a telegraph pole, but his left leg was fractured and he suffered internal injuries. He has been unconscious since the accident and there are grave doubts whether he will recover.

The Masonic Temple Club will hold the first of its series of summer dances in the new Burns dancing pavilion on the pier tomorrow night. The Committee on Arrangements is as follows: T. H. Hanna, R. J. Haney, C. H. Ritchie, C. S. Thatcher, M. A. Byrne, R. W. Wilson, L. Lederman, and Charles Y. Burns.

SIERRA MADRE.

SIERRA MADRE, June 17.—To pull one's self up by his own boot straps might be cited here as an actual occurrence in the last Board of Trade meeting held. A committee of the Board of Trade voted to see the Board of Trustees on a certain proposition, the committee of the Board of Trade were practically the Board of Trustees of the city. They voted to see themselves about the proposition. They will return in due course of time and report to themselves.

Night Watchman J. Coburn is reputed to be a good marksman, but a few nights ago he went wide of the mark when he fired his popgun at an automobile thief who had entered the garage of L. Steinberger on Central avenue.

The thief had entered the garage and loaded up a heavy power car with auto tires and all sorts of equipment, then pushing the car into the street. As he was about to crank the machine Watchman Coburn hailed him and he started to run. Coburn fired three times at the fleeing figure with no result, but to hasten the thief's departure in the darkness. Not being familiar with autos Coburn stood watch over the machine until daybreak, fearing the fellow would return and get away with the car.

In the morning he learned that the removal of a pin or the power crank would have saved his long vigil. He attributes his poor marksmanship to the little gun he is obliged to carry, owing to lack of funds in the city's exchequer. A movement is on foot to provide him with a high-power automatic revolver.

PREMIUM LIST APPROVED.

The general committee in charge of the Riverside county fair, planned for the second week in October, has adopted the premium list and an official pennant. While the fair attractions and exhibits will be staged at Chemawa Park, some distance from the business center, it has been decided to conduct a sort of carnival close in to entertain the crowds after nightfall. The Finance Committee is meeting, with every encouragement in the matter of subscriptions.

VESSELS ARE STRIPPED.

SAN DIEGO, June 17.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Vessels of the Pacific cruiser flotilla, including the cruisers Maryland, California, South Dakota, Denver, Pittburgh and the ships of the torpedo boat flotilla are to mobilize off San Diego in August for target practice and maneuvers, according to word received here. It is expected that the torpedo boat Rowan, which has been stripped of its equipment and lined with cork, will be used as a target by the ships of the combined flotilla.

Both the California and South Dakota were stripped for action yesterday, the latter leaving for the range shortly after 4 o'clock. The California steamed to the firing grounds this morning, and as soon as the target rafts which will be towed by the Justin and Iroquois, are in position, the flagship will begin firing its eight-inch guns.

NEW COALING STATION.

SAN DIEGO, June 17.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Fred Williams, civil engineer of the United States government, stationed at San Francisco, announced here today that construction work will begin at once on a new coaling station to be established on Ft. Loomis, adjacent to the quarantine station, and within one-half mile of Ft. Rosecrans. The cost will not exceed $50,000. Engineer Williams, who has been detailed here on special duty, says the establishment of the new coaling station is made necessary because the capacity of the station at San Francisco, which is 125,000 tons, has been reached. The government will store from 20,000 to 50,000 tons of coal at the station here. At the present time the coal is stored at a Santa Fe railroad wharf, which has only a small capacity. The coal is used for navy warships.

TO SAFEGUARD POCKETBOOKS.

Riverside School Officials Will Establish Zone and Prohibit the Peddling Throng—News Briefs.

RIVERSIDE, June 17.—School principals and officers of the Parent-Teachers' Association have instigated a campaign designed to safeguard not only the pocketbooks of the school-children, but their stomachs as well.

In a petition presented to the City Council today, the signers ask that a zone be established about each school building in the city, within which it would be unlawful for any vendor of ice cream, popcorn, chewing gum and the like, to ply his trade. It is desired that the itinerants be forbidden to sell within two blocks of the buildings.

While concurring in the desirability of removing the temptation complained of from the school children, the Council seemed dubious as to its powers to circumscribe to the extent requested, the operations of citizens who have paid a license to conduct the business of vending ice cream and like commodities.

The matter will be decided definitely before the fall term of school opens.

BOUNDARY PROBLEM.

One of the questions to be considered by the Board of Supervisors tomorrow will be the mooted one of the location of the boundary line between Riverside and San Bernardino counties in the Colorado desert. It is the supposition that the line for some distance this side of the Colorado River runs on the same diagonal as the Mexican line. However, a survey has never been made, and the people residing at Blythe Junction do not know in which county they are located. The estimate of cost for making the survey has been placed at $6000, and the proposal has been to have each county share this expense.

Rev. Henry Lageschulte,
Founder of the First Evangelical Church of Ontario, whose death has shocked two cities.

TWO CITIES ARE MOURNING.

Death of Rev. Henry Lageschulte Grieves Residents of Upland and Ontario.

ONTARIO, June 17.—Two cities, Ontario and Upland, alike, are today mourning the loss of Rev. Henry Lageschulte, whose death at his North Euclid-avenue home occurred with tragic suddenness at shortly after midnight this morning.

Rev. Lageschulte was the founder of the First German Evangelical Church of this city. He was a native of Germany, but came to this country at the age of 7. At 17 he entered the ministry. He had made his home in this community for nearly nineteen years and was loved and respected by all.

Rev. Lageschulte had not been in ill-health and the end, despite his 79 years, came as a great shock. On retiring last night he complained of not feeling up to standard and shortly before midnight he was seized with a choking and heart attack from which he did not rally. Calling to Mrs. Lageschulte, he requested that she telephone their daughter, Mrs. Claire L. Head of No. 400 East C street, and, after doing so and summoning a doctor, she returned to find her husband dying.

The decedent leaves a widow, two daughters, Mrs. C. L. Head of this city and Mrs. Frank Youngerman of Des Moines, Iowa; a son, Henry Lageschulte of Los Angeles, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Gertrude Durand of Upland. Funeral arrangements have been held up awaiting word from Mrs. Youngerman.

DEATH HOVERS.

The lives of two citizens of the George Junior Republic, to the southwest of this city, are today hanging in the balance, and as a result a cloud overshadows the usually happy institution.

Charles Dusen is in a critical condition with a bullet in his right lung, the result of an accidental shot from a .22-caliber rifle in the hands of Pete Mitchell, another citizen. While Dr. J. W. Callnon was attending Dusen, Ellingsworth Clinkenbird, another boy, was stricken with a serious attack of appendicitis. Examination proved that the appendix had already burst, and, while an operation was performed at once, little hope of saving the lad's life is held.

Dr. Callnon has so far been unable to locate the bullet, which passed through Dusen's shoulder and lodged in his lung, and his life is despaired of.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Four hundred children of the Sunday-schools of the First Methodist Episcopal, Grace Methodist Episcopal and the First Baptist churches are planning to hold a joint picnic at Ganesha Park, Pomona, tomorrow. Special cars will carry the picnickers to the park over the lines of the Pacific Electric. Rev. Charles Coke Wood, Rev. Arthur Chalfant and Rev. William M. Perry are at the head of the committee in charge of the picnic.

Friends of John Mitchell of this city are jubilant today over the fact that he has been indorsed by Theodore A. Bell, State leader of the Democratic party, for the Ontario postoffice job. Bell has recently returned from Washington, where he had been doing some successful lobbying for other postoffice candidates, and Mitchell's backers feel greatly encouraged over Bell's indorsement. A. J. Moody, another local lifelong Democrat, also is out for the job, and it is said that his petitions are finding many signers.

The City Board of Education has called for bids for the erection of a new fourteen-room grammar school to be built on the site of the present Central school at G street and Sultana avenue. The bids are to be in the hands of Clerk J. O. Mills by 1 o'clock p.m., July 14, and the contract is to be awarded on that day.

July 29 is the date set by the City Council for the special election at which the citizens of Ontario will vote on the question of submitting the proposition of lower gas rates to the State Railway Commission. C. E. Christensen, A. J. Moody, Solon Y. Russell and James Bradford were named on the election board.

Rishmond Rochester, known as the millionaire chicken rancher, and owner of one of the largest poultry farms in this section, his Cucamonga-avenue ranch numbering several thousand fowls, is being sued by Frank D. Turner to collect on a note for $22,500. Turner declares that interest due on June 11 is unpaid. Attorney's fees of $2250 are asked in addition to the judgment for interest and principal.

AN ANGELENO FREAK.

FRESNO, June 17.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fred Toohey of Los Angeles, who is walking to Lake Tahoe from Ocean Park, clad in a sweater and trousers, barefooted and bareheaded, arrived here today. He created so much attention by his novel appearance that authorities requested him to leave the city. Toohey, who is an advocate of the outdoor life, was sitting in the park munching crackers and raw eggs, when passers-by called an officer. The impression prevails here that Toohey is of unsound mind. On the way here he was arrested several times in cities along the line. At Tulare he was made to put on overalls. He started out with a bathing suit originally. He is walking a distance on a wager. He is expected to reach Madera tomorrow morning. From there he goes over the Sierra Mountains into Tahoe.

TO STAND BY NEW MAYOR.

Permanent Organization Put Behind Him.

Councilmen to Be Good or Be Recalled.

Political Light Seen at Reunion Banquet.

At a reunion banquet of the Rose Speakers' Committee held last evening at the Hollenbeck, and presided over by Rev. Baker P. Lee, a permanent organization to uphold the hands of the new Mayor was authorized, with H. S. McCallum as temporary chairman. It was determined to give an inaugural banquet on the night of July 7, probably at the Alexandria, in honor of the Mayor, and informal notice was served on the Council that unless it obeys the will of the people as expressed at the recent election recalcitrant members will face a recall election within six months.

Forty of the men who made the welkin ring during the campaign were present, and enthusiasm over the new order of things bubbled throughout the evening. Incidentally enthusiasm is the only thing that did bubble, except mineral water, and evidences of the "underworld" were conspicuously absent.

When Frank Domingues declared the election results to have "defied villains who can neither boss nor rule us," the crowd cheered, as it did when W. Ona Morton said that the time has passed when people will crawl snake-like, to lick the feet of a puerile boss. LeRoy O. Barnett (colored) made a hit when he told the story of a Quaker anxious to get rid of a dog, but was prevented by religious scruples from killing it. So he turned it loose with a bad name, and cried "mad dog." Councilmen who won't do the righ tthing, he said, may be treated the same way, only instead of "mad dog," the cry will be "Earl."

TO MAKE IT NOTABLE.

To further the proposed organization of the permanent Rose Legion Chairman McCallum was authorized to name a committee of ten, and to this committee will also fall the duty of arranging for the Alexandria banquet, which, if the plans indicated last evening are carried out, will be one of the notable events of the kind ever held in Los Angeles and a stinging answer of the city's highest type of citizenship to the Earl defamation that Rose's election is a "triumph of the underworld."

In accepting the chairmanship of the new organization McCallum took occasion to place a quietus upon the suggestion that he is to be harbor attorney to succeed Leslie R. Hewitt. McCallum declared that he is not a candidate for and will not accept office, and that the same determination has been reached by all of the men instrumental in bringing about the Rose victory. "Patriotism rather than selfishness" was the sentiment.

Throughout the session ran an undercurrent of doubt as to the attitude of some of the members of the Council, and it is to combat possible antagonism from that members of that board still yoked in the Earl harness that the permanent organization is deemed necessary. Joseph Simons summed it up by saying:

"We trust that the Council will stand by the Mayor in carrying out the reforms to which he is pledged, but we are afraid that it will not, and it may be necessary before many months to have a Council that will stand by him."

DAWN OF NEW ERA.

In his introductory remarks Rev. Mr. Lee declared that the dawn of a new political era has dawned above the slime and mire of political abuse; a time when it shall be good business to stand for truth and righteousness, a fair and square deal, with the cards all on the table face up.

Gen. Frank C. Prescott recalled the fact that the date marked the anniversary of the battle of Bunker Hill and drew from the more recent municipal battle the lesson of the returns, a kindly, decent, honest administration, sustained by men of the right sort, and "defying the rankest 'progressive' that ever made a speech to say that such an administration is not the best Los Angeles has ever had, pointing the way to the hope that at last the State of California is ready to throw off her bonds and again take some part in the affairs of the nation."

Joseph Simons pleaded for fair play and an efficient business administration. Former Judge E. A. Tucker declared that the greatest lesson of the returns is in the certitude that Earlism and Earl influence is dead. Tucker raised a laugh by asserting that before deciding upon a public question he always looked at the Express and Tribune to find out what they said and then voted the other way, "and I have always been right," he concluded.

WHAT THEY SAY.

W. Ona Morton discussed "discredited leaders without a party, practicing the very evils of which they complain, and attempting to build up a machine based upon lies and hypocrisy." Frank Domingues declared that every pre-election pledge must be kept, and that the best men must fill the positions of honor and trust, adding, "unless we prepare to recall recalcitrant Councilmen who refuse to work in harmony with the administration we can expect nothing from the people two years hence. It is up to us to make good."

Col. R. H. Richardson brought up the subject of a permanent Rose organization, and the plan met with instant success and adoption. After his election to the temporary chairmanship H. S. McCallum declared that the purpose of the legion will be to strengthen the hands of the new Mayor. "If," he said, "the Mayor finds himself with a hostile Council he will need our help, and must have an organization behind him. We must teach the lesson to the world that the slanders against Rose are without foundation."

It was suggested that after the Alexandria banquet a big popular demonstration be arranged for the Shrine Auditorium or other great assembly place, to further give demonstration that the people of the city are behind the new Mayor and entirely out of sympathy with the attack upon the virtue and integrity of the thousands of men and women who elected him, made by the infamous Earl "underworld" editorial in his Tribune on the morning after the election.

Mayor-elect Rose is expected today from Paso Robles Hot Springs, where he has been resting for a week.

Wondrous Pageant.

Then come the flowers, the bees and the butterflies—children in beautiful costumes, who dance to the delight of the audience—symbolizing the earth's response to the rain. Now come Kipah and his tribe to take possession of the refreshed land, and they give typical scenes in Indian life, including the Ghost Dance, the actual war dance of the Cahuillas, who were the original inhabitants of the valley.

ACTUAL HISTORY.

All this symbolical display is followed by a scene of actual history, in which the Spaniards (Palomares, Vejar and Sanchez,) accompanied by a padre and a number of caballeros, take possession of the land by authority given them by the Spanish crown and name it San Jose. This was the name of the rancho upon which the college is built and these are the names of the men who owned it. It is a fact, too, that the Indian village existed in the early day almost upon the spot where the Greek Theater is today. The bell used in the scene is the identical bell that was hung over the first chapel built on the rancho by its Spanish owners.

The next two scenes typify the final departure of the Indians and the gay life of the Spanish population, during which there was dancing and singing by the real folks who know how.

Then came scene 5, with no other than Col. W. H. Holabird in the center of the stage. Two miners on their way to Los Angeles are met by a third who is just returning from the old pueblo, and while they talk over their luck a party of surveyors come along, laying out the ranch into town lots, followed by a gang of trackmen building a railroad. Then comes the auction sale of lots, by Col. Holabird, to the delight and amusement of the throng, for be it known, Col. Holabird was the original promoter, was the man in charge of the surveyors, who met the miners, who set the stakes, who sold the lots upon which the town of Claremont is built.

Part I closes with the bursting of the boom; the faith of the men who did not weaken; the flourishing of the orange industry, and the ending is a beautiful symbolic dance by three groups of girls of the Claremont High School, representing the desert, the water and the sunshine, all of which combine and are transformed into orange maidens.

DIFFERENT ORDER.

The evening performance of Part II was of the "high-brow" order, with not the remotest evidence of any of the crude and heathenish events of the afternoon. The founding of the college was re-enacted, in many instances by the very persons who took part in the original ceremony twenty-five years ago, and who as nearly as possible repeated the same language and went through the same forms. The scene closed with a vision of the college by six figures grouped around the "Spirit of Pomona," represented by Mrs. James D. Johnson.

Scene 8 was "Water and Electricity" and the electrical effects were most elaborate and beautiful. A symbolic dance was given by twelve girls.

Scene 9 was in two parts, the first repeating the ceremony of dedicating the library, and the second the students' celebration. The latter was a live college "doings" of the modern type. College yells and college songs, the college symbol appearing in electric lights among the trees of the stage, greeted by an army of students carrying electric torches and having an old-fashioned time around a bonfire.

LOOK ON THE FUTURE.

The crowning feature was Scene 10 —"The Look to the Future." Here Ellen Beach Yaw created the sensation for which all had been waiting, as she appeared representing the "Spirit of California," surrounded by a group of California girls, and sang her famous "Lark Song."

There then appeared to the Spirit of California the symbolic dancing groups of the pageant—the clouds, lightning, electricity, water, sunshine and orange spirits—an earnest of future renown and material prosperity. Under their inspiring influence, Miss Yaw then sang "California," a song of her own composition (as the "Lark Song" is) and for which she also wrote the music.

Then came three processions, symbolizing the different departments of the college—a most elaborate ceremonial. The final episode and close of the pageant follows.

The Spirit of Pomona appears, accompanied by the symbolic attendants of the early vision. As the Spirit of California advances to meet her, the chorus breaks out into a song, "All Hail to Our Pomona," and the spectacle is at an end.

RESULT IN DOUBT.

AVALON, June 17.—Speculation prevails as to the possible result of the election for incorporation which will be held here Thursday. Some of the candidates nominated at the special meeting are now in grave doubt whether the election will carry. The following candidates form what is known as the "Citizen's Ticket:" For Trustees, J. H. Stamford, P. V. Reyes, I. L. Newberry, E. B. Dye and John L. Merkley. For City Clerk, J. F. Jones; for Treasurer, H. D. McRae. Though it was unanimously agreed to support this "citizens' ticket," several other factions have sprung into the limelight and have announced other tickets and are working for candidates independently.

ECZEMA BROKE OUT IN PIMPLES

On Face, Arms and Parts of Body. Itching and Burning Intense. Scratching Disfigured Face. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

836 30th Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.—"I was cured of eczema by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. My face and arms and other parts of my body were affected. The way it broke out was in pimples, then it became a rash. The itching and burning were so intense that they made me scratch and disfigure my face. My clothing that was close to my body was very irritating. It kept me from getting my sleep.

"I used several remedies which were of no success. I suffered a year or more with eczema, then I began to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It was several times I used them and then they relieved that itching. I continued my treatment and now I have no trouble whatsoever. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me completely." (Signed) Miss Alice Martens, Aug. 3, 1912.

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

For Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

BROKE UP BALD GAME.

Wicked Wretch Turns in an Alarm While Visalia Fire Laddies Were Playing Hot Contest.

VISALIA, June 17.—A warrant was issued today for the arrest of E. J. Graham, a local restaurant man, who is charged with turning in a false fire alarm. The complaint was sworn out by Fire Chief H. F. Williams. The alarm was turned in yesterday afternoon while the firemen were playing their annual baseball match with the printers of the city. The alarm came in at an exciting stage of the game, in the seventh inning, and broke up the contest. Graham appeared before Justice of the Peace Bagby and gave bond for $50.

NEWS BRIEFS.

M. S. Bettencourt, a prominent Portuguese resident of this city, appeared before Justice Bagby this morning and entered a plea of guilty to a charge of violating the liquor ordinance by having a quantity of beer stored in a barn owned by him during the recent I.D.E.S. celebration in this city. It is alleged that a "blind pig" was operated in the barn. Bettencourt at first pleaded not guilty. He changed his mind today, declaring that he did not want to attract undue notoriety to the Portuguese lodge. He was fined $100, which he paid.

The sum of $36,162 was distributed today to the patrons of the Visalia Co-Operative Creamery, this being the monthly pay day. For many months past this creamery has shown an increased output at the end of each month. The amount paid out for butter fat this month exceeds by $1500 the sum distributed among local dairymen last month. There is one other creamery in Visalia that does a good business. Dairying is fast becoming one of the chief industries of this section.

A petition was filed by the Santa Fe Railroad today for right to cross the county highway with the new branch line which it is building from Minkler, in Fresno county, to Redbanks, a large deciduous fruit orchard of this county. The petition was granted. This road will be built to Redbanks this summer. Later it will be extended as far south as Exeter and probably to Bakersfield.

DINUBA BRIEFS.

DINUBA, June 17.—While trying to kill a rabbit with the butt end of his shotgun yesterday, Roy W. Clotfelter was mortally wounded in the groin by an accidental explosion of the weapon. For some time past rabbits have been working on his orange trees and garden products, and he was trying to rid the place of them with his gun. He had crippled this rabbit, and in attempting to finish him by the clubbing process the accident occurred. He bled to death within fifteen minutes after the occurrence and before aid could be summoned. Clotfelter was 30 years old and leaves a widow and two children, one a boy 3 years old and the other a girl 1 year old.

The last trench to complete the new sewer system of this city will be completed today. Nearly all the tubing has been laid, and it will be only the matter of a couple of weeks until all residents will be asked by the city board to make proper connections.

Vegetable growers are almost keeping the local stores supplied to the limit this year. Last season almost half of the garden truck was imported, while before that a great majority of the produce had to be shipped in. Several growers this season made a specialty on certain varieties of early produce and made a nice little piece of money shipping to the Los Angeles market.

In the recent town clean-up the Health Officer had men to canvass the whole town, sprinkling and spraying disinfectants. In this work was used four barrels of crude oil, 150 pounds of chloride of lime and 600 gallons of kreso solution.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Demonstrating the upward tendency of the market, an advance in the price of local ranch eggs of one cent occurred yesterday. Supplies have been limited for some time, and the usual higher prices for the summer season are about due. It is probable that in the course of a few days further advances will be witnessed.

Butter and cheese are steady. Butter receipts still hold up very well, and no material change in cheese prices is expected for the present.

Poultry and game remain about the same, and some better grade stock came in. Peaches advanced a little owing to the heavy demand for canning purposes. Currants were firmer. Cherries were not as plentiful as usual but did not show any particular change in price, as the demand was about divided among the different fruits on the market. Several large shipments of cantaloupes were received from Imperial and the prices declined. Apricots were in ample supply.

Okra was somewhat cheaper, as it is received in larger quantities. Imperial tomatoes were down a little. Summer squash is practically over. Cucumbers are comparatively plentiful, and declined a little. New potatoes and onions are cheap. The supply of cabbage and lettuce is heavy.

Reported receipts were: Eggs, 403 cases; butter, 20,000 pounds; cheese, 1864 pounds; potatoes, 125 sacks.

THE WEATHER.

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, June 17.—[Reported by Ford A. Carpenter, Local Forecaster]. At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 29.69; at 5 p.m., 29.63. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 59 deg. and 64 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 80 per cent.; 5 p.m., 75 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., east, velocity 2 miles; 5 p.m., southwest, velocity 13 miles. Highest temperature, 72 deg.; lowest, 57 deg. Rainfall for season, 13.94 inches. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—The barometer continues stationary throughout the greater portion of the United States, causing accumulated heat conditions east of the Rocky Mountains. The thermometer rose to a higher mark, the increase in temperature averaging from 4 to 6 deg. Monday the temperature reached 90 deg. at Chicago, Pinokie and Tucson; 99 deg. at Del Rioton, Jacksonville, Louisville, Raleigh, St. Louis and Washington; 94 deg. at Montgomery and Charleston; 92 deg. at Boston, Green Bay, Kansas City, Knoxville, Pittsburgh and Tampa. Warm rain fell at a few scattered localities in the District of Columbia, North Dakota, along the shores of Lakes Michigan and Erie and the Gulf of Mexico. The greatest amount (.74 of an inch) occurred at Washington. There is no change in the position or depth of the trough of low pressure on the Pacific Slope, so that continued cool and generally cloudy weather may be expected in Los Angeles and vicinity Wednesday.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 17.—An uncertain course was followed today by the stock market which was dull to the point of stagnation much of the time. The close found prices of many representative stocks well above yesterday's final figures, although below the highest quotations of the session. The slump yesterday apparently was discouraging to foreign holders of American securities, who sold freely in this market today. In spite of pressure from abroad and renewed selling by traders who sought to extend yesterday's decline the market quickly rallied from the opening break, suggesting that the short interest had been largely extended. The decline found no further liquidation and bear traders, finding the market moving against them, covered. Realizing was especially good demand. The Harriman shares were helped by reports that a dissolution plan had been worked out to the satisfaction of all the parties at interest. Intercorporate-Metropolitan preferred, which has developed market strength recently, rose nearly 4 points because of early concerning prospects of a dividend payment. Bonds were firm, total sales par value $1,441,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Public Service: City Hall, Courts.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The City Council by a tie vote turned down the ordinance proposing to tax all pleasure vehicles, and the original ordinance it would amend so as to include all delivery vehicles. The proposed amended ordinance was sent to the Legislation Committee. If adopted it may be submitted to a referendum.

Plans were announced to the Council yesterday for the eventual elimination of grade crossings on the Pacific Electric lines on Long Beach avenue. A conference on the subject will occur this afternoon.

The Council rescinded its previous resolution yesterday and the Board of Public Works is again in full possession of the Los Angeles aqueduct, pending the completion of its invoicing and final reports.

The Municipal Charities Commission took the first steps yesterday towards establishing a free municipal labor bureau, which it hopes to open soon after the beginning of the new fiscal year.

The rates set by the Public Utilities Board for telephone service were sustained by the City Council yesterday, despite the protests of both telephone companies.

At the City Hall.

ORIGINAL ORDINANCE GOES BACK TO COMMITTEE ON DAW.

Pleasure Conveyances Not to Be Included, but Provision for Tax on Delivery Wagons With Carrying Capacity of One Ton "or Less" Remains.

At least a month's respite to be given business concerns before they are compelled to pay the city a tax on their vehicles. The pleasure vehicle will go free—that is, if yesterday's vote in the City Council is to be taken as a criterion.

The amended ordinance, which included the pleasure vehicles in the list of those to bear a tax, was defeated by a tie vote. The original ordinance was then re-presented with an amendment of two words, these being small but significant, and upon them may rest an action to submit the ordinance to the referendum, should it become a law.

Those two words, "or less," are the striking point that is objectionable to the grocery and other owners of small business concerns who operate light delivery wagons. It is proposed to make this portion of the ordinance apply to the rate to vehicles of a carrying capacity "of one ton or less."

Councilmen Betkouski, Topham, Whitten and Williams voted against the amended ordinance that included the pleasure vehicles, and the motion was lost by a tie. Then the Council sent the original ordinance with the amendment to include the small delivery wagons to the Legislation Committee. This will be considered next Thursday forenoon.

TAKES FIRST STEPS FOR FREE LABOR BUREAU.

The Municipal Charities Commission met in the Mayor's office yesterday and discussed general plans for the work it has undertaken. It decided to ask the Council for an ordinance providing for the employment of an investigating agent, and appointed Mrs. Willits J. Hole and P. J. McGarry as a committee to prepare plans for the proposed free municipal labor bureau, which it hopes to have opened soon after the beginning of the new fiscal year. The commission decided that this bureau should be located in close proximity to existing labor agencies, in order that workmen may be fully aware of its existence and take advantage of its opportunities.

A committee was appointed to secure permanent quarters for the commission, and numerous minor details were taken up. The commission will hold regular sessions each Tuesday forenoon in the Mayor's office until permanent quarters are secured.

RESCINDS ACTION. WORKS BOARD IN SADDLE.

The city wants to sell some ranch lands along the Los Angeles aqueduct. The Public Works Board sent to the City Council yesterday a request for permission to advertise this property for sale, but the question was raised as to whether it has the authority to make the sale, as the Council last week adopted a resolution transferring to the Public Service Commission the entire aqueduct affairs. This brought up the subject of the Public Works Board's attitude wherein it proposes to retain possession of the aqueduct until its invoice and full report is completed, and its request that the Council modify its resolution to arrange for this situation. After much discussion the Council rescinded its action and the works board is again in full control of the aqueduct.

STATUS OF WORK. MANY TASKS; LIMITED FORCE.

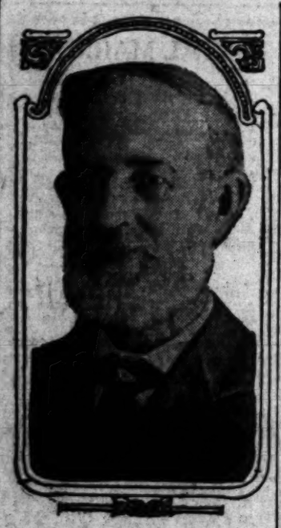
Col. W. G. Schreiber, head of the Bureau of Street Assessments, sent to the Board of Public Works yesterday a statement of the condition of work in his department, showing the need for more room and a larger force of assistants.

In this statement he says that if the City Council abandons proceedings for the condemnation of lots on the west side of Exposition Park, known as Exposition Park assessment No. 3, he can commence on the assessment for the Western-avenue entrance to Griffith Park about August 1, and on the assessments for the various library sites about October 1.

If the City Council does not abandon the third assessment for Exposition Park purposes, it will be necessary to get the second assessment out of the way before the Western-avenue district assessment is begun, owing to the very limited facilities of the department and the fact that many smaller assessments are continually being made and collected.

MAN OF EXPERIENCE FOR UTILITIES BOARD.

Augustine W. Wright was nominated yesterday by Mayor Alexander to be the third member on the Board of Public Utilities. The City Council has deferred confirming the appointment for a week pending investigation of the appointee.



Augustine W. Wright,

Nominated yesterday by Mayor Alexander to be the third member of the Board of Public Utilities.

Wright lives at No. 2314 Sunset place with his wife, two daughters and a son. He is a civil engineer and before he removed to California thirteen years ago was associated with some of the largest concerns in the Middle West, and a member of the firm of Wright and Nelsenburg, Chicago. His first activities in California were in 1867, when he made the survey for the eastern division of the Union Pacific Railroad to San Diego. Later he was chief engineer and general superintendent of the Arkansas Central and some other roads, and president of the Seamans and Halske Electric Company of America.

Wright still maintains offices at Pomona, where he lived for many years, and also at his Los Angeles residence, retaining an active interest in his profession. He is 67 years old and has never held political office.

BEACH AGREEMENT. GRADE CROSSINGS OUT.

Eventual elimination of grade crossings on the Pacific Electric lines on Long Beach avenue is to be the end reached through the carrying out of a plan announced to the City Council yesterday, when President Shoup of the Pacific Electric and Vice-President Dunn of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation appeared, with President McReynolds of the Public Utilities Commission, to discuss the request of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation for an extension of time within which to carry the Vernon-avenue cross-town line across the Pacific Electric tracks.

The announcement that an agreement had been reached between the two corporations was received with much satisfaction, and is conceded to be to a large extent due to the activities of the Board of Public Utilities on this line.

President Shoup stated that the Pacific Electric plans to gradually work out a plan for the raising of the Long Beach avenue lines, so that they may be elevated within permanent retaining walls on a solid fill, thus giving clear crossings to the Los Angeles Railway Corporation and for street traffic.

Details of the plan are not yet worked out, and a conference was set for this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock between the railroad officials and the utilities board and Council Municipal Railroad Committee.

Recommends Delay.

D. R. Woods of Wilmington, who was commissioned by the Public Works Board to ascertain the wishes of Wilmington citizens in regard to awarding the contract for the improvement of E street and other adjacent streets, for which the Standard American Dredging Company bid $7.68 per linear foot, reported to the board yesterday that property owners with whom he had conversed are opposed to the work being done at the price named; that there is no necessity for this small area being so improved until such time as the entire area from Front street southerly to the municipal line be improved; and that he advises the bid be rejected and proceedings be suspended until the majority of the property owners favor the project or the public good demands the improvement.

"Beautiful Undulations."

Property owners on Melrose avenue have made protest against the engineering features of the improvement of that street, declaring that the conditions that have developed since the work can be seen are entirely undesirable. Councilman Reed asked the Streets and Boulevards Committee and other members of the Council to visit the street and see for themselves the situation. He declared yesterday that the sidewalks show "beautiful undulations, like a roller-coaster," and that the contractor himself admits that a portion of the work should be replaced on better lines. "It is the most remarkable piece of engineering I have ever seen come out of a city engineer's office," concluded Reed.

"Well, that's in line with much other city engineering work," was the comment of Councilman Andrews.

Wilmington Protest Hearing.

The numerous protests filed by Wilmington citizens against the proposed improvement of streets in the new area being filled by harbor dredgings, made on the grounds that the rate per lot is exhorbitant, are to be considered at a public hearing this morning at 10 o'clock before the Streets and Boulevard Committee and the Harbor Committee of the City Council and the Harbor Commission. The claim is made that the proposed assessment is unjust, as in some cases where there is but a slight fill on lots they would be assessed as high as $600 each. A claim is also made that the filling of this land has been an advantage to the Standard American Dredging Company, as it provided a convenient pumping place immediately at hand, and thus saved the company carrying the dredgings to a distance, therefore the lot-owners should not be charged for this portion of the work.

City Hall Brevities.

The City Council yesterday provided for a contract with the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation for lighting current for 2102 arc lamps for the month of July at $6.50 per lamp.

The Gas and Light Committee of the City Council is to confer with representatives of the lighting companies at 10 o'clock Friday forenoon for the purpose of discussing the situation regarding bidding for the street lighting contract.

An amendment to the traffic ordinance was adopted by the City Council yesterday, providing that vehicles may stand for twenty minutes on the east and west streets in the down-town district, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Proposed amendments to the passenger vehicle ordinance that would require the placing of a photograph of the holder of a driver's permit on the face of this permit, for identification purposes, were sent by the City Council yesterday to the Legislation Committee.

The City Council yesterday awarded to the L. F. Norman Company a contract for furnishing 30,000 square feet of wire mesh for construction of the zoo in Griffith Park.

W. W. Rushmore, a contractor and engineer of Kansas City, visited the Board of Public Works yesterday and stated that he has spent considerable time in inspecting the work of the Hill-street tunnel and believes the city is getting a fine job, vastly superior to much of the tunnel work done for municipalities.

A hearing on the proposed billboard ordinance is scheduled before the Legislation Committee of the Council at 9:30 tomorrow forenoon. It is expected that large delegations from various civic associations will be present to present their views.

DENIES USING SPYGLASSES.

WIDOW, FIGHTING WILD, IS CHARGED WITH ESPIONAGE.

Crowded Calendar Frets Realty Experts—Attorney Convicted of Having Received Stolen Goods Is Disbarred—Adopted Son Wants Parents Declared Incompetent.

Spyglass espionage of a house where her husband was living apart from her was charged to Mrs. Nettie M. Fowler during the contest of the will of the late Dr. Edwin Fowler, her husband, in Judge Houser's court yesterday.

Mrs. Fowler did not deny that she had used "opera glasses," but she resented the term spyglass. The point involved in the suit is whether Dr. Fowler was of unsound mind when he made his will, which cuts his widow off with a small sum.

Mrs. Julia Irvine Tripp, the alleged rival for the affections of Dr. Fowler, to whom a Gramercy-drive house was given and with whom Dr. Fowler made his home after separation from his wife, was a witness. There was no indelicacy in her living under the same roof with Dr. Fowler, nearly twice her own age, at the Gramercy-drive house, she declared, and she stated she did not think she ever spent any time alone with him.

Mrs. Tripp's sister, Mrs. Marion Irvine, also a widow, testified that she had never seen her sister in a hammock with Dr. Fowler, but had seen Mrs. Fowler many times in the hall of her sister's house, "humiliating the poor, dear doctor."

A motion for a non-suit was denied by the court. The case will be resumed today.

Five high-priced real-estate experts and several busy lawyers fretted at the Hall of Records yesterday because there appeared no opening for the trial of the action brought by Dr. Rebecca Lee Dorsey against J. M. Ferguson to rescind a deal involving $36,000. The case was finally continued until Secretary Noel can catch a judge who has a moment to spare.

Dr. Dorsey owned lots at First and Flower streets worth $36,000. Ferguson had a house and lot at Sixth street and Kingsley drive he valued at $35,000. A trade was made. Dr. Dorsey now alleges Ferguson's property was worth about half the value of her lots. The experts will price the land. They are Allen, Jones and Crippen for Ferguson and Garner and Herrin for Dr. Dorsey.

IS DISBARRED. ATTORNEY WHO'S A CONVICT.

The name of Fred H. Thompson, a felon, was stricken from the roll of attorneys practicing in this county, in Department Ten yesterday. A motion in behalf of the Los Angeles Bar Association was made by H. L. Dunnigan, who presented a certified copy of Thompson's conviction in the United States District Court for having received and concealed stolen goods.

Thompson was attorney for Orlando Altorre, a postal clerk who was convicted of stealing a large sum of money. Altorre buried the money, and the evidence showed that he told Thompson where it was hidden. Later Thompson dug up the money and went on a tour. His arrest and trial followed on Altorre's confession.

FIGHT PETITION. PARENTS DENY INCOMPETENCY.

The petition of John James Thomas to have his adopted parents, M. H. and Mary Thomas, declared incompetent, will be vigorously fought before Judge Rives on Friday. Thomas alleges his parents are not capable of caring for themselves or their $25,000 property. The parents, each 60 years of age, claim they do not require a guardian, and in their answer set up that Thomas, otherwise known as Byrne, is idle and dissolute and he is but endeavoring to obtain control of their property.

Thomas and his wife have lived in Los Angeles for a quarter of a century. The son claims he was legally adopted when a boy. This is denied by the parents, who declare he was brought up without a formal adoption and has not lived with them for ten years.

CRIMINAL COURT. ARRAIGNMENT IS DELAYED.

Arraignment of R. W. George, the wealthy Whittier rancher, was postponed in Judge Cabaniss's court yesterday until June 24, on motion of his counsel. George is charged with the killing of Estella D. Carmen on May 14, last, while, according to the allegation, he was negligently driving an automobile.

Louis McDowell, charged with criminal assault, pleaded not guilty. A. B. Isaacs, accused of making an assault with a deadly weapon, made the same plea. W. R. Crippen pleaded not guilty to a grand larceny charge. Frank D. Elder pleaded guilty to the accusation against him of criminal assault, and an application for probation was filed in the court in his behalf.

The same action was taken in Judge Willis's court in the case of Maynard S. Paige, pleading guilty to a grand larceny charge. Paige stole jewelry valued at $150, the property of Mrs. Seward E. Moses. Richard A. Gibson, charge, killing Butler Finnell, April 13, pleaded not guilty. Jesus Hernandez, larceny, with prior conviction, pleaded guilty as to prior conviction, but not guilty on the specific charge. D. E. McGuire also entered a plea of not guilty to a grand larceny charge.

SLAVE CASES. CONTINUANCE; MUST ANSWER.

The indictment charging William Evans, the Del Rey Tavern keeper, with having contributed to the dependency of Dora Frey and Clara May Olsen, will be attacked by Paul Schenk, his attorney, who yesterday was granted until Monday to file a motion to set aside the indictment and a demurrer. The continuance was not opposed by Deputy District Attorney Hammon.

Richard Hollinsworth was held to answer to the Superior Court by Judge Wilbur yesterday on the charge of having contributed to the dependency and delinquency of Christine Neal. He is under $1000 bonds. Miss Neal testified at the preliminary examination yesterday, detailing trips to Vernon and Venice.

GIVE IT UP. MEMORY ELASTIC, BUT—!

John Flint, a colored man, made a splash in the Juvenile Court yesterday when he remembered fifteen of his children, but had to be reminded of two more by his daughter, Minnie. Flint was in court because his boy, Mark, 14 years old, had been arrested for fighting.

"How many children have you?" asked Judge Wilbur.

"I got fifteen, jedge," was his response.

"There's more'n that," declared his daughter.

"You're wrong, child," exclaimed John; "they ain't only fifteen."

"Is to," reiterated Minnie.

"We will continue the case until you find out how many you have," ordered the court. John consulted his flock. There were seventeen. He gave their names. Mark was placed on probation.

FIGHT WILLS. TWO CAUSE CONTROVERSY.

A contest involving the $10,000 estate of Mrs. Chloe Mitchell, who died last March, leaving two wills, in one of which she provides for her brother, Ransom D. L. Mitchell, and in the other leaves the property to her daughters, Mrs. Grace Turner and Miss Eva Mitchell, will be heard by Judge Rives on the 27th inst. The brother is represented by Attorney Morin, who claims the first will is valid and attacks the second will, made three years later.

Just what caused Mrs. Mitchell to cut off her brother appears to be the mysterious feature of the contest. The daughters say she simply changed her mind. The division in the first will was one-third to the brother and one-third each to the daughters. The latter are represented by Attorney Rossiter.

COURTHOUSE NOTES. BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS. WARRANT FOR CONTRACTOR.

A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of J. A. Hickman, plumbing contractor, charged with having embezzled $75. It is alleged that Hickman obtained the money from the owner of a building with the understanding he was to pay it to a supply house for material, but that it was not turned over to the supply house, which, under the law, could lien on the house as material men. The complaint was issued by Deputy District Attorney Richardson.

WHERE THEY ARE? "You have got to support your child," Judge Monroe told J. B. Stone yesterday. "Well, judge," replied Stone, "I give my wife everything I have. I have now but one pair of pants to my back."

The ripple of laughter which greeted this made the rest of Stone's reply inaudible. He will complete the sentence Friday.

TAKES HIS WORD.

W. Raamussen, proprietor of the Eighth-street Cafeteria, No. 311 West Eighth street, arrested several days ago charged with having violated the eight-hour law as concerns women, pleaded guilty yesterday before Police Judge Fredericksen, and on promise to observe the law hereafter, was fined the minimum, $50.

"PIRATE" LEAVES.

Fred Williams, alias "Shorty" Williams, arrested a few days ago at San Pedro charged with having stolen a power launch in San Francisco bay, was taken north yesterday by Under Sheriff E. J. Seaver of Solano county. Williams is to be taken to Benecia where he will be charged with grand larceny.

TRYING TO BE GOOD.

Lewis Pratt, the 13-year-old boy, who pleaded guilty to burglary of the postoffice at Calzona, was released by Judge Wellborn, yesterday. Clerk Van Dyke has taken a great interest in young Pratt, and released him on his own recognizance some time ago, the boy afterwards reporting every morning faithfully to the Federal officers.

YOUNG GEORGIAN RELEASED.

Paul Van Duzen, the young Georgian charged with forging the signature to a postal savings bank certificate of deposit at Atlanta, was ordered released on his own recognizance, yesterday, to await the action of the Federal grand jury for the northern district of Georgia. Two complaints alleging forgery stand against the boy in the courts of the southern State, but it is understood that they will be dismissed and Van Duzen sent to his mother's home in Jamestown, N. Y.

PAY HEAVY DAMAGES.

About a month ago a jury in the case brought by Maud Bell, administratrix of the estate of the late Edward H. Bell, an engineer who was employed on the Santa Fe Railroad, returned a verdict of $10,000 against the corporation for alleged neglect that caused the death of Bell by an accident that occurred in San Bernardino. Notice of appeal was given, but yesterday the judgment was paid.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Ramon Munus, who "shot up" Del Monte last spring and killed Carpio Obilo, was held guilty of manslaughter by a jury in Judge Willis's Court yesterday. He will be sentenced Friday. While the jury was deliberating a number of Mexican witnesses, friends of the accused, made up a purse of $100 which was to have been tendered Attorney G. A. Doyle in case Munus had been acquitted.

Two Beauty Suggestions for Summer Months

(The Beauty Doctor.)

Instead of pore-clogging powders, creams and rouge, make up at home and keep on your dresser for frequent use this simple lotion: Dissolve four ounces spurmax in ½ pint of witch hasel (or hot water,) add two teaspoonfuls glycerine and allow to cool. Clear, small-pored, velvety skin with the exquisite tint of youthful health results from its regular application, while pimples, freckles, tan and sunburn give no further trouble.

Quickly, yet gently, remove every particle of dust, dandruff and excess oil from the hair and leave it evenly dried, soft, glossy and easy to do up by a canthrox shampoo. It will stimulate the roots, thus resulting in exceptional growth of heavy hair. To make this exquisite and economical shampoo, just dissolve a teaspoonful of canthrox in a teacupful of hot water.—[Advertisement.

Awaiting The Joyful Sound

The Wonderful Music that Bursts Forth When the Stork Arrives.

That funny little, brassy cry that echoes the arrival of the new baby is perhaps the most cherished remembrance of our lives. And thousands of happy mothers owe their preservation to health and strength to Mother's Friend. This is an external remedy that is applied to the abdominal muscles. It relieves all the tension, prevents tenderness and pain, enables the muscles to expand gently, and, when baby comes, the muscles relax naturally, the form is preserved without laceration or other accident. It is one of the standard, reliable remedies that grandmothers everywhere have relied upon.

With its daily use during the period of expectation, there is no weakness, no nausea, no morning sickness, no pain, distress or strain of any kind.

You will find this wonderful remedy on sale at your drug store at $1.00 per bottle. It is prepared by Bradfield Regulator Co., 236 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Write them for a valuable book to expectant mothers.

Defend Honesty in Commons.

Members of the British Cabinet Tell of Their Relations with Marconi.

Lloyd George Confesses He Made Mistake in Speculating in Wireless.

But Parliament Lets Him Off Easy to Avoid Threatened National Scandal.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, June 18.—For the first time in many years, British Cabinet members were compelled today to defend their personal honesty before Parliament. The Attorney-General, Sir Rufus Isaacs, and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, David Lloyd George, excused their dealings in American Marconi shares on the floor of the house and the final scene in the Marconi affair, which their political enemies had attempted to magnify into a scandal rivaling the Panama affair, was tense and dramatic.

The two ministers admitted that they had acted thoughtlessly and mistakenly, although without dishonest intention, and regretted their failure to divulge all the facts when they had made their denials to the house last October of buying English Marconi shares.

Having furnished their defense, in deference to the tradition that the house should be left to discuss their conduct without the embarrassment of their presence, they walked from the chamber together. A great cheer from their partisans followed them.
